Cruelly deserted by the one who had wronged her, shunned by all her associates in this city and locality and warned by her mother to never darken again the doorway of her childhood home, pretty Irene Mitchell, aged 21, left East Liverpool one cold and bleak day during the latter part of last March for Pittsburg, where she hoped to live down her disgrace before returning to the ones who had once honored and respected her. Her fond anticipation was cut short last Saturday morning, when she died at the Municipal hospital in Pittsburg, from smallpox, which closely followed child birth.

The story of Miss Mitchell's death is sad indeed, and has appealed very tenderly to her scores of acquaintances in this city. Implicating as it does, several well known people, there are none who will not be deeply interested in every detail leading up to the untimely demise and few who will ever forget its heart-rending features. Being particularly bright and intelligent, she had no trouble in getting a school and taught in country localities for several years.

While yet teaching her father died and it was not long after that until her mother married a man by the name of Morgan. She came to East Liverpool about a year ago, and though competent to hold a much better and more responsible position, first secured employment in the tin mill at Chester. Miss Mitchell had worked at the tin mill but a few weeks when she met Clyde Woodley, the 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodley, of Bradshaw's location. The senior Woodley is a carpenter and with his family moved to this city in October, 1902, from Orange township, Meigs county. UNCONSCIOUS MANY HOURS

A man by the name of Wright came very near being killed in the Jethro hollow Saturday night as the result of a most foolish act. He secured an officer's badge and placing it on his coat, went to the door of a disorderly house in that section, intending to frighten the inmates. He applied at the door and after being admitted, displayed the badge.

Hardly had he done so when two male persons on the inside recognized him to be a fake and they pounced on him in great style. They knocked him to the floor and beat him into a terrible state. While unconscious, his nose broken and his face otherwise badly bruised, he was carried on an old overcoat to the Jethro bridge, where he was left to his fate. He did not regain consciousness until early Sunday morning and it was with great difficulty that he walked away.

Suffering from dementia, Miss Margaret Stype, a handsome young lady, about 22 years of age, was brought to the home of a near relative on Third street, from Cleveland late Saturday night. The girl had been visiting relatives here and insisted on coming here instead of being returned to Anderson, Ind., where she had been employed as a bookkeeper.

Symptoms of insanity were first noticed at the hotel in Cleveland, where Miss Stype had registered. Her first suspicious act was to repeatedly ring the call bell in her room and in this way the suspicions of the hotel attendances were aroused. It was found necessary a short time later to place a guard over her. Friends in Indiana were telegraphed for, but Miss Stype would not accompany them, insisting on coming to this city. The trip here from Cleveland was full of incident owing to the girl's unfortunate condition.

The demented girl was at once taken to the home of her relative on Third street and Mrs. Bailey and Ogden were called. She has shown a marked improvement and it is hoped will in a few days entirely recover.

HOT DEMOCRATIC POLITICS

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, August 17.—The names of 225 Ohio corporations delinquent under the Willis law have been certified by Secretary of State Laylin. Attorney General Sheets to be sued for failure to comply with the act. A fine of $100 and a penalty of $500 for each day of delinquency is provided for by the law. The attorney general said he would give these delinquents one more chance. If they will pay the tax and make reports within ten days they will be exempt from punishment. Three Columbiana county corporations are on the list. They are the Wade Jewelry company and the West Point Coal and Coke company, of East Liverpool, and the East Palestine Land company, of East Palestine. Most of the delinquents are Cleveland concerns.

The official program for the Democratic state convention, to be held in Columbus August 24 and 25, has been issued. There will be but one day of the convention proper, however, as the first day will be devoted to the district meetings. The convention proper will meet at 9:30 Wednesday morning. Hon. G. M. Saltzgeber, of Van Wert, is temporary chairman, and Hon. Charles E. Mason, of Hamilton, temporary secretary. The Eighteenth district delegates will hold their caucus meetings in the office of the treasurer of state, the usual meeting place of the district. The number of delegates in the convention will be 690, requiring 340 to nominate. Columbiana will have six delegates, Mahoning 9 and Stark 14. S. L. The state has been reimbursed in the sum of $2,775.24 and Wyandotte county $4,723.06 by officials of that county for fees illegally paid out in the famous "Celery King" Johnson murder case. MORE BIG DAMAGE SUITS AGAINST STREET RAILWAY

Lisbon, August 17.—(Special)—As a result of the street car accident on March 22, last, in East Liverpool, seven more heavy damage suits were filed in court here today by Attorneys Gaston & Pinney, of Cleveland, against the United Power company, which operates the East Liverpool street railway. Damages to the amount of $40,000 are asked.

The petitions allege that on the evening of the accident there was only the motorman in charge of the car, and while the car was on an incline on Pleasant Heights he carelessly released the break and went away from it. The car started down the incline and

ONLY $10 PREMIUM OFFERED FOR BONDS

City's Obligations for $92,950.

COMMITTEE IS SURPRISED

Council Not Likely to Accept the Bid
and May Offer the Bonds at Private Sale—Matters for Council to Consider Tonight.

Contrary to the expectation of the finance committee of council and City Auditor Davidson, but one bid was received today for the purchase of the $92,950 worth of East Liverpool bonds authorized several weeks ago by council for the purpose of wiping out the debt that has accumulated during the past few years. The sole bidder was the company of W. J. Hayes & Son, of Cleveland. This company offers a premium of $10.00 on the bonds.

It was anticipated that there would be at least a half dozen bidders and everyone at the city hall when the time came for opening the bids showed genuine surprise. There were, however, four representatives of large commission houses present and they feel confident that they will yet receive the bonds. One of them stated that he was very much surprised to see a premium offered. He said that the money market is very close and that no commission concerns are paying a premium on such bonds.

H. E. Moon was the only member of the finance committee present when the auditor opened the bids. He predicts that council will not accept the bid at the special meeting to be held this evening. The bid of Hayes & Sons was accompanied by a guarantee check for $4,666 and the certification would be considered solid enough, but council, it is thought, will hold the bonds for a better price, notwithstanding that the buyers in this city today say that no companies would give a larger premium.

It is known that the bond companies are desirous of purchasing the bonds at private sale. After rejecting the bid tonight the finance committee will be open to sell the bonds and will likely do so in the near future. Among the companies who will compete for the purchase are W. R. Todd & Co., of Cincinnati; the New First National company, of Columbus and Seasongood & Mayer, of Cincinnati. Cleveland companies will also be on the list.

Council will have other important matters to consider at the meeting this evening. The honorable body will confer with Mayor Weaver relative to the railroad ordinance and will likely appoint the board of equalization for the Pennsylvania avenue improvement.

Mayor Weaver has been approached by a number of residents of Jethro who want the railroad ordinance amended so that it will include the demand that Washington and Liberty streets in that section be opened by the railroad company. The mayor intends to place the matter before council, and if it be the wish of the body to include the provision necessary steps will be taken to that end. There is a provision in the ordinance which will partially cover the question, but it does not specifically mention the two streets and those interested are desirous that it shall.

FELL FROM A MOVING CAR AND PICKED UP SENSELESS

AN EVEN DOZEN IN POLICE COURT

Business Was Lively Among the Guardians of the Peace and Fines Were Many.

FIGHTERS AND DRUNKS

Police court was unusually lively this morning, an even dozen victims having fallen into the hands of the "finest" during Saturday night and Sunday. Mayor Weaver was easy on the most of them, and all were able to furnish sufficient money to obtain their release from custody.

Several months had elapsed since Richard Walker and his spouse appeared before the chief executive, and "feared" that they would break their record for darkening cell corridors, both engaged in a fistie encounter at an early hour Sunday morning and it was not long until Officers Auderhelde and Dunn appeared on the scene. The pair had consumed an unlimited amount of their favorite beverage and, incensed to a high pitch, were fighting like cats and dogs when the officers arrived. Both protested vigorously against free transportation to the city hall, but to no avail.

Mrs. Walker showed signs of several Jeffries blows on her physiognomy and Dick looked considerably the worse for scratches. Chief Wyman allowed them to depart on their promise to pay $5 each.

Gustavus Mitchell, a 240 pounder, and one of the best known men in the city, came dangerously near losing his life Saturday evening as a result of a quick jag. He has been a drinking man for two score years and it was the first time that he was ever laid out. He attributes the innovation to dope, saying that he only drank six glasses of whisky and ten beers. Mitchell was found on the street car track by Officer McDermott. One car had struck his shoulder and while he was lying straight across the track the officer noticed him. His sons appeared and secured his release by paying a fine of $2 and costs.

Harry Jones, of Chester, was about as drunk as a man could get when seen by Chief Wyman. He was lying prostrate in the door of the shooting gallery on West Market street and it was with difficulty that the chief removed him to safer quarters at the city building. He paid the usual fine and was released.

William Taylor, an old soldier, crippled and nearly blind, whose home is said to be in Steubenville, was all in when picked up by Officer Patrick Woods on Seventh street late Saturday evening. Chief Wyman was appealed to by the old fellow's condition and allowed him to go when he became sober.

P. K. Rogerson, Adam Boone, John Bourq and several others whose names could not be learned were taken in for being drunk. Officers Salsberry, Dawson and Morris making the arrests. They paid their fines and gained liberty.

CONFESSED INABILITY TO PAY THE DEBT

A Defendant in a Justice's Court

Acknowledging that he is a bankrupt and as a result being absolutely unable to pay his debts F. W. Miller, the well known baker, was able to have a case instituted against him in the court of Squire H. P. McCarron by Capt. Gus Martindill, dismissed at noon today. The case was a perplexing one, several parties being involved and only an attorney being able to ferret out the circumstances surrounding it. Though Miller was the man owing the money in the case it was docketed as follows: "Gus Martindill versus T. B. Murphy, the judgment debtor's debtor in aid of execution to secure judgment obtained by Martindill, versus F. W. Miller, manager of the Miller Baking company."

The prosecutor and defendant were represented by attorneys and the case was completely aried. When Miller's attorney stated that the defendant did not deny the debt but was unable to pay it the "squire could do nothing but dismiss the proceedings.

Capt. Martindill states that he sold four cases of eggs to Miller at $5.25 each and that Miller refused to pay for them.

SCORES OF PEOPLE BADLY SCARED

Chas. Fullmer Drew a Gun and
Also Knocked Down
Two Men.

FORMER HOLDUP ALLEGED

Charles Fullmer, a resident of Bradshaw avenue, who is employed at the East End Sewer Pipe Works, was arrested on Walnut street shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon by Officers Dawson and Morris, who filed a charge against him of being disorderly and flourishing fire arms. His case involves a murderous assault and at least two other fights and will not likely be finally disposed of for several days.

When Fullmer was arrested there was a crowd of perhaps 200 around him and there was much excitement among the people. According to his own statement he knocked down two fellows, and, according to the statements of eye witnesses, he drew a gun on some women and badly frightened a score of people in the community. At the city hall he told a story which will likely result in the arrest of the two men whom he struck and, if his words be true, they will have a serious time freeing themselves from the clutches of the law.

It will be remembered that Fullmer was brutally assaulted on Bradshaw avenue about two months ago. The particulars of the affair were published in the News Review. He said this afternoon that the names of the men who assaulted him were Jones and Reed, both kiln hands. "I have been waiting for another meeting with them," he said, "and I was not surprised when I saw them near Knowles' pottery this afternoon. They called me a yap when I was passing them and I turned around and knocked them down. The night they assaulted me on Bradshaw avenue I was walking toward my home and had stopped at the spring for a drink. While I was drinking one of them struck me in the head with a stone and then both of them kicked me into insensibility. I have been afraid since that they would get me, and I have been carrying a revolver and a pair of knuckles to defend myself."

The story of Fullmer is given credence and the two men accused by him will likely be arrested this afternoon.

Passengers on the Car Startled By
A Crash at the Time of His Dis-
appearance.

William Russell, a resident of Jethro was picked up from the floor of the West End bridge at 9:50 last night in a terribly mangled condition. His injuries are of such a character that it will be a miracle if he recovers.

Russell and a companion had been spending the evening in Wellsville, and some time after 9 o'clock boarded a car for this city. They had been drinking, and were in a hilarious mood during the trip. At Walker Russell left the car for a few minutes, and when he returned concluded to remain on the rear platform. His companion endeavoring to induce him to come inside, but he refused, saying he proposed to get off at Jethro and go home. No one seems to be able to give an intelligent explanation of just how the accident happened, but he was missed from the car when it was midway across the bridge.

As the car neared the west end of the trestle passengers on the inside of the car say they were startled by a crash sounding like the breaking of a timber, followed by a groan. The car was stopped and several of the passengers went back to ascertain the cause of the peculiar sound. Almost at the same moment Joseph Bettridge and Charles Solomon drove up in a buggy, and noticing that the horse they were driving acted in an unusual manner got down and went forward.

Russell was lying face downward in the center of the driveway several feet from the street railway tracks. The young man was unconscious and was first thought to be dead. He was lying in a pool of blood, and the body was perfectly limp. The two men raised the injured man and he was carried to his home not far away, where a physician was soon summoned. The doctor lost no time in stopping the flow of blood from a deep gash on the right side of his head just above the ear. It was a difficult task and required some time to accomplish. The wound in the head was an ugly one, extending around the scalp for several inches. He was badly bruised all over the body, and it may be that he cannot recover.

Several theories are advanced as to just how the accident happened, but it is thought Russell intended to leave the car at the west end of the bridge, and at the time he was hit was leaning out from the car in such a manner as to come in contact with anything that might be near the track. Just at that point is located a steel brace or arm which is utilized as a support for the trolley wire in lieu of a pole. It is supposed that Russell's head hit this steel beam and he was thrown violently to the floor of the bridge.

Russell is a dipper at the Burford pottery, and has a wife and two children. He is popular among his fellow workmen and has a large number of friends among the potters.

ONLY $10 PREMIUM OFFERED FOR BONDS

But One Company Bid to Take the
$92,950.

COMMITTEE IS SURPRISED

Council Not Likely to Accept the Bid
and May Offer the Bonds at Private Sale—Matters for Council to Consider Tonight.

Contrary to the expectation of the finance committee of council and City
Auditor Davidson, but one bid was received today for the purchase of the $92,950 worth of East Liverpool bonds
authorized several weeks ago by council for the purpose of wiping out the
debt that has accumulated during the past few years. The sole bidder was the company of W. J. Hayes & Son, of Cleveland. This company offers a premium of $10 for the bonds.

It was anticipated that there would
be at least a half dozen bidders and
everyone at the city hall when the
time came for opening the bids showed genuine surprise. There were, however, four representatives of large
commission houses present and they
feel confident that they will yet receive
the bonds. One of them stated that he was very much surprised to see a premium offered. He said that the money market is very close and that
no commission concerns are paying a premium on such bonds.

H. E. Moon was the only member
of the finance committee present when
the auditor opened the bids. He predicts that council will not accept the
bid at the special meeting to be held
this evening. The bid of Hayes &
Sons was accompanied by a guarantee
check for $4,666 and the certification
would be considered solid enough, but
council, it is thought, will hold the
bonds for a better price, notwithstanding
that the buyers in this city today
say that no companies would give a larger premium.

It is known that the bond companies
are desirous of purchasing the bonds
at private sale. After rejecting the bid tonight the finance committee will
be open to sell the bonds and will have to do so in the near future. Among
the companies who will compete for the purchase are W. R. Todd & Co., of Cincinnati; the New First National
company, of Columbus and Seasongood
& Mayer, of Cincinnati. Cleveland
companies will also be on the list.

Council will have other important matters to consider at the meeting this evening. The honorable body will confer with Mayor Weaver relative to the railroad ordinance and will likely appoint the board of equalization for
the Pennsylvania avenue improvement.

Mayor Weaver has been approached
by a number of residents of Jethro
who want the railroad ordinance
amended so that it will include the demand that Washington and Liberty
streets in that section be opened by
the railroad company. The mayor intends to place the matter before council, and if it be the wish of the body
to include the provision necessary
steps will be taken to that end. There is a provision in the ordinance which
will partially cover the question, but it
does not specifically mention the two streets and those interested are desirous that it shall.

The time is up for the appointing of
the equalizing board and it is considered expedient that council attend to it.

Business Was Lively Among the
Fines Were Many.

Police court was unusually lively
this morning, an even dozen victims
having fallen into the hands of the
"finest" during Saturday night and Sunday. Mayor Weaver was easy or
the most of them, and all were able
to furnish sufficient money to obtain
their release from custody.

Several months had elapsed since
Richard Walker and his spouse appeared before the chief executive, and
"feeling" that they would break their record for darkening cell corridors,
both engaged in a fistie encounter at an early hour Sunday morning and it was not long until Officers Auder-heide and Dunn appeared on the scene. The pair had consumed an unlimited amount of their favorite beverage and, incensed to a high pitch,
were fighting like cats and dogs when
the officers arrived. Both protested
vigorously against free transportation
to the city hall, but to no avail.

Mrs. Walker showed signs of several Jeffries blows on her physiognomy and Dick looked considerably the worse for scratches. Chief Wyman
allowed them to depart on their promise to pay $5 each.

Gustavus Mitchell, a 240 pounder,
and one of the best known men in the
city, came dangerously near losing his
life Saturday evening as a result of
a quick jag. He has been a drinking
man for two score years and it was
the first time that he was ever laid
out. He attributes the innovation to dope, saying that he only drank six glasses of whiskey and ten beers.
Mitchell was found on the street car
track by Officer McDermott. One car had struck his shoulder and while
he was lying straight across the track
the officer noticed him. His sons appeared and secured his release by paying a fine of $2 and costs.

Harry Jones, of Chester, was about
as drunk as a man could get when seen by Chief Wyman. He was lying prostrate in the door of the shooting
gallery on West Market street and it
was with difficulty that the chief removed him to safer quarters at the city building. He paid the usual fine
and was released.

William Taylor, an old soldier, crippled and nearly blind, whose home
is said to be in Steubenville, was all
in when picked up by Officer Patrick
Woods on Seventh street late Saturday evening. Chief Wyman was appealed to by the old fellow's condition
and allowed him to go when he became sober.

P. K. Rogerson, Adam Boone, John
Bour and several others whose names
could not be learned were taken in
for being drunk. Officers Salsberry, Dawson and Morris making the arrests. They paid their fines and gained liberty.

A Defendant in a Justice's Court
Brings the Case to a Sudden
End.

Acknowledging that he is a bankrupt
and as a result being absolutely unable to pay his debts F. W. Miller, the well known baker, was able to have a case
instituted against him in the court of
Squire H. P. McCarron by Capt. Gus
Martindill, dismissed at noon today.
The case was a perplexing one, several
parties being involved and only an attorney being able to ferret out the circumstances surrounding it. Though Miller was the man owing the money
in the case it was docketed as follows:
"Gus Martindill versus T. B. Murphy,
the judgment debtor's debtor in aid of
execution to secure judgment obtained
by Martindill, versus F. W. Miller, manager of the Miller Baking company."

The prosecutor and defendant were
represented by attorneys and the case
was completely aired. When Miller's attorney stated that the defendant did
not deny the debt but was unable to pay it the 'squire could do nothing but
dismiss the proceedings.
Capt. Martindill states that he sold
four cases of eggs to Miller at $5.25
each and that Miller refused to pay for
them.

SCORES OF PEOPLE BADLY SCARED

Chas. Fullmer Drew a Gun and
Also Knocked Down
Two Men.

FORMER HOLDUP ALLEGED

Charles Fullmer, a resident of Brad-
shaw avenue, who is employed at the East End Sewer Pipe Works, was arrested on Walnut street shortly after
1 o'clock this afternoon by Officers
Dawson and Morris, who fled a charge
against him of being disorderly and flourishing fire arms. His case involves a murderous assault and at least two other fights and will not
likely be finally disposed of for several days.

When Fullmer was arrested there
was a crowd of perhaps 200 around
him and there was much excitement
among the people. According to his own statement he knocked down two
fellows, and, according to the statements of eye witnesses, he drew a gun
on some women and badly frightened
a score of people in the community.
At the city hall he told a story which
will likely result in the arrest of the two men whom he struck and, if his
words be true, they will have a serious
time freeing themselves from the
clutches of the law.

It will be remembered that Fullmer
was brutally assaulted on Bradshaw
avenue about two months ago. The particulars of the affair were published in the News Review. He said this afternoon that the names of the men
who assaulted him were Jones and Reed, both kiln hands. "I have been waiting for another meeting with
them," he said, "and I was not surprised when I saw them near Knowles'
pottery this afternoon. They called
me a yap when I was passing them
and I turned around and knocked
them down. The night they assaulted
me on Bradshaw avenue I was walking
toward my home and had stopped at
the spring for a drink. While I was drinking one of them struck me in the
head with a stone and then both of them kicked me into insensibility. I have been afraid since that they would
get me, and I have been carrying a revolver and a pair of knuckles to defend myself."

The story of Fullmer is given credence and the two men accused by
him will likely be arrested this afternoon.

William Russell, of the West End, Picked Up On Jethro Bridge in Mangled Condition.

MAY NOT RECOVER

The Manner in Which He Was Injured Is Not Known—Supposed to Have Been Struck by a Steel Brace.

FOUND IN A POOL OF BLOOD

Badly Bruised All Over His Body.
Passengers on the Car Startled By
A Crash at the Time of His Dis-
appearance.

William Russell, a resident of Jethro
was picked up from the floor of the West End bridge at 9:50 last night in a terribly mangled condition. His injuries are of such a character that
it will be a miracle if he recovers.

Russell and a companion had been
spending the evening in Wellsville,
and some time after 9 o'clock boarded
a car for this city. They had been trinking, and were in a hilarious mood
during the trip. At Walker Russell
left the car for a few minutes, and
when he returned concluded to remain
on the rear platform. His companion endeavored to induce him to communicate, but he refused, saying he proposed to get off at Jethro and go home.
No one seems to be able to give an intelligent explanation of just how the
accident happened, but he was missed
from the car when it was midway
across the bridge.

As the car neared the west end of the street passengers on the inside of the car say they were startled by a crash
sounding like the breaking of a timber,
followed by a groan. The car was stopped and several of the passengers
went back to ascertain the cause of the peculiar sound. Almost at the same moment Joseph Bettridge and Charles Soleman drove up in a buggy, and
noticing that the horse they were driving acted in an unusual manner got torn and wet forward.

Russell was lying face downward in
the center of the driveway several feet
from the street railway tracks. The young man was unconscious and was
first thought to be dead. He was lying in a pool of blood, and the body
was perfectly limp. The two men
raised the injured man and he was carried to his home not far away, where
a physician was soon summoned. The doctor lost no time in stopping the flow
of blood from a deep gash on the right
side of his head just above the ear.
It was a difficult task and required
some time to accomplish. The wound
in the head was an ugly one, extending around the scalp for several inches. He was badly bruised all over
the body, and it may be that he cannot recover.

Several theories are advanced as to
just how the accident happened, but
as is thought Russell intended to leave
the car at the west end of the bridge,
and at the time he was hit was leaning
out from the car in such a manner as
to come in contact with anything that might be near the track. Just at that point is located a steel brace or arm
which is utilized as a support for the trolley wire in lieu of a pole. It is supposed that Russell's head hit this
steel beam and he was thrown violent-
ly to the floor of the bridge.

Russell is a dipper at the Burford
pottery, and has a wife and two children. He is popular among his fellow workmen and has a large number of
friends among the potters.

News and Notes About The Potteries

NEW-BEAN POT.

The latest bean pot to arrive in the market makes the eating of baked beans more totemic than ever. This pot is on the artistic order and is a heavy French china. The outer side is in the tones of a deliciously baked bean. The tints and shades are of brown, and the inner saffron is snowy white. The whole dish is set on a saucer rack, ready for the table. The family bean pot is long and oval-shaped and the cover is the head of a rabbit, with most lifelike eyes. The individual bean pots are little brown dishes, side by side, and they are a fascinating appointment for a table. Each person is served with his own pot of beans, and these little pots are brown outside and white inside, the same as the large dish.

There are single dishes for the serving of baked custards, and there are sets of individual dishes. These are made with a handle and without covers, and the racks for them are higher, supporting three dishes on each story of the rack.

There is a wide variety of dishes, some for macaroni, potpie, fish, for puddings, and for anything that is baked. The utility for them lies principally in the fact that the dishes may be set in the oven, for they are made for that purpose, and the article cooked brought directly from the oven to the table, suffering no loss of heat from transference to a second dish. This ware is both useful and ornamental, and particularly nice for summer breakfasts served in the arbor, to which place they may be taken directly from the oven. Again, they are nice for winter, when things are desired piping hot.

MODELLERS ARE BUSY.

There has been a decided increase in demand for new shapes during the past ten days, says China, Glass and Lamps. Many modellers have contracts on hand which will keep them busy until late in the fall. Joseph Chetwynd, of East Liverpool, is much crowded with work. He is designing for two East Liverpool firms as well as for eastern potteries.

The Sevres China Co. has placed a contract with him for a new toilet shape to be completed early in the fall. The company has departed from the conventional style in the drawing of the pattern, which demonstrates in a small way their originality and enterprise. Gotham and Lockett have a very fair share of work on hand, with the prospects favorable for an active fall and winter trade.

Bishop and Beatty, as usual, have enough to keep them working every day. New orders have been received lately which will keep them busy for several weeks. A noticeable feature about all of the new shapes and specialties gotten out this year is that the modellers have entered upon unbeaten paths.

ation in the Staffordshire district, says:

There is nothing much of importance to report as to the condition of the staple trade of the district this week. At a number of factories great efforts are being made to complete as many orders as possible before the commencement of the Potteries Carnival. Speaking generally, however, there is not the same amount of business doing as has been noted during the past few weeks, but a decline is generally expected at this time of the year. Trade with the United States continues moderate, and although very few fresh orders are being booked, many of the various firms engaged in this market are fully employed in completing those recently to hand.

TWO NEW SHAPES.

The Ohio China Co., East Palestine, has two toilet shapes, the "Boston" and the "Portia," which are treated in a variety of solid tints, which are indeed beautiful, and they are goods that do not stay on the shelves long. Their "Marquise" dinner set is also a good seller and the decorations are thoroughly original. This firm has made a line of specialties one of the features of the plant, and Mr. Walker, general manager, says they will be in fine shape on this line this fall. The line of jardiniere are in sizes from six-inch to twelve-inch, and are handsomely decorated.

BRADSHAW TO START.

The repairs at the Bradshaw pottery at Niles are about completed and it is the expectation of the management to begin operations this week.

Go Prepared.

In preparing for your summer outing a little forethought may save you a good deal of trouble. Mr. John H. Manly, a dry goods merchant, of Belleville, R. I., while packing an outfit for camping a few weeks on Narragansett Bay, put in a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for emergency use. The second day in camp his little boy was taken with cramp colic. The first dose of this remedy gave relief and the second dose effected a cure. Think of the pain and suffering this boy would have had to endure without this remedy at hand to relieve him. Such cases often result fatally. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

THE OLD RELIGION THE ONLY SAVE ONE

Christ's Words, Ye Must Be Born Again, Teach the True Way to Heaven.

FALSE GUIDES NUMEROUS

But They and Their Doctrines Fail in the Hour of Need—An Eloquent Sermon By Rev. John M. Gaston, of Pittsburg.

Rev. John M. Gaston, well known in this city, which was the home of his boyhood, now pastor of the Hazelwood Presbyterian church in Pittsburg, preached a powerful and eloquent sermon to a large congregation at the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning. The music, as usual at this church, was fine, especially so the closing anthem.

Rev. Mr. Gaston read as the scripture lesson the story of Christ teaching Nicodemus the necessity of regeneration and selected as his text the third chapter of John, verses 7, 14, and 15, as follows: "Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born again. And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of Man be lifted up; that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have eternal life." The sermon dealt with the old way of religion as one only safe guide. In part the minister said:

"The old way of entering the Kingdom of God was through Christ and faith in His teachings. No better way has ever been found. He who travels through the country, especially in the west, will be astonished at the growth of new religions. There is a multiplicity of churches teaching new creeds and suggesting new ways of getting to heaven. Eastern people would be amazed on journeying from Ohio to the Pacific to listen to the different theories and gospels that they could hear expounded in churches, on the streets, in parks and other places. New religions, man-made, are apparently popular."

The speaker then told in a vivid narrative the story of the "Celestial Railway," as related by Hawthorne in his "Mosses from an Old Manse." Hawthorne did not aspire to be a prophet, yet his written words, read today, have all the effect of a prophecy that has come true. The romance told how the seeker after heaven was deserted at the very brink of the river by his guide who offered to show him the way to heaven; while those who pursued the old way crossed the river in safety, with careful guides to help them, and were greeted with rejoicing on the other shore. The man who had relied on the false guide found himself deserted and alone in the hour of his peril.

"Thus," said the speaker, "thus it is with the man-made religions. They fail where the need is greatest. The religion of God never fails. The true message is proclaimed in God's word and the old gospel alone points out the way to salvation. 'Ye must be born again.'"

"The world is full of people who want something new, but when they get it they find it is not worth the keeping. We get into the world by being born into it. We must get into God's kingdom, if we get there at all, in the same way. Many say they do not understand the phrase being born of the spirit. They cannot believe what they do not understand, they declare. Their own life and all their surroundings refute this declaration. Men are constrained to believe. The farmer does not understand the how of the process that makes wool grow upon the back of his sheep, or how the little kernel of wheat develops into a stalk and then produces the full head of ripened wheat. It is enough for him that the growth takes place. Few men can understand how the fire burns coal and gives off heat, but all can understand that without heat they must suffer in winter. The nature of electricity is unknown, even to those who use it daily, but we see that it will produce light and run our cars.

"Man, as he is, is not fit to be transported into the heavenly kingdom. He would not be at home there, until he had undergone spiritual regeneration, even if he could find his way thither. He must follow God's directions if he would enjoy the blessings prepared for him.

"The old way to heaven is not a creed. Creeds are useful; but they cannot save you. A glass vessel may contain water or nourishment, but a man would be a fool to swallow the glass and expect it to quench his thirst or to feed him. The creed is like the glass—a receptacle for whatever good thing we may put into it. The empty creed is like the empty glass; to eat it would kill you. It is the truth inside that saves. The new birth is not a creed; it is God's prescribed rule, not man's.

"The new birth is not joining a church. That act does not save you. It may help you, but you must help yourself. One can cut a piece from a tree and plant it in the ground. It does not grow, because it has no life. It remains a post, until it wastes and rots into nothing. Plant a healthy tree and nourish it and the result is a beautiful and useful object. The tree grows, the post never. Every church has in it many posts. They have been planted there, and there they remain, making no shade and producing no fruit. But those who seek to grow make themselves and the church better. Growth is what brings comfort and satisfaction. We should join the church, not to be saved, but because we are saved, and when in the church, work to strengthen it and ourselves.

"The new birth is not getting religion. Religion is the inheritance of all mankind. Even the savages and the heathen have it, and will undergo any torture, suffering or privation, rather than give it up. Religion is that which distinguishes man from the brute. Every man has religion, but not all have the true religion. The new birth is not a change of feeling. The new testament contains the word 'feeling' but three times. Change of emotions may come with the new birth; quite as likely it may not. Emotion will not save you. The Lord wants to see you and wants you to love Him; He does not ask you to turn to Him because you fear Him, or for the reward that you may gain; but He wants you to know and feel that He is good and therefore you put your trust in Him.

"Morality and spirituality are entirely different things. We must first get right morally before we can progress spiritually. Stopping at the merely moral stage will not do. Many men are all right in their relations as husbands and fathers and yet all wrong in their relations with God.

"What, then, is the new birth? When you are born into Christ's kingdom you will partake of Christ's nature. Even as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, so must the son of man be lifted up. We must look to Christ as our model and our guide. God's rules are all simple. There is nothing incomprehensible about them. The humblest as well as the most gifted may all come to Christ. The way is easy—the old and the true way. 'Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved.'"

WONDERFUL THE WAYS AND WORKS OF GOD

An Able Sermon by Rev. T. H. Hall, of New Jersey, at the M. E. Church.

Rev. T. H. Hall, formerly of this city now of the New Jersey conference, preached at the First M. E. church last evening, from the text "What Is Man That Thou Art Mindful of Him?" he called attention to the imperial majesty, dignity, grandeur and all absorbing mystery connected with the starry heavens, and what an interest the Psalmist must have taken in astronomy. Comparison was made between the magnitude of the starry universe and man, man so small and so insignificant when compared with the God whose image he is supposed to have been made. "Who am I?" asked the speaker, continuing with the query: "How, when and what is all this done for?" Attention was directed to the great solar system, moving at a speed of many miles an hour, yet with such perfect poise that a cup of water will not spill a drop from the motion—so swift, yet so sure, and so carefully planned in all its detail, working together so true, without a mistake, without a jar.

Wonderful are the ways and works of God. The eye of him who looks was directed to gaze on and on through the stars to the realms of God far beyond. The size of man was pictured

OUR MEDICATED BOUGIE NEVER FAILS TO CURE

THE FRANCE URETHRAL TREATMENT is a medicated Bougie for the cure of Stricture and all forms of Diseases of the Bladder, Urethra, and Prostate Gland. The Bougies are inserted into the urethral canal upon retiring at night; they slip into position without the slightest effort, requiring a short time to dissolve. They act like a mild electric current, invigorating and imparting vim and snap to the entire body. The curative effect is felt from the first application. Our special treatment completely dissolves the Stricture and permanently removes obstructions from the urinary passage.

Each person applying for Medical Treatment should bring or send from two to four ounces of urine, which will receive a careful chemical and microscopic examination. We cure hundreds of cases we have never seen. Write for book of 500 questions. Correspondence, Consultation and Examination free and strictly confidential. No names published without written consent. Treatment sent by mail or express to any part of the United States.

as only a small atom, yet man alone of all living things was imbued with the power of thought, with mind and will power. Man was more than animal, which only had brute instinct, to eat, drink and sleep—not one thought. The ox thus eats grass to grow strength, but is subject to no other powers than those of appetite, which is the only God it knows.

Man thus differs from lower order of life, animal life, and is moved by an invisible intellect, making him the arbiter of his own destiny. As a man thinketh, so is he. Thus thought moves the world. Man can think and can climb higher, to the end which is a destiny, an ultimatum. Man is what is within his heart. The human heart should throb with divinity. God looks to see what is in every human heart and He knows, and He knows only, what abides within. In conclusion character was taken up for discussion, and the difference pointed out between character and reputation. Thus man is a man only in proportion to the goodness that is in his heart, which God sees, and He only.

THE RIGHT USE OF MEANS OF GRACE

Rev. J. G. Reinartz Preaches From the Parable of the Unjust Steward.

Rev. J. G. Reinartz, at St. John's Lutheran church, preached from the text Luke 16:8: "And the Lord Commandeth the Unjust Steward, Because He Had Done Wisely." He said in part:

"Let us rightly use the means of grace. God has not founded His church in vain. And now, in our life, is certainly the time to make friends of the mammon of unrighteousness. Perhaps heretofore we have only made enemies of it. We cannot make a righteous use of other people's money but perhaps we can make friends with our own. Deal thy bread to the hungry and hide not thyself from thine own flesh. Remember the sick and the poor, the widow and the orphan. Think of those who labor in the home of the foreign mission fields. Even for the rich there is a day of reckoning. Neither the shroud and coffin, however, rich and beautiful, nor the honeyed words of a flattering preacher can brace the soul as it comes clothed before its God."

Accidents come with distressing frequency on the farm. Cuts, bruises, stings, sprains, Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil relieves the pain instantly. Never safe without it.

News and Notes About The Potteries

NEW-BEAN POT.

The latest bean pot to arrive in the market makes the eating of baked beans more totemic than ever. This pot is on the artistic order and is a heavy French china. The outer side is in the tones of a deliciously baked bean. The tints and shades are of brown, and the inner saffron is snowy white. The whole dish is set on a silver rack, ready for the table. The family bean pot is long and oval-shaped and the cover is the head of a rabbit, with most life-like eyes. The individual bean pots are little brown dishes, side by side, and they are a fascinating appointment for a table. Each person is served with his own pot of beans, and these little pots are brown outside and white inside, the same as the large dish.

There are single dishes for the serving of baked custards, and there are sets of individual dishes. These are made with a handle and without covers, and the racks for them are higher, supporting three dishes on each story of the rack.

There is a wide variety of dishes, some for macaroni, potpie, fish, for puddings, and for anything that is baked. The utility for them lies principally in the fact that the dishes may be set in the oven, for they are made for that purpose, and the article cooked brought directly from the oven to the table, suffering no loss of heat from transference to a second dish. This ware is both useful and ornamental, and particularly nice for summer breakfasts served in the arbor, to which place they may be taken directly from the oven. Again, they are nice for winter, when things are desired piping hot.

MODELLERS ARE BUSY.

There has been a decided increase in demand for new shapes during the past ten days, says China, Glass and Lamps. Many modellers have contracts on hand which will keep them busy until late in the fall. Joseph Chetwynd, of East Liverpool, is much crowded with work. He is designing for two East Liverpool firms as well as for eastern potteries.

The Severs China Co. has placed a contract with him for a new toilet shape to be completed early in the fall. The company has departed from the conventional style in the drawing of the pattern, which demonstrates in a small way their originality and enterprise. Gotham and Lockett have a very fair share of work on hand, with the prospects favorable for an active fall and winter trade.

Bishop and Beatty, as usual, have enough to keep them working every day. New orders have been received lately which will keep them busy for several weeks. A noticeable feature about all of the new shapes and specialties gotten out this year is that the modellers have entered upon unbroken paths.

ation in the Staffordshire district, says:

There is nothing much of importance to report as to the condition of the staple trade of the district this week. At a number of factories great efforts are being made to complete as many orders as possible before the commencement of the Potteries Carnival. Speaking generally, however, there is not the same amount of business doing as has been noted during the past few weeks, but a decline is generally expected at this time of the year. Trade with the United States continues moderate, and although very few fresh orders are being booked, many of the various firms engaged in this market are fully employed in completing those recently taken.

TWO NEW SHAPES.

The Ohio China Co., East Palestine, has two toilet shapes, the "Boston" and the "Portia," which are treated in a variety of solid tints, which are indeed beautiful, and they are goods that do not stay on the shelves long. Their "Marquise" dinner set is also a good seller and the decorations are thoroughly original. This firm has made a line of specialties one of the features of the plant, and J. R. Walker, general manager, says they will be in fine shape on this line this fall. The line of jardiniere is in sizes from six-inch to twelve-inch, and are handsomely decorated.

BRADSHAW TO START.

The repairs at the Bradshaw pottery at Niles are about completed and it is the expectation of the management to begin operations this week.

When you go to buy Witch Hazel Salve look for the name DEWITT on every box. The pure, unadulterated Witch Hazel is used in making DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, which is the best salve in the world for cuts, burns, bruises, boils, eczema and piles. The popularity of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, due to its many cures, has caused numerous worthless counterfeits to be placed on the market. The genuine bears the name of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. Go Prepared.

In preparing for your summer outing a little forethought may save you a good deal of trouble. Mr. John H. Manly, a dry goods merchant of Belleville, R. I., while packing an outfit for camping a few weeks on Narragansett Bay, put in a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for emergency use. The second day in camp his little boy was taken with cramp colic. The first dose of this remedy gave relief and the second dose effected a cure. Think of the pain and suffering this boy would have had to endure without this remedy at hand to relieve him. Such cases often result fatally. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

THE OLD RELIGION THE ONLY SAVE ONE

FALSE GUIDES NUMEROUS

But They and Their Doctrines Fail in the Hour of Need—An Eloquent Sermon By Rev. John M. Gaston, of Pittsburgh.

Rev. John M. Gaston, well known in this city, which was the home of his boyhood, now pastor of the Hazelwood Presbyterian church in Pittsburgh, preached a powerful and eloquent sermon to a large congregation at the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning. The music, as usual at this church, was fine, especially so the closing anthem.

Rev. Mr. Gaston read as the scripture lesson the story of Christ teaching Nicodemus the necessity of regeneration and selected as his text the third chapter of John, verses 7, 14, and 15, as follows: "Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born again. And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of Man be lifted up: that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have eternal life." The sermon dealt with the old way of religion as only safe guide. In part the minister said:

"The old way of entering the Kingdom of God was through Christ and faith in His teachings. No better way has ever been found. He who travels through the country, especially in the west, will be astonished at the growth of new religions. There is a multiplicity of churches teaching new creeds and suggesting new ways of getting to heaven. Eastern people would be amazed on journeying from Ohio to the Pacific to listen to the different theories and gospels that they could hear expounded in churches, on the streets, in parks and other places. New religions, man-made, are apparently popular."

The speaker then told in a vivid narrative the story of the "Celestial Railway," as related by Hawthorne in his "Mosses from an Old Manse." Hawthorne did not aspire to be a prophet, yet his written words, read today, have all the effect of a prophecy that has come true. The romance told how the seeker after heaven was deserted at the very brink of the river by his guide who offered to show him the way to heaven; while those who pursued the old way crossed the river in safety, with careful guides to help them, and were greeted with rejoicing on the other shore. The man who had relied on the false guide found himself deserted and alone in the hour of his peril.

"Thus," said the speaker, "thus it is with the man-made religions. They fail where the need is greatest. The religion of God never fails. The true message is proclaimed in God's word and the old gospel alone points out the way to salvation. 'Ye must be born again.'"

"The world is full of people who want something new, but when they get it they find it is not worth the keeping. We get into the world by being born into it. We must get into God's kingdom, if we get there at all, in the same way. Many say they do not understand the phrase being born of the spirit. They cannot believe what they do not understand, they declare. Their own life and all their surroundings refute this declaration. Men are constrained to believe. The farmer does not understand the how of the process that makes wool grow upon the back of his sheep, or how the little kernel of wheat develops into a stalk and then produces the full head of ripened wheat. It is enough for him that the growth takes place. Few men can understand how the fire burns coal and gives off heat, but all can understand that without heat they must suffer in winter. The nature of electricity is unknown, even to those who use it daily, but we see that it will produce light and run our cars."

"Man, as he is, is not fit to be transported to the heavenly kingdom. He would not be at home there, until he had undergone spiritual regeneration, even if he could find his way thither. He must follow God's directions if he would enjoy the blessings prepared for him."

"The old way to heaven is not a creed. Creeds are useful; but they cannot save you. A glass vessel may contain water or nourishment, but a man would be a fool to swallow the glass and expect it to quench his thirst or to feed him. The creed is like the glass—a receptacle for whatever good thing we may put into it. The empty creed is like the empty glass; to eat it would kill you. It is the truth inside that saves. The new birth is not a creed; it is God's prescribed rule, not man's."

"The new birth is not joining a church. That act does not save you. It may help you, but you must help yourself. One can cut a piece from a tree and plant it in the ground. It does not grow, because it has no life. It remains a post, until it wastes and rots into nothing. Plant a healthy tree and nourish it and the result is a beautiful and useful object. The tree grows, the post never. Every church has in it many posts. They have been planted there, and there they remain, making no shade and producing no fruit. But those who seek to grow make themselves and the church better. Growth is what brings comfort and satisfaction. We should join the church, not to be saved, but because we are saved, and when in the church, work to strengthen it and ourselves."

"Morality and spirituality are entirely different things. We must first get right morally before we can progress spiritually. Stopping at the merely moral stage will not do. Many men are all right in their relations as husbands and fathers and yet all wrong in their relations with God."

"What, then, is the new birth? When you are born into Christ's kingdom you will partake of Christ's nature. Even as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, so must the son of man be lifted up. We must look to Christ as our model and our guide. God's rules are all simple. There is nothing incomprehensible about them. The humblest as well as the most gifted may all come to Christ. The way is easy—the old and the true way. 'Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved.'"

WONDERFUL THE WAYS AND WORKS OF GOD

An Able Sermon by Rev. T. H. Hall, of New Jersey, at the M. E. Church.

Rev. T. H. Hall, formerly of this city now of the New Jersey conference, preached at the First M. E. church last evening, from the text "What is Man That Thou Art Mindful of Him?" he called attention to the imperial majesty, dignity, grandeur and all absorbing mystery connected with the starry heavens, and what an interest the Psalmist must have taken in astronomy. Comparison was made between the magnitude of the starry universe and man, man so small and so insignificant when compared with the God in whose image he is supposed to have been made. "Who am I?" asked the speaker, continuing with the query: "How, when and what is all this done for?" Attention was directed to the great solar system, moving at a speed of many miles an hour, yet with such perfect poise as a cup of water will not spill a drop from the motion—so swift, yet so sure, and so carefully planned in all its detail, working together so true, without a mistake, without a jar.

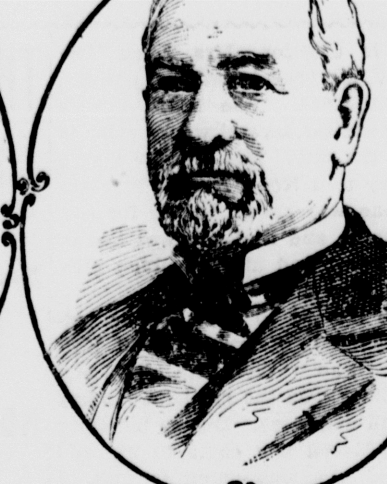

Wonderful are the ways and works of God. The eye of him who looks was directed to gaze on and on through the stars to the realms of God far beyond. The size of man was pictured as only a small atom, yet man alone of all living things was imbued with the power of thought, with mind and will power. Man was more than animal, which only had brute instinct, to eat, drink and sleep—not one thought. The ox thus eats grass to grow strength, but is subject to no other powers than those of appetite, which is the only God it knows. Man thus differs from lower order of life, animal life, and is moved by an invisible intellect, making him the arbiter of his own destiny. As a man thinketh, so is he. Thus thought moves the world. Man can think and can climb higher, to the end which is a destiny, an ultimatum. Man is what is within his heart. The human heart should throb with divinity. God looks to see what is in every human heart and He knows, and He knows only, what abides within. In conclusion character was taken up for discussion, and the difference pointed out between character and reputation. Thus man is a man only in proportion to the goodness that is in his heart, which God sees, and He only.

Shoot But Fled From the Police.

A small sized riot on a late street
car Saturday night was quelled by the
pluck and nerve of Conductor Powell,
who refused to be intimidated when
several of the rowdies drew revolvers
and began to abuse him with torrents
of profane language. The rioters
were all colored men who boarded the
car in the central part of the city.
They behaved fairly well until a point
near the Klondike pottery was reached
and then began to raise a disturbance.
There were several ladies on the car
and wishing to keep them from being annoyed Conductor Powell spoke kindly to the negroes. Instead of subsiding they became angry and started to make trouble for Powell. Not satisfied with calling rowell the names
several revolvers were displayed and threats of shooting were heard. The nervy conductor held his ground and
signalled the motorman to stop the
car. This was done and a message telephoned to the East End police station.

Officers Spence and Fisher caught
the next car east but the rioters, fearing the strong arm of the law, had
made good their escape over the hills.

Repairing the Culvert.

Lewis Howard, of the East End
street department with several of his
assistants commenced work this morning constructing a new wooden culvert
over Lake run, where it crosses Pennsylvania avenue. Street Commissioner
Frank Dickey was at the scene to help
in the work. The old culvert had fallen
into a dilapidated condition and
was really dangerous to horses. Several of the planks had become broken,
leaving apertures plenty large enough
for a horse's foot to drop through.
Drivers have been compelled to exercise the greatest caution in driving
across the culvert.

A Reported Wedding.

It was reliably reported this morning that Miss Lina Shook, of Elmwood
street, and Walter Mankin, now working at East Palestine, were to be married at Steubenville today. While the report could not be confirmed it is regarded as true. Miss Shook is a popular young lady, who makes her home
with her uncle, Wm. Kreier. The groom is a potter and well known in
the East End.

East End Resumed.

After an idleness of almost two
months the East End pottery resumed
work this morning with a full force.
Since the shut down in June the plant
has passed from the control of the East Liverpool Pottery company and
will be operated as an independent
plant. Gus Trimble, who with E. J.
Owen, was the principal stockholder
in the concern still retains his interest
and will be active in the management.

John Fowler, of Pennsylvania ave.,
is reported among the sick today.

John Gladden, of Freedom, was the guest yesterday of H. L. Bradman, of Mulberry street.

Miss Mollie Speedy, who has been visiting relatives at Waynesburg, Pa.,
returned home last night.

Frank White returned Saturday
night from a visit to Minerva, Carroll-
ton, Mechanicstown and other points.

Miss Cornelia Supplee of Ohio ave.,
who has been visiting friends and relatives at Lisbon returned home last
night.

William Hazelhurst, who has been at
like Crabbe's camp near Fredricktown, fell yesterday and cut his head quite
severely.

Fred Chambers and family, who have
been visiting East End relatives for some time, left this morning for their home in Cincinnati.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Larkins of Virginia avenue, left this morning for the Hollow Rock camp grounds near Low Creek, where they will spend a couple of weeks.

Alex Brownlee, who had his hand
severed a week or more ago when he
fell from a moving train, is reported
much better today by Dr. W. E. Mowen,
who has been attending to his injuries.

THIRSTY MAN PLACED IN COLD STORAGE

Went Into Refrigerator After Beer,
Was Locked In and Nearly Frozen.

Beaver, Pa. Aug. 17.—William C.
Johnston, of West Bridgewater, nearly
lost his life by being frozen in a refrigerator in the meat shop of Goll
Bros., all because of his love for beer.
An accidental opening of the ice box
after he had been confined in it for two hours, alone saved him. When taken
out his flesh had turned blue, his extremities were icy and he was losing
consciousness.

Johnston was looking about in the meat shop. He discovered a case of beer in the refrigerator and went in.
A moment later John Goll slammed the
door shut, thinking it had carelessly
been left open. Johnston was busy
drinking and did not hear the door
close. When he finally did try to get
out he found himself a prisoner.
There was no way of opening the door
from the inside. He called and pounded, but the thick walls were sound
proof. Thinking Mr. Goll had shut
the door for a joke, he consumed more beer and waited. Then he began to grow cold.

The door was finally opened to show
the refrigerator to a visitor. Johnston
was carried outside and soon revived.
It is thought the large quantity of beer
that he drank helped to sustain him.

BREWER ON LYNCHING

South No Longer Holds Monopoly for Meeting Out
Swift Punishment.

CRIMES CAUSED BY LAW'S DELAY

Outrages Committed on White Women
by Negroes Principal Causes of Lynchings—Advocates Doing Away
With Appeals in Criminal Cases.

New York, Aug. 17.—Associate Justice David J. Brewer, of the supreme court of the United States, has contributed to Leslie's Weekly an article
on the crime of lynching, in the course
of which he says:

"Our government recently forwarded to Russia a petition in respect to alleged atrocities committed upon the Jews. That government, as might have been expected, unwilling to have
its internal affairs a matter of consideration by other governments, declined to receive the petition. If, instead of so doing, it had replied that
it would put a stop to all such atrocities when this government put a stop

"It is well to look the matter fairly
in the face. Many good men join in
these uprisings, horrified at the atroc-
ity of the crime and eager for swift
and summary punishment. Of course
they violate the law themselves, but
rely on the public sentiment behind
them for escape from punishment.
Many of these lynchings are accompanied by the horrible barbarities of
savage torture, and all that can be
said in palliation is the atrocity of the offenses which led up to them. For a time they were confined largely to the
south, but that section of the country
no longer has a monopoly. The chief
offense which causes these lynchings
has been the rape of white women by colored men. No words can be found
too strong to describe the atrocity of such a crime. It is no wonder that
the community is excited. Men would disgrace their manhood if they were
not. And if a few lynchings had put
a stop to the offense society might
have condoned such breaches of its
law; but the fact is, if we may credit
the reports, the crime instead of diminishing is on the increase. The black beast (for only a beast would be guilty of such an offense) seems to be
not deterred thereby. More than that,
as might be expected, lynching for
such atrocious crimes is no longer confined to them, but is being resorted to
for other offenses.

"What can be done to stay this epidemic of lynching? One thing is the establishment of a greater confidence
in the summary and certain punishment of the criminal. Men are afraid
of the law's delays and the uncertainty of its results. Not that they doubt the integrity of the judges, but
they know that the law abounds with technical rules and that appellate
courts will often reverse a judgment
of conviction for a disregard of such
rules, notwithstanding a full belief in
the guilt of the accused. If all were

certain that the guilty ones would be
promptly tried and punished, the inducement to lynch would be largely
taken away. In an address which I delivered before the American Bar association at Detroit some years since
I advocated doing away with appeals
in criminal cases. It did not meet the favor of the association, but I still believe in its wisdom. For nearly a hundred years there was no appeal from
the judgment of conviction of criminal
cases in our federal courts, and no
review except in a few cases in which two judges sitting, a difference of opinion on a question of law was certified to the supreme court. In England the rule has been that there
was no appeal in criminal cases, although a question of doubt might be reserved by the presiding judge for
the consideration of his brethren.

Hon. F. J. Phelps, who was minister
to England during Mr. Cleveland's
first administration, once told me that
while he was there only two cases
were so reserved. Does any one doubt
that justice was fully administered by
the English courts?"

"It is said in extenuation of lynching
in case of rape that it is an additional cruelty to the unfortunate victim to compel her to go upon the witness stand and in the presence of a
mixed audience tell the story of her
wrongs, especially when she may be subject to cross-examination by overzealous counsel. I do not belittle this matter, but it must be remembered
that often the unfortunate victim
never lives to tell the story of her
wrongs; that if she does survive she
must tell it to some and the whole community knows the fact. Even in the court room any high minded judge
will stay counsel from any unnecessary cross-examination, and finally if
any lawyer should attempt it the community may treat him as an outcast.
I can but think that if the community
felt that the criminal would certainly
receive the punishment he deserves
and receive it soon, the eagerness for
lynching would disappear, and mobs,
whose gatherings too often mean not
merely the destruction of jails and
other property, but also the loss of innocent lives would diminish in number.

"One thing is certain—the tendency
of lynching is to undermine respect
for the law, and unless it be checked
we need not be astonished if it be resorted to for all kinds of offenses, and eventually the innocent suffer for wrongs committed by others."

South No Longer Holds Monopoly for Meeting Out Swift Punishment.

Outrages Committed on White Women by Negroes Principal Causes of Lynchings—Advocates Doing Away With Appeals in Criminal Cases.

New York, Aug. 17.—Associate Justice David J. Brewer, of the supreme court of the United States, has contributed to Leslie's Weekly an article on the crime of lynching, in the course of which he says:

"Our government recently forwarded to Russia a petition in respect to alleged atrocities committed upon the Jews. That government, as might have been expected, unwilling to consider by other governments, declined to receive the petition. If, instead of so doing, it had replied that it would put a stop to all such atrocities when this government put a stop to lynchings what could we have said?"

"It is well to look the matter fairly in the face. Many good men join in these uprisings, horrified at the atrocity of the crime and eager for swift and summary punishment. Of course they violate the law themselves, but rely on the public sentiment behind them for escape from punishment. Many of these lynchings are accompanied by the horrible barbarities of savage torture, and all that can be said in palliation is the atrocity of the offenses which led up to them. For a time they were confined largely to the south, but that section of the country no longer has a monopoly. The chief offense which causes these lynchings has been the rape of white women by colored men. No words can be found too strong to describe the atrocity of such a crime. It is no wonder that the community is excited. Men would disgrace their manhood if they were not. And if a few lynchings had put a stop to the offense society might have condoned such breaches of its law; but the fact is, if we may credit the reports, the crime instead of diminishing is on the increase. The black beast (for only a beast would be guilty of such an offense) seems to be not deterred thereby. More than that, as might be expected, lynching for such atrocious crimes is no longer confined to them, but is being resorted to for other offenses.

"What can be done to stay this epidemic of lynching? One thing is the establishment of a greater confidence in the summary and certain punishment of the criminal. Men are afraid of the law's delays and the uncertainty of its results. Not that they doubt the integrity of the judges, but they know that the law abounds with technical rules and that appellate courts will often reverse a judgment of conviction for a disregard of such rules notwithstanding a full belief in the guilt of the accused. If all were certain that the guilty ones would be promptly tried and punished, the inducement to lynch would be largely taken away. In an address which I delivered before the American Bar Association at Detroit some years since I advocated doing away with appeals in criminal cases. It did not meet the favor of the association, but I still believe in its wisdom. For nearly a hundred years there was no appeal from the judgment of conviction of criminal cases in our federal courts, and no review except in a few cases in which two judges sitting, a difference of opinion on a question of law was certified to the supreme court. In England the rule has been that there was no appeal in criminal cases, although a question of doubt might be reserved by the presiding judge for the consideration of his brethren. Hon. F. J. Phelps, who was minister to England during Mr. Cleveland's first administration, once told me that while he was there only two cases were so reserved. Does any one doubt that justice was fully administered by the English courts?"

"It is said in extenuation of lynching in case of rape that it is an additional cruelty to the unfortunate victim to compel her to go upon the witness stand and in the presence of a mixed audience tell the story of her wrongs, especially when she may be subject to cross-examination by overzealous counsel. I do not believe this matter, but it must be remembered that often the unfortunate victim never lives to tell the story of her wrongs; that if she does survive she must tell it to some and the whole community knows the fact. Even in the court room any high minded judge will stay counsel from any unnecessary cross-examination, and finally if any lawyer should attempt it the community may treat him as an outcast. I can but think that if the community felt that the criminal would certainly receive the punishment he deserves, and receive it soon, the eagerness for lynching would disappear, and mobs, whose gatherings too often mean not merely the destruction of jails and other property, but also the loss of innocent lives would diminish in number.

"One thing is certain—the tendency of lynching is to undermine respect for the law, and unless it be checked we need not be astonished if it be resorted to for all kinds of offenses, and oftentimes the innocent suffer for wrongs committed by others."

Potent Pill Pleasure.

The pills that are potent in their action and pleasant in effect are DeWitt's Little Early Risers. W. S. Philpot, of Albany, Ga., says: "During a bilious attack I took one. Small as it was it did me more good than calomel, blue mass or any other pills I ever took and at the same time it effected me pleasantly. Little Early Risers are certainly an ideal pill." Within the past five years Japan has given to the world an object-lesson in the advantages of a protective policy in developing the latent resources of a country. Her statesmen noted that the Japanese were buying abroad a large number of articles they were satisfied they could produce in the country, if proper encouragement were given. They took a lesson from our example, and concluded to try the effect of a higher duty on a number of articles, in the belief that this would stimulate home production. Their hopes were justified, and there has been a great expansion of Japanese industry. Take an instance. In 1898, under an ad valorem duty of 5 per cent Japan imported $4,474,168 worth of watches. The duty was raised to 30 per cent. In 1902, only four years later, the value of watches imported was but $116,670—the result of the manufacture of watches by the Japanese themselves. Another result of the protective policy has been to increase Japan's foreign trade instead of diminishing it. This has been the experience of the United States. The Dingley tariff law was enacted in 1897, and since then our foreign trade has grown at a most amazing rate, especially our export trade. This is exactly contrary to the position of the free trade doctrine. The stimulus to the expansion of home industries, and their extension into new lines, acts favorably on both imports and exports. We have proved that conclusively in our own case, and little Japan's experience is the same.

It is high time that the question of payment for the Pennsylvania avenue improvement be settled finally. A necessary step in that direction is the appointment of another equalization board. Council should attend to the matter without delay.

A Lincoln, Nebraska, audience was disposed to be angry at Hobson for keeping it waiting an hour. When he explained that he had been talking to Col. Bryan he was sympathized with instead of being condemned.

Care Counts

The issues of life and death depend on the potency of a drug some times—often than we are apt to think. When your physician prescribes a remedy he expects certain results; if the remedy supplied be lacking in purity or strength, it may fail in its purpose.

We think of these things. We take care to see that every drug we use in prescriptions is absolutely pure and of standard potency. We are careful about the compounding also. We have had 12 years' experience, and can assure you that if you permit us to compound your prescriptions you can feel secure about them.

LABORING MEN CLASH

Hostilities Between Strikers and Non-Unionists Assuming Serious Aspect.

NO FATALITIES ARE REPORTED

Although Many Shots Were Fired and

a Striker and Spectator Injured—Police Powerless to Preserve Order. Further Outbreak Feared.

Wheeling, Aug. 17.—One of the greatest clashes between labor factions that has occurred in the annals of the city took place between the striking machinists and about 25 non-union men who took their places in the Riverside plant of the United States Steel corporation. The battle was initiated Saturday night, but at that time the demonstration had not attained an alarming stage, and despite the fact that over a thousand shots were fired in the clash there were no fatalities and only a few persons were wounded.

The machinists have been out on strike for several weeks and the situation was becoming desperate for the corporation until they imported about 20 men to take the places of the strikers. The men have been assaulted from time to time, but the situation has not reached an alarming stage heretofore. The strikers congregated about the boarding houses of the non-unionists Saturday night fully armed and began an attack upon the places. The houses were heavily barricaded and many volleys were fired into the structures. Finally a well-directed shot from within the house wounded one of the strikers and he was carried to a hospital.

Clay Hoover, a spectator, was also shot in the left knee, but not seriously. A number of other people who were in the building with the non-unionists received wounds which were dressed by physicians. The rioting continued until 2 o'clock Sunday morning, when it abated somewhat. The police were powerless to interfere and reinforcements were requested. About 300 unionists participated in the riot and a fresh outbreak is feared at any moment.

At 10 o'clock last night the strikers lying in the hills fired upon Peter Silatek, who was passing that point. He was seriously wounded. The strikers mistook him, thinking he was a spy.

District Attorney Not Satisfied.

Lancaster, Pa., Aug. 17.—Mrs. John Burr, aged 30 years, was found late Saturday night in a house on West Chestnut street dying from a bullet wound in her breast. In a few minutes she expired. Her companion, George Brenner, was arrested on suspicion of having murdered her. He was released upon the finding of the coroner's jury that the woman had committed suicide. District Attorney Groff, however, was not satisfied by this verdict and says that he will keep Brenner under surveillance and investigate further. Mrs. Burr was known also as Lillie Nary, passing as the wife of a bill poster now with Welsh Bros'. circus. Brenner is an iron worker and lives in this city with his wife and children.

Weavers Returning to Work.

Philadelphia, Aug. 17.—Another break in the textile workers' strike will occur today, when 3,000 rug weavers, Turkish towel weavers and woolen yarn workers will return to work. At a meeting of the working committee of the Central Textile Workers' union these strikers were given permission to resume work. No concessions have been granted by the manufacturers. It was also officially announced that the rapholysters weavers, 5,000 in number, will make a final effort to secure concessions and, failing, will return to work on Tuesday at the old scale. This will leave but 11,200 of the 60,000 original strikers still out.

THE DELINQUENTS UNDER WILLIS LAW

Lieutenant Colonel Harry Freese, right-of-way agent of the B. & O. railroad.

Billy Radcliffe, of Youngstown, one of the most versatile fellows you ever met, is touring the state with the Johnson propaganda. He is one of Major Tom's star attractions. Billy has had amazing success as a patent medicine vendor and has appeared on the streets of East Liverpool, Salem, and other Columbiana county towns in this capacity in years gone by. He is an open-hearted fellow and clever in his line.

The Zimmerman people are claiming almost everything in sight, but are haunted by a fear that Johnson may, by some hornswoggling method, purloin a goodly number of their delegates in the convention. If Tom controls the committees he will have it fixed that the Zimmerman delegations from counties having contests will not be seated. The Zimmerman managers are considerably affrighted at this prospect and are working to prevent Johnson from controlling these bodies.

Former Attorney General Frank S. Monnett, who left the Republican party and allied himself with the Democracy, will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for attorney general. He sought this place two years ago, but lost out, the convention deciding his penance for former political sins was of too brief duration to entitle him to such honors then. This will be the fifth time he has gone after the nomination.

Within the past five years Japan has given to the world an object-lesson in the advantages of a protective policy in developing the latent resources of a country. Her statesmen noted that the Japanese were buying abroad a large number of articles they were satisfied they could produce in the country, if proper encouragement were given. They took a lesson from our example, and concluded to try the effect of a higher duty on a number of articles, in the belief that this would stimulate home production. Their hopes were justified, and there has been a great expansion of Japanese industry. Take an instance. In 1898, under an ad valorem duty of 5 per cent Japan imported $1,474,168 worth of watches. The duty was raised to 30 per cent. In 1902, only four years later, the value of watches imported was but $116,670—the result of the manufacture of watches by the Japanese themselves. Another result of a protective policy has been to increase Japan's foreign trade instead of diminishing it. This has been the experience of the United States. The Dingley tariff law was enacted in 1897, and since then our foreign trade has grown at a most amazing rate, especially our export trade. This is exactly contrary to the position of the free trade doctrine. The stimulus to the expansion of home industries, and their extension into new lines, acts favorably on both imports and exports. We have proved that conclusively in our own case, and little Japan's experience is the same.

It is high time that the question of payment for the Pennsylvania avenue improvement be settled finally. A necessary step in that direction is the appointment of another equalization board. Council should attend to the matter without delay.

A Lincoln, Nebraska, audience was disposed to be angry at Hobson for keeping it waiting an hour. When he explained that he had been talking to Col. Bryan he was sympathized with instead of being condemned.

Hon. John L. Zimmerman says will have 452 votes on the first ballot, for optimists of the first water one needs never look outside the Democratic party before it takes its medicine.

We shall soon have an opportunity to see how well the good intention of amending football rules so as to make the sport less dangerous has been carried out.

Johnson is carrying a lot of county democratic conventions. He will find it vastly easier than carrying the same counties in November.

The Colombian government fails to take into consideration the important fact that it has no monopoly in the matter of canal routes.

The August gas bills will soon be due. We trust the citizens' association is ready for the tug of war with the gas octopus.

The downfall of the Turkish government is predicted, and the Christian world will rejoice if the prediction comes true.

The unspeakable Turk needs to be silenced.

The issues of life and death depend on the potency of a drug some times—often than we are apt to think. When your physician prescribes a remedy he expects certain results; if the remedy supplied be lacking in purity or strength, it may fail in its purpose.

We think of these things. We take care to see that every drug we use in prescriptions is absolutely pure and of standard potency. We are careful about the compounding also. We have had 12 years' experience, and can assure you that if you permit us to compound your prescriptions you can feel secure about them.

LABORING MEN CLASH

Although Many Shots Were Fired and a Striker and Spectator Injured—Police Powerless to Preserve Order. Further Outbreak Feared.

Wheeling, Aug. 17.—One of the greatest clashes between labor factions that has occurred in the annals of the city took place between the striking machinists and about 25 non-union men who took their places in the Riverside plant of the United States Steel corporation. The battle was initiated Saturday night, but at that time the demonstration had not attained an alarming stage, and despite the fact that over a thousand shots were fired in the clash there were no fatalities and only a few persons were wounded.

The machinists have been out on strike for several weeks and the situation was becoming desperate for the corporation until they imported about 20 men to take the places of the strikers. The men have been assaulted from time to time, but the situation has not reached an alarming stage heretofore. The strikers congregated about the boarding houses of the non-unionists Saturday night fully armed and began an attack upon the places. The houses were heavily barricaded and many volleys were fired into the structures. Finally a well-directed shot from within the house wounded one of the strikers and he was carried to a hospital.

Clay Hoover, a spectator, was also shot in the left knee, but not seriously. A number of other people who were in the building with the non-unionists received wounds which were dressed by physicians. The rioting continued until 2 o'clock Sunday morning, when it abated somewhat. The police were powerless to interfere and reinforcements were requested. About 300 unionists participated in the riot and a fresh outbreak is feared at any moment.

At 10 o'clock last night the strikers lying in the hills fired upon Peter Silatek, who was passing that point. He was seriously wounded. The strikers mistook him, thinking he was a spy.

District Attorney Not Satisfied.

Lancaster, Pa., Aug. 17.—Mrs. John Burr, aged 30 years, was found late Saturday night in a house on West Chestnut street dying from a bullet wound in her breast. In a few minutes she expired. Her companion, George Brenner, was arrested on suspicion of having murdered her. He was released upon the finding of the coroner's jury that the woman had committed suicide. District Attorney Groff, however, was not satisfied by this verdict and says that he will keep Brenner under surveillance and investigate further. Mrs. Burr was known also as Little Nary, passing as the wife of a bill poster now with Welsh Bros', circus. Brenner is an iron worker and lives in this city with his wife and children.

Weavers Returning to Work.

Philadelphia, Aug. 17.—Another break in the textile workers' strike will occur today, when 3,000 rug weavers, Turkish towel weavers and woolen yarn workers will return to work. At a meeting of the working committee of the Central Textile Workers' union these strikers were given permission to resume work. No concessions have been granted by the manufacturers. It was also officially announced that the upholsterers weavers, 5,000 in number, will make a final effort to secure concessions and, failing, will return to work on Tuesday at the old scale. This will leave but 11,200 of the 60,000 original strikers still out.

Garment Workers Elect Officers.

Indianapolis, Aug. 17.—The United Garment Workers of America elected officers and selected Buffalo for next year's convention. There was no opposition for the positions of president and secretary, and B. A. Larger, of Cincinnati, and Henry White, of New York, were re-elected to those positions by unanimous vote.

Lost Both Legs Under Train.

Wheeling, Aug. 17.—James Murray, aged 30 years, of Pittsburg, was thrown beneath the wheels of a Baltimore and Ohio railroad passenger train in the sight of 200 spectators. The wheels passed over both his legs, crushing them to such an extent that they had to be amputated. His condition is critical.

Lieutenant Colonel Harry Frouse, right-of-way agent of the B. & O. railroad.

Billy Radcliffe, of Youngstown, one of the most versatile fellows you ever met, is touring the state with the Johnson propaganda. He is one of Major Tom's star attractions. Billy has had amazing success as a patent medicine vendor and has appeared on the streets of East Liverpool, Salem, and other Columbiana county towns in this capacity in years gone by. He is an open-hearted fellow and clever in his line.

The Zimmerman people are claiming almost everything in sight, but are haunted by a fear that Johnson may, by some hornswoggling method, unveil a goodly number of their delegates in the convention. If Tom controls the committees he will have it fixed that the Zimmerman delegations from counties having contests will not be seated. The Zimmerman managers are considerably affrighted at this prospect and are working to prevent Johnson from controlling these bodies.

Former Attorney General Frank S. McNett, who left the Republican party and allied himself with the Democracy, will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for attorney general. He sought this place two years ago, but lost out, the convention deciding his penance for former political sins was of too brief duration to entitle him to such honors then. This will be the fifth time he has gone after the nomination.

WELLSVILLE

RECORDS BROKEN IN POLICE ACTIVITY

The Number of Arrests in Wellsville Saturday and Sunday Unusually Large.

During the day and in the evening Saturday and Sunday, more arrests were made by Railroad Detective Bowen and the city police officers than have been made here for many months. Ernest Deewagon, who claims to come from New York; Andrew Brown, colored, of South Carolina; Hugh Haines, of Pittsburgh; Thomas Gill and Thomas Tims were all arrested by Detective Bowen for train riding. With the exception of Gill and Tims, all were assessed $5.00 each. The latter two were assessed $1.00 each. Deewagon, Gill and Tims were the only ones able to effect a settlement with the mayor this morning. He will be tried later.

James Williams, of Cairo, W. Va., and George Curtis, of Pomeroy, O., both drunks, came down from East Liverpool Sunday in an effort to get "home." They were promptly arrested by Officer Elliott. They were fined $5.00 each by the mayor this morning, but were unable to settle.

Joseph McKee, the Third street character, was arrested Sunday by Officer Henthorn on a charge of drunk and disorderly. He pleaded not guilty to the mayor this morning. He will be tried later.

Alfred Green, who had a charge placed against him last Wednesday for fighting and disturbing the peace and who was not arrested at the time, was taken into custody Saturday evening by Officer McIlvaine. Green was drunk at the time. He was brought before the mayor Sunday and was fined $20 and costs. He arranged for settlement.

William McDewitt was placed in jail Saturday evening and a charge filed against him by Officer Elliott. McDewitt was drunk and disorderly. He was fined $5.00 which he paid.

Albert Knapp and Fred Haskins, two drunks arrested by Officers Henthorn and Elliott, were fined $5.00 each. They arranged to settle.

John Donahoe, a bartender in the employ of Joseph Geisse, was arrested at noon Sunday, being caught in the act of selling whisky to an old soldier, by Officer Henthorn. Mayor Fogo assessed Donahoe $25.00. He paid promptly and was released from custody.

BE YOUR OWN JUDGE

Mi-na Costs You Nothing. If It Does Not Cure, Says Will Reed.

Mi-na, the remarkable flesh-forming food and cure for dyspepsia, has won fame by the unusual way in which it is sold. It is the only remedy offered for the cure of dyspepsia which costs the user absolutely nothing unless it cures.

Will Reed, the popular druggist, is selling a great many packages of Mi-na and with every box is given his personal guarantee to refund the money if Mi-na does not give satisfaction, you to be your own judge as to whether the remedy helps or not.

Mi-na is an unusual combination. It is a flesh-forming food combined with agents that regulate the digestive organs and remove irritation, congestion and inflammation from the stomach, liver and intestines. It enables those organs to extract from the food all that goes to make good, rich blood, firm muscle, steady nerves and a sound body. It does not contain any pepsin, pancreatin or other drugs, that never effect a cure and rarely give even temporary relief.

Mi-na puts the digestive system into proper working order, gives health, strength and good flesh, and is the natural cure for indigestion. Even in chronic cases, where life is one long drawn out pain, this remedy will effect a cure. It is the simplest and most reliable of all remedies. Just one tablet before or after meals and you can eat a hearty meal without distress.

If Mi-na does not do all that is claimed for it Will Reed will cheerfully refund your money.

will be held at this church at 8 o'clock Thursday morning. Miss Leibtag is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Leibtag, Main street, in this city, and Mr. Nagle is a popular East Liverpool plumber.

Havoc of Tropical Cyclone.

Merida, Yucatan, Aug. 17.—The effects of the tropical cyclone in this city and in Progresso some days ago were widespread and terrible. The wind commenced in the early hours of the night and although everybody had been prepared for the gale in consequence of warnings given some time previous, panic seized the community. Little by little the wind increased in violence and soon it was tearing up great trees by the roots, blowing roofs away and destroying houses and plantations. Great damage was done in a very short time. The cyclone was more terrible along the coast. Great efforts were made to save small vessels, but to no avail, and 20 of those lying in the port of Progresso were cast upon shore.

LICE OF A BEAUTIFUL GIRL ENDS IN A HOSPITAL

she had better consider well her determination of leaving. She replied that it was absolutely necessary that she leave and told me she would give me her reason in a few days.

"True to her word, she told me of her condition and I could not have pitied my own child more than I did her. When she imparted the knowledge I was dumbfounded and begged her to not go for a while. She finally decided to stay at my house for a couple of weeks and she worked for me around the house for $2 a week. One evening when I returned home she told me that she could stand the trouble no longer and that she was going to leave in the morning for Pittsburgh. I tried again to persuade her to remain but to no avail. She made arrangements with a local hackman to transfer her baggage and left for the Smoky City unaccompanied. I heard from her several times after she reached Pittsburgh, but have not heard from her for several weeks."

Following the conversation with Mrs. Hester the reporter accompanied Chief Wyman to the Woodey home in Bradshaw's addition. Mr. and Mrs. Woodey were at home, but for a few minutes they refused to open their mouths about their boy. Mrs. Woodey at first denied any knowledge of Clyde's whereabouts, but she finally concluded to tell what she knew and was much affected while talking.

"I know all about this trouble," said Mrs. Woodey. "This girl came to my house in March and told me of it. Her object in visiting the house was to see Clyde. He was out at the time and while we were waiting for his return the girl talked to me a little. She did not say much, but I understood what she wanted to say. I did not know her. I did not know but what she was of low parentage and knowing that she was older than my boy, I did not sympathize with her in the least. When Clyde returned he and the girl had a long talk in the parlor. She told him that she did not care whether he married her or not; that all she wanted was money sufficient to carry her through the trouble. Clyde did not seem to have any affection for her and told her that he would not provide the money. In tears the girl left and I never saw her afterwards. Clyde left home a few days later for Pomeroy, O. He heard that she had got a warrant out for his arrest. He is now in Pomeroy."

Mrs. Woodey was told of the girl's proud parentage and she said she was sorry that she had not advised her boy to marry her.

News of the death of Miss Mitchell was imparted to Mayor Weaver Saturday evening by W. D. Shannon, of the bureau of health of Pittsburgh. He called up the mayor by long distance telephone and talked for quite a while regarding the affair. If the information gained by Mr. Shannon be true, there is certainly a deep mystery surrounding the case. Mr. Shannon says that Miss Mitchell was taken to the Reinemann Maternity hospital about five weeks ago by two people whose names, according to the hospital authorities, were Mrs. Ellen Hester and Clyde Woodey, both of East Liverpool. The former denies strongly the assertion and the latter, his parents say, has not been out of Pomeroy for five months.

The hospital authorities say that the couple made arrangements for the girl to stay at the hospital. After being confined in the hospital for a few days, she gave birth to a child, a bright little boy. For a week she hovered between life and death and no friends coming to her aid, the matron of the hospital, upon being requested by a very wealthy family of Pittsburgh for the child, turned it over to them. Who the people are is not known. They were highly cultured and the matron thought the child would fare much better in their hands even if Miss Mitchell did recover.

Miss Mitchell was an inmate in the hospital for about two weeks when she developed a case of small pox. Mr. Shannon, for the bureau of health, made an investigation and had her removed at once to the Municipal hospital. While there she was delirious most of the time and talked freely of her trouble. She implicated only Woodey and spoke many times of Mrs. Hester. Saturday morning Mr. Shannon realized that she was near death's door and attempted to get a statement from her, but she kept her lips closed and died peacefully without telling anything while in a sane condition.

Mr. Shannon was much impressed with her wondrous beauty and refinement and feeling that she must have come of excellent parentage immediately took steps to locate her friends. With that determination he telephoned to Mayor Weaver. The mayor could give him but little satisfaction, knowing nothing of the girl or of the people whom she spoke of. The case was thoroughly investigated by the News Review reporter and Chief Wyman, and the former, in conversation by telephone with Mr. Shannon, yesterday afternoon, told Mr. Shannon of the girl's experience in this city.

"She was one of the prettiest girls I ever saw in the hospital," said Mr. Shannon. "I was very much impressed with her and determined to locate her people if possible. I am of the opinion that her real name is Irene Morgan. I have information that makes me think her parents are living in Sandysville, W. Va., and I am going to write them immediately. The poor girl was buried this afternoon in the Allegheny cemetery. As a rule such people are buried in the potters' field, but I could not endure the thought of having so beautiful a girl who bore every mark of a fine family placed in the potters' field. At the expense of $45 I had the body interred in the Allegheny cemetery."

The case is one of the most pathetic that has been presented at the Municipal hospital in years, and the authorities in Pittsburgh are very much worked up over it. They stated yesterday that they would locate Woodey and make him suffer for his part in the terrible affair, and would make a thorough investigation in all respects.

RECORDS BROKEN IN POLICE ACTIVITY

The Number of Arrests in Wellsville Saturday and Sunday Unusually Large.

During the day and in the evening Saturday and Sunday, more arrests were made by Railroad Detective Bowen and the city police officers than have been made here for many months.

Ernest Deerpawagon, who claims to come from New York; Andrew Brown, colored, of South Carolina; Hugh Haines, of Pittsburg; Thomas Gill and Thomas Tims were all arrested by Detective Bowen for train riding. With the exception of Gill and Tims, all were assessed $5.00 each. The latter two were assessed $4.00 each. Deerpawagon, Gill and Tims were the only ones able to effect a settlement with the mayor. The others are still in jail.

James Williams, of Cairo, W. Va., and George Curtis, of Pomeroy, O., both drunks, came down from East Liverpool Sunday in an effort to get "loose." They were promptly arrested by Officer Elliott. They were fined $5.00 each by the mayor this morning, but were unable to settle.

Joseph McKee, the Third street character, was arrested Sunday by Officer Henthorn on a charge of drunk and disorderly. He pleaded not guilty to the mayor this morning. He will be tried later.

Alfred Green, who had a charge placed against him last Wednesday for fighting and disturbing the peace and who was not arrested at the time, was taken into custody Saturday evening by Officer Melvaine. Green was drunk at the time. He was brought before the mayor Sunday and was fined $20 and costs. He arranged for settlement.

William McDewitt was placed in jail Saturday evening and a charge filed against him by Officer Elliott. McDewitt was drunk and disorderly. He was fined $5.00 which he paid.

Albert Knapp and Fred Haskins, two drunks arrested by Officers Henthorn and Elliott, were fined $9.00 each. They arranged to settle.

John Donahoe, a bartender in the employ of Joseph Geisse, was arrested at noon Sunday, being caught in the act of selling whisky to an old soldier, by Officer Henthorn. Mayor Fogo assessed Donahoe $29.00. He paid promptly and was released from custody.

BE YOUR OWN JUDGE

Mi-o-na Costs You Nothing, If It Does Not Cure. Says Will Reed.

Mi-o-na, the remarkable flesh-forming food and cure for dyspepsia, has won fame by the unusual way in which it is sold. It is the only remedy offered for the cure of dyspepsia which costs the user absolutely nothing unless it cures.

Will Reed, the popular druggist, is selling a great many packages of Mi-o-na and with every box is given his personal guarantee to refund the money if Mi-o-na does not give satisfaction, you to be your own judge as to whether the remedy helps or not.

Mi-o-na is an unusual combination. It is a flesh-forming food combined with agents that regulate the digestive organs and remove irritation, congestion and inflammation from the stomach, liver and intestines. It enables those organs to extract from the food all that goes to make good, rich blood, firm muscle, steady nerves and a sound body. It does not contain any pepsin, pancreatin or other drugs, that never effect a cure and rarely give even temporary relief.

Mi-o-na puts the digestive system in to proper working order, gives health, strength and good flesh, and is the natural cure for indigestion. Even in chronic cases, where life is one long drawn out pain, this remedy will effect a cure. It is the simplest and most reliable of all remedies. Just one tablet before or after meals and you can eat a hearty meal without distress.

If Mi-o-na does not do all that is claimed for it Will Reed will cheerfully refund your money.

will be held at this church at 8 o'clock Thursday morning. Miss Leibtag is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gabriel Leibtag, Main street, in this city, and Mr. Nagle is a popular East Liverpool plumber.

The Sunday school of the Pleasant Heights Methodist Protestant mission will hold a picnic in Nisson's grove Tuesday afternoon. The final arrangements were made yesterday, and the attendance promises to be very large. An invitation is extended to the congregation and schools of the downtown churches and it is likely they will attend in large numbers. LICE OF A BEAUTIFUL GIRL ENDS IN A HOSPITAL

she had better consider well her determination of leaving. She replied that it was absolutely necessary that she leave and told me she would give me her reason in a few days.

"True to her word, she told me of her condition and I could not have pitied my own child more than I did her. When she imparted the knowledge I was dumbfounder and begged her to not go for a while. She finally decided to stay at my house for a couple of weeks and she worked for me around the house for $2 a week. One evening when I returned home she told me that she could stand the trouble no longer and that she was going to leave in the morning for Pittsburg. I tried again to persuade her to remain but to no avail. She made arrangements with a local hackman to transfer her baggage and left for the Smoky City unaccompanied. I heard from her several times after she reached Pittsburg, but have not heard from her for several weeks."

Following the conversation with Mrs. Hester the reporter accompanied Chief Wyman to the Woodley home in Bradshaw's addition. Mr. and Mrs. Woodley were at home, but for a few minutes they refused to open their mouths about their boy. Mrs. Woodley at first denied any knowledge of Clyde's whereabouts, but she finally concluded to tell what she knew and was much affected while talking.

"I know all about this trouble," said Mrs. Woodley. "This girl came to my house in March and told me of it. Her object in visiting the house was to see Clyde. He was out at the time and while we were waiting for his return the girl talked to me a little. She did not say much, but I understood what she wanted to say. I did not know her. I did not know but what she was of low parentage and knowing that she was older than my boy, I did not sympathize with her in the least. When Clyde returned he and the girl had a long talk in the parlor. She told him that she did not care whether he married her or not; that all she wanted was money sufficient to carry her through the trouble. Clyde did not seem to have any affection for her and told her that he would not provide the money. In tears the girl left and I never saw her afterwards. Clyde left home a few days later for Pomeroy, O. He heard that she had got a warrant out for his arrest. He is now in Pomeroy."

Mrs. Woodley was told of the girl's proud parentage and she said she was sorry that she had not advised her boy to marry her.

News of the death of Miss Mitchell was imparted to Mayor Weaver Saturday evening by W. D. Shannon, of the bureau of health of Pittsburg. He called up the mayor by long distance telephone and talked for quite a while regarding the affair. If the information gained by Mr. Shannon be true, there is certainly a deep mystery surrounding the case. Mr. Shannon says that Miss Mitchell was taken to the Reinemann Maternity hospital about five weeks ago by two people whose names, according to the hospital authorities, were Mrs. Ellen Hester and Clyde Woodley, both of East Liverpool. The former denies strongly the assertion and the latter, his parents say, has not been out of Pomeroy for five months.

The hospital authorities say that the couple made arrangements for the girl to stay at the hospital. After being confined in the hospital for a few days, she gave birth to a child, a bright little boy. For a week she hovered between life and death and no friends coming to her aid, the matron of the hospital, upon being requested by a very wealthy family of Pittsburg for the child, turned it over to them. Who the people are is not known. They were highly cultured and the matron thought the child would fare much better in their hands even if Miss Mitchell did recover.

Miss Mitchell was an inmate in the hospital for about two weeks when she developed a case of small pox. Mr. Shannon, for the bureau of health, made an investigation and had her removed at once to the Municipal hospital. While there she was delirious most of the time and talked freely of her trouble. She implicated only Woodley and spoke many times of Mrs. Hester. Saturday morning Mr. Shannon realized that she was near death's door and attempted to get a statement from her, but she kept her lips closed and died peacefully without telling anything while in a sane condition.

Mr. Shannon was much impressed with her wondrous beauty and refinement and feeling that she must have come of excellent parentage immediately took steps to locate her friends. With that determination he telephoned to Mayor Weaver. The mayor could give him but little satisfaction, knowing nothing of the girl or of the people whom she spoke of. The case was thoroughly investigated by the News Review reporter and Chief Wyman, and the former, in conversation by telephone with Mr. Shannon, yesterday afternoon, told Mr. Shannon of the girl's experience in this city.

"She was one of the prettiest girls I ever saw in the hospital," said Mr. Shannon. "I was very much impressed with her and determined to locate her people if possible. I am of the opinion that her real name is Irene Morgan. I have information that makes me think her parents are living in Sandysville, W. Va., and I am going to write them immediately. The poor girl was buried this afternoon in the Allegheny cemetery. As a rule such people are buried in the potters' field, but I could not endure the thought of having so beautiful a girl who bore every mark of a fine family placed in the potters' field. At the expense of $45 I had the body interred in the Allegheny cemetery."

The case is one of the most pathetic that has been presented at the Municipal hospital in years, and the authorities in Pittsburg are very much worked up over it. They stated yesterday that they would locate Woodley and make him suffer for his part in the terrible affair, and would make a thorough investigation in all respects.

Salineville lost to the locals Saturday afternoon in West End park by a score of 3 to 2. A faster or prettier game could not be anticipated and the fans well appreciated the exhibition. That Captain Reark's bunch came out of the battle victorious was not altogether due to fast playing. The coal miners had the game won several times if they had only been onto the knack of base running. In this feature alone they are short and to it they can credit the defeat. Upon at least two occasions with but one man out they had a couple of men on bases and by foolhardy attempts to steal a base were caught. As a result in each instance two runs were cut off and the game was won by the locals.

The contest was thrilling in every sense of the word. The fans were on edges at every stage. They realized that the visitors were putting up about the fastest fielding game that has been played on local diamonds this season and knew that a chance hit would be sufficient to give them a victory. This fact together with the truth that the locals were not so swift in the infield kept them on the qui vive. However, the locals played an errorless game in every feature, but at second and third bases gave them a lead and the points that could not be downed by the diggers of the black diamonds.

It was pleasing to every spectator to see the work of the visitors in the infield. The boys of Salineville showed the fans that experience had taught them to handle the sphere with wonderful skill. They were never found wanting. Lang and McCullough accepted every chance and their exhibition would make even Hans Wagner open his optics with wonder.

In the first inning it looked very much as if the locals were going to have everything as they wished. Indeed, the fans were of the impression that there would be nothing to it. Gibson was the first man up and he pounded the first one delivered by Ferrall. Though he did not reach the initial bag it was evident that the long, lanky pitcher's delivery was not puzzling and hopes were bright. Houser, the best ball player that Wellsville was ever known to produce, was playing at short for the Crockery City knights and being the next man up determined to once more demonstrate his superiority. That he did it can be told better by Left-fielder Davidson, who made the longest run of his life in attempting to head Houser off and keep him from making a three bagger. In his attempt he was defeated. Houser easily gained the third bag on the throw in, it being fumbled by Ferrall, he was allowed to make an easy home run of the long fly. Wallace went out on a speedy one to short. Brown worried the pitcher into a fever of philanthropy, who very graciously allowed him to walk. Big Fred Heckathorn, the old time hero, who, judged from every standpoint is about the best that East Liverpool has fostered in years, stepped quietly to the base, leaned back on his one pin and the hand that he dealt was surely a winner. Notwithstanding that he is wonderfully handicapped in running, he cleared three bases as slick as a whistle and scored Brown handsly. Reark died on a pretty one to short and the inning was at an end with the locals two to the good.

The miners put a decidedly different phase on the situation in their half of the fourth. Davidson expired on a hot one to Webb, but Rourke thought that maybe Webb was only fooling and found it to be true when he sent one with whiskers attached into the second baseman's mit. The latter fumbled it and the big right fielder had no trouble in reaching first. Madison landed on one for a pretty hit and while Lawrence was giving Strabley a dose of "strikerouts" both men advanced a peg. Ferrall took advantage of the opportunity and playing on one for two bases tied the score. Stevens could not keep the good work up, croaking at first.

Fearing that they were up against the real thing, the locals made another spurt in their half of the inning, scoring a run on two hits. Both sides tried with vigor to change the standing from that time on, but were unsuccessful and the ninth inning ended with one more scalp buckled onto the belt of Captain Reark. The score:

Features of the Game.

Wallace drew a blank on the score sheet.

Brown had a couple of errors, but his other good work overbalanced them and he is yet the pride of the fans.

Webb was not slow with the stick. He showed some of his old time ability, pouncing on them when a run was in jeopardy.

Lawrence pitched a pretty game. He allowed quite a number of hits, but kept them scattered and in reality had the visitors at his mercy.

McCullough is a great short stop. He certainly will not play with slow company much longer. His ability to pick up any old ball, no difference how hot, is wonderful.

Lang is about the speediest third baseman on the market. Better days are in store for him if he continues playing such a game as he exhibited in this contest. He is clean and antagonistic.

Vasbinder, the ex-leaguer who was fired from last company because he wanted to visit his wife when she was on her death bed, covered nearly the entire outfield. His preferred position is in the box, but he is all right any place.

The Salineville bunch having shown the local fans their ability, and everyone being exultant over their fine work, it is advised that the local management arrange for a series of games to be played in the near future. The coal miners will certainly draw and will be a paying card.

The game was witnessed by a big crowd and though one-sided, was full of interest and many good plays were noted. Alexander and Grim were the battery for the winners and Robins and Lucas for the losers. Alexander struck out 12 men.

INTERESTING GAME
AT WELLSVILLE

West End Athletics of That City Defeated the Mingo Team Saturday.

One of the most interesting and well attended base ball games that has been played at Central park in Wellsville since its first team broke up, was that played Saturday afternoon between the West End Athletics, Wellsville's second team, and the team from the Mingo Works at Mingo. The result was a victory for the locals. The final score was 11 to 2.

College was in the box for the locals in the first and second innings, but when he went to bat in the latter half of the second inning he had the

It seemed to be Patterson's banner day. He had an unlimited amount of speed, and used it with telling effect. He struck out eight men during the seven innings that he was on the rubber.

The Mingo team played a strong game, but were outclassed. The score follows:

Legal Stars Won Again.

The Legal Stars defeated the Brunos of Wellsville, Saturday by a score of 16 to 4. The pitcher for the Stars struck out 18 men. The Stars left this morning for Rochester, where they play this afternoon.

SPORTING MICELLANY.

The Youngstown Ohio Works team has won 16 out of the 19 games played.

Rube Waddell was knocked out of the box in the sixth inning Friday by the Chicago White Sox.

Major Wolf, Toronto's fastest pacing horse, Thos. Price, was sold to Louis McClelland, of Yellow Creek, for the sum of $1000.

The Kent baseball club has the best record of all teams in its class in the state, having played 29 games, winning 30, tying one and losing eight. It has won the series from 15 teams, is tied with one, the Ohio Works team, and has lost two.

Catcher Sullivan, of the White Sox, minus his vermiform appendix, is able to practice again, but will probably not play in a game before September.

McGinnity is an "iron man" two ways. He can pitch two winning games of ball in one afternoon and engage in the iron business at South McAlester, I. T., when not playing ball.

Six straight victories down the grand circuit have made Billy Buck look like the champion trotter of 1903, and E. E. Smathers, of New York, wanted him so much that he gave Ed. Geers $15,000 for the son of St. Clair. This is $2,500 more than C. K. G. Billings paid for Lou Dillon and as such as Billings paid for The Monk.

ROOSEVELT ADDRESSES MEETING

Disagreeable Weather Does Not Dampen Ardor of Crowd
at Oyster Bay.

Oyster Bay, Aug. 17.—President Roosevelt delivered the principal address at the quarterly meeting of the society of the Holy Name, of Brooklyn and Long Island. Decency of speech and conduct constituted the theme of his address, which was enthusiastically applauded by an audience of more than 2,000 persons, chiefly men.

Special trains brought hundreds of members of the society to Oyster Bay from Brooklyn and Western Long Island. Threatening weather kept many away, but, although a light rain fell during the exercises, the crowd remained banked about the flag-decked stand on a beautiful hill opposite St. Dominic's Catholic church.

As President Roosevelt drove up to the stand in a closed carriage, accompanied by Captain W. H. Brown, superintendent of the naval academy, Secretary Barnes and a representative of the society, he was accorded an enthusiastic reception, a band the while playing "Hail to the Chief."

After the audience had sung "America," Father Powers, rector of St. Dominic's, introduced the president in a felicitous speech, in which he spoke of the esteem in which Mr. Roosevelt is held by Catholics of this country.

Fatally Shot by Sheriff.

Springfield, O., Aug. 17.—Andrew Myers was fatally shot by Sheriff Rountzahn while resisting arrest on the charge of highway robbery. The posse went to Myers' house, near South Charleston, where it was met by the fugitive with drawn revolvers. The officers fired several shots, two of which took effect. A few hours previous Myers had escaped from Detective John T. Norris after giving him a bad beating. With another man Myers brutally assaulted C. O. Hayes, a wealthy farmer, and after taking his valuables threw him in a fence corner. The posse is scouring the country for his accomplice.

Pope Discusses Philippine Situation.

Rome, Aug. 17.—The pope received at a private audience in his apartment Archbishop Harty (who was consecrated archbishop of Manila by Cardinal Satolli), with whom he spoke at length about the situation in the Philippine islands, showing himself fully conversant with the state of affairs there. Pius X. said the efforts of the clergy towards the pacification of the archipelago and the triumph of Catholicism would always receive the warmest support at Rome. He presented Archbishop Harty with a beautiful episcopal pectoral cross. Archbishop Harty then presented to the pontiff his secretary, Monsignor W. Fowler, and Father Donohue, of Alabama, to both of whom the pope addressed very kind words.

Condition of Affairs in Macedonia Under Turkey's Reform Administration.

MANY MASSACRES CHARGED

Truthfulness of Statement Vouched for by Bulgarian Government—Era of Promised Reform Operates in Contrary Direction.

Constantinople, Aug. 17.—The British ambassador has called the attention of the porte to the serious situation in Macedonia. He pointed out that grave consequences may attend fresh murders of consuls or foreign subjects. The ambassador had an audience with the sultan on Friday.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Aug. 17.—The Bulgarian government has presented a memorandum to the powers setting out at great length the condition of affairs during the past three months in Macedonia since the Turkish government undertook to inaugurate the promised reforms. The most precise details, dates, places and names of persons are given in the memorandum, the whole constituting a terrible category of murder, torture, incendiarism, pillage and general oppression committed by the Ottoman soldiers and officials. These particulars were obtained entirely from official sources, such as the reports of the Bulgarian consuls and agents of the Bulgarian government and, in many instances, the reports made by Turkish authorities. The Bulgarian government guarantees the absolute truth of every statement and challenges the porte to disprove a single charge made in the memorandum.

The memorandum begins by stating that during the past three months the Ottoman government has taken a series of measures with the alleged intention of inaugurating the era of promised reform and of assuring peace and tranquility to the Bulgarian population of European Turkey, but which have had the contrary effect of further exasperating this population and reviving the revolutionary movement. Instead of proceeding solely against persons guilty of breaches of public order, the military and civil authorities have sought every possible pretext to persecute, terrorize and ruin the Bulgarian inhabitants, alike in the large cities and in the small villages.

Wholesale massacres, individual murders, the destruction of villages, the pillaging and setting fire to houses, the arrests, ill treatment, tortures, arbitrary imprisonment and banishment, the closing and disorganizing of churches and schools, the ruining of merchants, the collection of taxes for many years in advance—such proceeds the memorandum, are among the acts of the Ottoman administration of the vilayets of Salonica, Monastir, Uskub and Adrianople.

Altogether the memorandum gives particulars of no less than 131 individual and general cases of excess and outrages committed by the Turkish authorities. In summarizing the specific details of the outrages mentioned the memorandum declares that wholesale massacres were perpetrated by regulars and Bashi-Bazouks in the town of Salonica and the villages of Baldevo, Banitz, Tchoukrovo, Moghila, Smerdesch and Endjide, while the scenes of carnage, pillage and incendiarism were everywhere terrible. At Smerdesch over 200 Bulgarians were shot, killed with swords or burned to death. Over 250 houses and the churches and schools were set on fire with petroleum and pillaged, the property being sold by the soldiers and Bashi-Bazouks in neighboring places. Similar scenes occurred at the villages of Gorna-Ribnitsa, Igoumenetz, Dobrilaki and Nikoden. The villagers there abandoned their homes and fled to the mountains. Over 3,000 men, women and children fled from the sanjak of Seres and even more from the sanjak of Krikklasse.

It is difficult, says the memorandum, to obtain the exact number of Bulgarians who were imprisoned, mostly on the flimsiest pretexts, as when they were released others were immediately arrested. The estimates obtainable give for the vilayet of Salonica 900 prisoners; for Uskub, 500; for Monastir, 850, and for Adrianople, 550—a grand total of 2,800. As information is lacking from many districts in these vilayets it is thought that without exaggeration the number of prisoners may be placed at even three times this total.

Salineville lost to the locals Saturday afternoon in West End park by a score of 3 to 2. A faster or prettier game could not be anticipated and the fans well appreciated the exhibition. That Captain Reark's bunch came out of the battle victorious was not altogether due to fast playing. The coal miners had the game won several times if they had only been onto the knack of base running. In this feature alone they are short and to it they can credit the defeat. Upon at least two occasions with but one man out they had a couple of men on bases and by foolhardy attempts to steal a base were caught. As a result in each instance two runs were cut off and the game was won by the locals.

The contest was thrilling in every sense of the word. The fans were on edges at every stage. They realized that the visitors were putting up about the fastest fielding game that has been played on local diamonds this season and knew that a chance hit would be sufficient to give them a victory. This fact together with the truth that the locals were not so swift in the infield kept them on the qui vive. However, the locals played an errorless game in every feature, but at second and third bases gave them a lead and the points that could not be downed by the diggers of the black diamonds.

It was pleasing to every spectator to see the work of the visitors in the infield. The boys of Salineville showed the fans that experience had taught them to handle the sphere with wonderful skill. They were never found wanting. Lang and McCullough accepted every chance and their exhibition would make even Hans Wagner open his optics with wonder.

In the first inning it looked very much as if the locals were going to have everything as they wished. Indeed, the fans were of the impression that there would be nothing to it. Gibson was the first man up and he pounded the first one delivered by Ferrall. Though he did not reach the initial bag it was evident that the long, lanky pitcher's delivery was not puzzling and hopes were bright. Houser, the best ball player that Wellsville was ever known to produce, was playing at short for the Crockery City knights and being the next man up determined to once more demonstrate his superiority. That he did it can be told better by Left-fielder Davidson, who made the longest run of his life in attempting to head Houser off and keep him from making a three bagger. In his attempt he was defeated. Houser easily gained the third bag on the throw in, it being fumbled by Ferrall, he was allowed to make an easy home run of the long fly. Wallace went out on a speedy one to short. Brown worried the pitcher into a fever of philanthropy, who very graciously allowed him to walk. Big Fred Heckathorn, the old time hero, who, judged from every standpoint is about the best that East Liverpool has fostered in years, stepped quietly to the base, leaned back on his one pin and the hand that he dealt was surely a winner. Notwithstanding that he is wonderfully handicapped in running, he cleared three bases as slick as a whistle and scored Brown handily. Reark died on a pretty one to short and the inning was at an end with the locals two to the good.

The miners put a decidedly different phase on the situation in their half of the fourth. Davidson expired on a hot one to Webb, but Rourke thought that maybe Webb was only fooling and found it to be true when he sent one with whiskers attached into the second baseman's mit. The latter fumbled it and the big right fielder had no trouble in reaching first. Madison landed on one for a pretty hit and while Lawrence was giving Strablen a dose of "strikeroutsky" both men advanced a peg. Ferrall took advantage of the opportunity and playing on one for two bases tied the score. Stevens could not keep the good work up, croaking at first.

Fearing that they were up against the real thing, the locals made another spurt in their half of the inning, scoring a run on two hits. Both sides tried with vigor to change the standing from that time on, but were unsuccessful and the ninth inning ended with one more scalp buckled onto the belt of Captain Reark. The score:

Features of the Game.
Wallace drew a blank on the score sheet.

Brown had a couple of errors, but his other good work overbalanced them and he is yet the pride of the fans.

Webb was not slow with the stick. He showed some of his old time ability, pouncing on them when a run was in jeopardy.

Lawrence pitched a pretty game. He allowed quite a number of hits, but kept them scattered and in reality had the visitors at his mercy.

McCullough is a great short stop. He certainly will not play with slow company much longer. His ability to pick up any old ball, no difference how hot, is wonderful.

Lang is about the speediest third baseman on the market. Better days are in store for him if he continues playing such a game as he exhibited in this contest. He is clean and antagonistic.

Vasbinder, the ex-leaguer who was fired from last company because he wanted to visit his wife when she was on her death bed, covered nearly the entire outfield. His preferred position is in the box, but he is all right any place.

The Salineville bunch having shown the local fans their ability, and everyone being exultant over their fine work, it is advised that the local management arrange for a series of games to be played in the near future. The coal miners will certainly draw and will be a paying card.

INTERESTING GAME AT WELLSVILLE

West End Athletics of That City Defeated the Mingo Team Saturday.

One of the most interesting and well attended base ball games that has been played at Central park in Wellsville since its first team broke up, was that played Saturday afternoon between the West End Athletics, Wellsville's second team, and the team from the Mingo Works at Mingo. The result was a victory for the locals. The final score was 11 to 2.

College was in the box for the locals in the first and second innings, but when he went to bat in the latter half of the second inning he had the

It seemed to be Patterson's banner day. He had an unlimited amount of speed, and used it with telling effect. He struck out eight men during the seven innings that he was on the rubber.

The Mingo team played a strong game, but were outclassed. The score follows:

Legal Stars Won Again.

The Legal Stars defeated the Brunos of Wellsville, Saturday by a score of 16 to 4. The pitcher for the Stars struck out 18 men. The Stars left this morning for Rochester, where they play this afternoon.

SPORTING MICELLANY.

The Youngstown Ohio Works team has won 16 out of the 19 games played.

Rube Waddell was knocked out of the box in the sixth inning Friday by the Chicago White Socks.

Major Wolf, Toronto's fastest pacing horse, Thos. Price, was sold to Louis McClelland, of Yellow Creek, for the sum of $1000.

The Kent baseball club has the best record of all teams in its class in the state, having played 29 games, winning 30, tying one and losing eight. It has won the series from 15 teams, 13

tied with one, the Ohio Works team, and has lost two.

Catcher Sullivan, of the White Sox, minus his vermiform appendix, is able to practice again, but will probably not play in a game before September.

McGinnity is an "iron man" two ways. He can pitch two winning games of ball in one afternoon and engage in the iron business at South McAlester, I. T., when not playing ball.

Six straight victories down the grand circuit have made Billy Buck look like the champion trotter of 1903, and E. E. Smathers, of New York, wanted him so much that he gave Ed. Geers $15,000 for the son of St. Clair. This is $2,500 more than C. K. G. Billings paid for Lon Dillon and as such as Billings paid for The Monk.

MANY MASSACRES CHARGED

Truthfulness of Statement Vouched for by Bulgarian Government—Era of Promised Reform Operates in Contrary Direction.

Constantinople, Aug. 17.—The British ambassador has called the attention of the porte to the serious situation in Macedonia. He pointed out that grave consequences may attend fresh murders of consuls or foreign subjects. The ambassador had an audience with the sultan on Friday.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Aug. 17.—The Bulgarian government has presented a memorandum to the powers setting out at great length the condition of affairs during the past three months in Macedonia since the Turkish government undertook to inaugurate the promised reforms. The most precise details, dates, places and names of persons are given in the memorandum, the whole constituting a terrible category of murder, torture, incendiarism, pillage and general oppression committed by the Ottoman soldiers and officials. These particulars were obtained entirely from official sources, such as the reports of the Bulgarian consuls and agents of the Bulgarian government and, in many instances, the reports made by Turkish authorities. The Bulgarian government guarantees the absolute truth of every statement and challenges the porte to disprove a single charge made in the memorandum.

The memorandum begins by stating that during the past three months the Ottoman government has taken a series of measures with the alleged intention of inaugurating the era of promised reform and of assuring peace and tranquility to the Bulgarian population of European Turkey, but which have had the contrary effect of further exasperating this population and reviving the revolutionary movement. Instead of proceeding solely against persons guilty of breaches of public order, the military and civil authorities have sought every possible pretext to persecute, terrorize and ruin the Bulgarian inhabitants, alike in the large cities and in the small villages. Wholesale massacres, individual murders, the destruction of villages, the pillaging and setting fire to houses, the arrests, ill treatment, tortures, arbitrary imprisonment and banishment, the closing and disorganizing of churches and schools, the ruining of merchants, the collection of taxes for many years in advance—such, proceeds the memorandum, are among the acts of the Ottoman administration of the vilayets of Salonica, Monastir, Uskub and Adrianople.

Altogether the memorandum gives particulars of no less than 131 individual and general cases of excess and outrages committed by the Turkish authorities. In summarizing the specific details of the outrages mentioned the memorandum declares that wholesale massacres were perpetrated by regulars and Bashi-Bazouks in the town of Salonica and the villages of Baldevo, Banitzia, Tchourilovo, Moghila, Smerdesch and Enidje, while the scenes of carnage, pillage and incendiarism were everywhere terrible. At Smerdesch over 200 Bulgarians were shot, killed with swords or burned to death. Over 250 houses and the churches and schools were set on fire with petroleum and pillaged, the property being sold by the soldiers and Bashi-Bazouks in neighboring places. Similar scenes occurred at the villages of Gorna-Ribitzia, Igoumenetz, Dobrilaki and Nikoden. The villagers there abandoned their homes and fled to the mountains. Over 3,000 men, women and children fled from the sanjak of Seres and even more from the sanjak of Kırklisse.

It is difficult, says the memorandum, to obtain the exact number of Bulgarians who were imprisoned, mostly on the flimsiest pretexts, as when they were released others were immediately arrested. The estimates obtained give for the vilayet of Salonica 900 prisoners; for Uskub, 500; for Monastir, 850, and for Adrianople, 550—a grand total of 2,800. As information is lacking from many districts in these vilayets it is thought that without exaggeration the number of prisoners may be placed at even three times this total.

AN UGLY FALL DUE TO WATERMELON SEED

It Causes a Little Girl to Slip On the Floor and Break Her Leg.

A watermelon seed is thought to be responsible for a serious injury sustained yesterday by Ellen Stevens, aged 8 years, at the home of her mother, Mrs. S. W. Stevens, on Lincoln avenue. The child, while playing about the kitchen, shortly after 9 o'clock in the morning, stepped upon the seed and was thrown violently to the floor. Members of the family came to her assistance and seeing that it was impossible to move her limb, they concluded it was broken. Dr. Hobbs was called and his examination showed that the leg had been fractured at the thigh.

The fracture is causing the little girl a great deal of pain and today, though improved, she was quite restless and evidently suffering greatly.

SOUTH SIDE

THE JACKSONS NOT YET ARRESTED

Thomas Jackson Says He Has Dared the Authorities to Arrest Him.

There are no new developments in the case against the Jacksons. The warrants are still out and the authorities assert they will be served as soon as an opportunity presents itself.

The suits consist of three actions, one against William Jackson, another against Thomas Jackson and the last against the father of both, R. H. Jackson. The affidavits are all worded alike, and contain the allegation that the men are accused of appropriating a calf aged about three weeks, and of the value of $6. For some unaccountable reason Sergeant Allison, in whose hands the warrants were placed, has not served the papers.

Thomas Jackson stated Saturday that he had appeared at the office of Justice Johnston and dared the authorities to arrest him. When told of the statement made by Jackson this morning, Justice Johnston said: "If he was even on this side of the river, during my absence. I do not believe he was even on this side of the river. The charge has been regularly filed, and if any of the accused make their appearance in Chester they will certainly be called upon to face the charge."

William B. Hoy is the man who made the information and in each case his name is attached to the affidavit. He claims to be in possession of sufficient evidence to warrant a conviction.

WRENCHED HIS BACK LEADING A COW

Mill Man Badly Injured by Struggle With a Frantic Animal.

John R. Cunningham, a catcher at the Chester plant of the American Tin Plate company, is lying at his home in Lawrenceville suffering from an attack of spinal disease the result of a tussle he had with a cow last evening.

Cunningham had occasion to remove a fractious cow from one point to another and in some manner wrenched his back. Little was thought of the accident at the time, and this morning he went to work at the mill as usual. He had been engaged but a short time when the injury to his back, together with the extreme heat completely overcame him and he fainted away. The men at the mill immediately took steps to have the injured man taken to his home in Lawrenceville, where Dr. Donehue made an examination. The latter is authority for the statement that Cunningham is in a very bad way. If he recovers at all he will be a cripple, and the chances for his getting well are small.

BUTTER IS SCARCE

The Farmers of Hancock County Might Make It Profitable to Start a Creamery.

The farmers of Hancock county who have an interest in the matter making industry have about reached the conclusion that unless some radical reforms are introduced there will be a butter famine. Butter of a satisfactory make is a scarce commodity and when the creamery competition is considered the outlook is discouraging.

So long as butter is produced in a small way with much toil it is not to be wondered they are not enthusiastic, and again they receive from 5 to 8 cents per pound less than the creamery people get. The country product is equally well flavored and by some considered superior but it cannot compete with that made by a system, in large quantities with surroundings of perfect cleanliness under the supervision of experienced men. If the people of this section really care to stay in the butter business they must furnish a more regular supply and it would seem they could best do this by organizing a company and carrying on a creamery plant of their own on a small scale at first, increasing as their product becomes better known. They could in this manner with much less labor dispose of their dairy product at regular

THOUSANDS AT THE PARK

The Free Shows Enjoyed By Great Numbers of People Yesterday.

The largest Sunday crowd of the season was at Rock Spring yesterday. It is estimated that fully 2,000 people visited the resort during the afternoon and evening, and though very orderly, apparently enjoyed the outing to the full.

The free exhibition given by the park management at the theatre in the evening was attended by nearly 1,700 people, and was one of the most pleasing entertainments held at the park during the present season. The new summer theatre was packed to the doors, and there were several hundred visitors who were unable to gain admission.

The vaudeville show provided for the entertainment of those who attend the theatre this week is the very best of the season, and will be appreciated by all who attend.

Since that time the tipple and other equipment has been permitted to fall into decay.

THE JACKSONS NOT YET ARRESTED

Thomas Jackson Says He Has Dared the Authorities to Arrest Him.

There are no new developments in the case against the Jacksons. The warrants are still out and the authorities assert they will be served as soon as an opportunity presents itself.

The suits consist of three actions, one against William Jackson, another against Thomas Jackson and the last against the father of both, R. H. Jackson. The affidavits are all worded alike, and contain the allegation that the men are accused of appropriating a calf aged about three weeks, and of the value of $6. For some unaccountable reason Sergeant Allison, in whose hands the warrants were placed, has not served the papers.

Thomas Jackson stated Saturday that he had appeared at the office of Justice Johnston and dared the authorities to arrest him. When told of the statement made by Jackson this morning, Justice Johnston said: "If he was even on this side of the river, during my absence. I do not believe he was even on this side of the river. The charge has been regularly filed, and if any of the accused make their appearance in Chester they will certainly be called upon to face the charge."

William B. Hoy is the man who made the information and in each case his name is attached to the affidavit. He claims to be in possession of sufficient evidence to warrant a conviction.

WRENCHED HIS BACK LEADING A COW

Mill Man Badly Injured by Struggle With a Frantic Animal.

John R. Cunningham, a catcher at the Chester plant of the American Tin Plate company, is lying at his home in Lawrenceville suffering from an attack of spinal disease the result of a tussle he had with a cow last evening.

Cunningham had occasion to remove a fractious cow from one point to another and in some manner wrenched his back. Little was thought of the accident at the time, and this morning he went to work at the mill as usual. He had been engaged but a short time when the injury to his back, together with the extreme heat completely overcame him and he fainted away. The men at the mill immediately took steps to have the injured man taken to his home in Lawrenceville, where Dr. Donehoo made an examination. The latter is authority for the statement that Cunningham is in a very bad way. If he recovers at all he will be a cripple, and the chances for his getting well are small.

BUTTER IS SCARCE

The Farmers of Hancock County Might Make It Profitable to Start a Creamery.

The farmers of Hancock county who have an interest in the matter making industry have about reached the conclusion that unless some radical reforms are introduced there will be a butter famine. Butter of a satisfactory make is a scarce commodity and when the creamery competition is considered the outlook is discouraging.

So long as butter is produced in a small way with much toil it is not to be wondered they are not enthusiastic, and again they receive from 5 to 8 cents per pound less than the creamery people get. The country product is equally well flavored and by some considered superior but it cannot compete with that made by a system, in large quantities with surroundings of perfect cleanliness under the supervision of experienced men. If the people of this section really care to stay in the butter business they must furnish a more regular supply and it would seem they could best do this by organizing a company and carrying on a creamery plant of their own on a small scale at first, increasing as their product becomes better known. They could in this manner with much less labor dispose of their dairy product at regular

The Free Shows Enjoyed By Great Numbers of People Yesterday.

The largest Sunday crowd of the season was at Rock Spring yesterday. It is estimated that fully 2,000 people visited the resort during the afternoon and evening, and though very orderly, apparently enjoyed the outing to the full.

The free exhibition given by the park management at the theatre in the evening was attended by nearly 1,700 people, and was one of the most pleasing entertainments held at the park during the present season. The new summer theatre was packed to the doors, and there were several hundred visitors who were unable to gain admission.

The vaudeville show provided for the entertainment of those who attend the theatre this week is the very best of the season, and will be appreciated by all who attend.

Old Mines to Be Started.

It is announced that the old abandoned coal mines near Brilliant will be opened in a short time by W. H. Pool, the well known capitalist. Pool has control of 200 acres of coal land in that vicinity. Since that time the tipples and other equipment has been permitted to fall into decay.

LIFE OF A BEAUTIFUL GIRL ENDS IN SMALLPOX HOSPITAL

Betrayed, and Scorned

Irene Mitchell, of This City, Is Dead.

KINDNESS OF OFFICER

After Her Mother and Her

SAD STORY OF SCHOOL TEACHER

Who Came From Down the River to
Work in This City—Left Town
Mysteriously Last March and Her
Friends Next Told of Her Death.

Cruelly deserted by the one who had wronged her, shunned by all her associates in this city and locality and warned by her mother to never darken again the doorway of her childhood home, pretty Irene Mitchell, aged 21, left East Liverpool one cold and bleak day during the latter part of last March for Pittsburgh, where she hoped to live down her disgrace before returning to the ones who had once honored and respected her. Her fond anticipation was cut short last Saturday morning, when she died at the Municipal hospital in Pittsburgh, from smallpox, which closely followed child birth.

The story of Miss Mitchell's death is sad indeed, and has appealed very forcibly to her scores of acquaintances in this city. Implicating as it does, several well known people, there are none who will not be deeply interested in every detail leading up to the untimely demise and few who will ever forget its heart-rending features. The poor girl was handsome, having a fair complexion, affectionate brown eyes and auburn hair of rare beauty. She was refined, well educated and the child of highly respected parents. Born in Sandville, near Ravenswood, W. Va., she attended school until 16 years of age when she acquired sufficient knowledge to secure a teacher's certificate. Being particularly bright and intelligent, she had no trouble in getting a school and taught in country localities for several years.

While yet teaching her father died and it was not long after that until her mother married a man by the name of Morgan. It seems that the marriage had a tendency to break up the household and Irene decided to leave her home. She came to East Liverpool about a year ago, and though competent to hold a much better and more responsible position, first secured employment in the tin mill at Chester. It was there that she met the person who, she said, ruined her, and subsequently caused the terrible ending to her most promising career.

Miss Mitchell had worked at the tin mill but a few weeks when she met Clyde Woodley, the 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodley, of Bradshaw's location. The senior Woodley is a carpenter and with his family moved to this city in October, 1902, from Orange township, Meigs county. Shortly after the meeting of Clyde and Irene they became much infatuated, the love being mutual and the girl's downfall came in a very short period. Both were very intimate for several months and kept constant company until during the first of March, when Irene, realizing her condition, appealed to Clyde for his consent to either marry her or provide money enough to take her away from any and everyone who knew her.

Time and again the girl, who was becoming frantic, appealed in vain to her lover. He, it is said, showed a coldness that was very trying to her. After making so many fruitless attempts to gain sympathy and help from Woodley, she determined to leave the city. Meantime she had given up her work at the tin mill and obtained employment at the Edwin M. Knowles pottery in Chester. Mrs. Ellen Hester, who is forelady at the pottery, gave her work. She boarded with Mrs. Hester for several weeks prior to leaving the city. Mrs. Hester stated yesterday to a News Review reporter that Irene was known to her for several months and that she was one of the brightest and nicest looking girls she had ever met.

"Irene started to work in the pottery for me in February," said Mrs. Hester. "She worked with a will and I do believe was the most industrious girl I had under me. During the early part of March she came to me and said that she was going to quit. I had just raised her wages from 87 cents to $1 per day and told her that

CAME VERY NEAR GETTING KILLED

Man Who Personated an Officer Got a Bad Beating as a Result.

UNCONSCIOUS MANY HOURS

A man by the name of Wright came very near being killed in the Jethro hollow Saturday night as the result of a most foolish act. He secured an officer's badge and placing it on his coat, went to the door of a disorderly house in that section, intending to frighten the inmates. He applied at the door and after being admitted, displayed the badge.

Hardly had he done so when two male persons on the inside recognized him to be a fake and they pounced on him in great style. They knocked him to the floor and beat him into a terrible state. While unconscious, his nose broken and his face otherwise badly bruised, he was carried on an old overcoat to the Jethro bridge, where he was left to his fate. He did not regain consciousness until early Sunday morning and it was with great difficulty that he walked away.

Passersby noticed the coat lying under the bridge and they, seeing the blood, were not long in advancing a murder theory. It was dispelled in a short time, the true phase becoming known.

DEMENTED GIRL ARRIVED IN TOWN

CONDUCT AT A HOTEL RENDERED

The Unfortunate Now Being Cared For
By Relatives—Came Here Alone.

Suffering from dementia, Miss Margaret Stype, a handsome young lady, about 22 years of age, was brought to the home of a near relative on Third street, from Cleveland late Saturday night. The girl had been visiting relatives here and insisted on coming here instead of being returned to Anderson, Ind., where she had been employed as a bookkeeper. Symptoms of insanity were first noticed at the hotel in Cleveland, where Miss Stype had registered. Her first suspicious act was to repeatedly ring the call bell in her room and in this way the suspicions of the hotel attaches were aroused. It was found necessary a short time later to place a guard over her. Friends in Indiana were telegraphed for, but Miss Stype would not accompany them, insisting on coming to this city. The trip here from Cleveland was full of incident owing to the girl's unfortunate condition.

The demented girl was at once taken to the home of her relative on Third street and Mrs. Bailey and Ogden were called. She has shown a marked improvement and it is hoped will in a few days entirely recover.

THE DELINQUENTS UNDER WILLIS LAW

Names of More Corporations Liable to a Fine for Not Paying Their Tax.

HOT DEMOCRATIC POLITICS

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, August 17.—The names of 225 Ohio corporations delinquent under the Willis law have been certified by Secretary of State Laylin. Attorney General Sheets to be sued for failure to comply with the act. A fine of $100 and a penalty of $500 for each day of delinquency is provided for by the law. The attorney general said he would give these delinquents one more chance. If they will pay the tax and make reports within ten days they will be exempt from punishment. Three Columbiana county corporations are on the list. They are the Wade Jewelry company and the West Point Coal and Coke company, of East Liverpool, and the East Palestine Land company, of East Palestine. Most of the delinquents are Cleveland concerns.

The official program for the Democratic state convention, to be held in Columbus August 24 and 25, has been issued. There will be but one day of the convention proper, however, as the first day will be devoted to the district meetings. The convention proper will meet at 9:30 Wednesday morning. Hon. G. M. Saltzgaber, of Van Wert, is temporary chairman, and Hon. Charles E. Mason, of Hamilton, temporary secretary. The Eighteenth district delegates will hold their caucus meetings in the office of the treasurer of state, the usual meeting place of the district. The number of delegates in the convention will be 690, requiring 340 to nominate. Columbiana will have six delegates, Mahoning 9 and Stark 14. S. L. Clark, of Youngstown, is the member of the state central committee from the Eighteenth district.

The state has been reimbursed in the sum of $2,775.24 and Wyandotte county $4,723.06 by officials of that county for fees illegally paid out in the famous "Celery King" Johnson murder case. By padding fees the state and county were losers to the extent of something over $10,000. This discrepancy was brought to light by examiners of the municipal inspection bureau under supervision of the auditor of state. The officials seemed to think that they had a good thing of it and worked it to the limit. As a result of the investigation by the examiners they will be compelled to disgorge every penny obtained unlawfully.

The Ohio National Guard went into camp at Camp William McKinley at Newark today. Major General Charles Dick is in command, although Governor Nash is the actual commander-in-chief. The governor will spend most of the period of encampment in the field with the troops. He tried this experiment last year and found it much to his liking. MORE BIG DAMAGE SUITS AGAINST STREET RAILWAY

Lisbon, August 17.—(Special)—As a result of the street car accident on March 22, last, in East Liverpool, seven more heavy damage suits were filed in court here today by Attorneys Gaston & Pinney, of Cleveland, against the United Power company, which operates the East Liverpool street railway. Damages to the amount of $40,000 are asked.

The petitions allege that on the evening of the accident there was only the motorman in charge of the car, and while the car was on an incline on Pleasant Heights he carelessly released the break and went away from it. The car started down the incline and

But One Company Bid to Take the
$92,950.

COMMITTEE IS SURPRISED

Council Not Likely to Accept the Bid
and May Offer the Bonds at Private Sale—Matters for Council to Consider Tonight.

Contrary to the expectation of the finance committee of council and City Auditor Davidson, but one bid was received today for the purchase of the $92,950 worth of East Liverpool bonds authorized several weeks ago by council for the purpose of wiping out the debt that has accumulated during the past few years. The sole bidder was the company of W. J. Hayes & Son, of Cleveland. This company offers a premium of $10 for the bonds.

It was anticipated that there would be at least a half dozen bidders and everyone at the city hall when the time came for opening the bids showed genuine surprise. There were, however, four representatives of large commission houses present and they feel confident that they will yet receive the bonds. One of them stated that he was very much surprised to see a premium offered. He said that the money market is very close and that no commission concerns are paying a premium on such bonds.

H. E. Moon was the only member of the finance committee present when the auditor opened the bids. He predicts that council will not accept the bid at the special meeting to be held this evening. The bid of Hayes & Sons was accompanied by a guarantee check for $4,666 and the certification would be considered solid enough, but council, it is thought, will hold the bonds for a better price, notwithstanding that the buyers in this city today say that no companies would give a larger premium.

It is known that the bond companies are desirous of purchasing the bonds at private sale. After rejecting the bid tonight the finance committee will be open to sell the bonds and will likely do so in the near future. Among the companies who will compete for the purchase are W. R. Todd & Co., of Cincinnati; the New First National company, of Columbus and Seasongood & Mayer, of Cincinnati. Cleveland companies will also be on the list.

Council will have other important matters to consider at the meeting this evening. The honorable body will confer with Mayor Weaver relative to the railroad ordinance and will likely appoint the board of equalization for the Pennsylvania avenue improvement.

Mayor Weaver has been approached by a number of residents of Jethro who want the railroad ordinance amended so that it will include the demand that Washington and Liberty streets in that section be opened by the railroad company. The mayor intends to place the matter before council, and if it be the wish of the body to include the provision necessary steps will be taken to that end. There is a provision in the ordinance which will partially cover the question, but it does not specifically mention the two streets and those interested are desirous that it shall.

The time is up for the appointing of the equalizing board and it is considered expedient that council attend to it.

Licensed to Marry.

Lisbon, August 17.—(Special)—Charles A. Brady and Hattie Barr, both of East Liverpool, and Samuel McBride and Anna Phalen, of East Liverpool, have been granted marriage licenses.

FELL FROM A MOVING CAR AND PICKED UP SENSELESS

Business Was Lively Among the Guardians of the Peace and

Police court was unusually lively this morning, an even dozen victims having fallen into the hands of the "finest" during Saturday night and Sunday. Mayor Weaver was easy on the most of them, and all were able to furnish sufficient money to obtain their release from custody.

Several months had elapsed since Richard Walker and his spouse appeared before the chief executive, and "earing" that they would break their record for darkening cell corridors, both engaged in a fistie encounter at an early hour Sunday morning and it was not long until Officers Aufderheide and Dunn appeared on the scene. The pair had consumed an unlimited amount of their favorite beverage and, incensed to a high pitch, were fighting like cats and dogs when the officers arrived. Both protested vigorously against free transportation to the city hall, but to no avail.

Mrs. Walker showed signs of several Jeffries blows on her physiognomy and Dick looked considerably worse for scratches. Chief Wyman allowed them to depart on their promise to pay $5 each.

Gustavus Mitchell, a 240 pounder, and one of the best known men in the city, came dangerously near losing his life Saturday evening as a result of a quick jag. He has been a drinking man for two score years and it was the first time that he was ever laid out. He attributes the innovation to dope, saying that he only drank six glasses of whisky and ten beers. Mitchell was found on the street car track by Officer McDermott. One car had struck his shoulder and while he was lying straight across the track the officer noticed him. His sons appeared and secured his release by paying a fine of $2 and costs.

Harry Jones, of Chester, was about as drunk as a man could get when seen by Chief Wyman. He was lying prostrate in the door of the shooting gallery on West Market street and it was with difficulty that the chief removed him to safer quarters at the city building. He paid the usual fine and was released.

William Taylor, an old soldier, crippled and nearly blind, whose home is said to be in Steubenville, was all in when picked up by Officer Patrick Woods on Seventh street late Saturday evening. Chief Wyman was appealed to by the old fellow's condition and allowed him to go when he became sober.

P. K. Rogerson, Adam Boone, John Bour and several others whose names could not be learned were taken in for being drunk. Officers Sausberry, Dawson and Morris making the arrests. They paid their fines and gained liberty.

CONFESSED INABILITY TO PAY THE DEBT

A Defendant in a Justice's Court
End.

Acknowledging that he is a bankrupt and as a result being absolutely unable to pay his debts F. W. Miller, the well known baker, was able to have a case instituted against him in the court of Squire H. P. McCarron by Capt. Gus Martindill, dismissed at noon today. The case was a perplexing one, several parties being involved and only an attorney being able to ferret out the circumstances surrounding it. Though Miller was the man owing the money in the case it was docketed as follows: "Gus Martindill versus T. B. Murphy, the judgment debtor's debtor in aid of execution to secure judgment obtained by Martindill, versus F. W. Miller, manager of the Miller Baking company."

The prosecutor and defendant were

represented by attorneys and the case was completely aried. When Miller's attorney stated that the defendant did not deny the debt but was unable to pay it the "squire could do nothing but dismiss the proceedings.

Capt. Martindill states that he sold four cases of eggs to Miller at $5.25 each and that Miller refused to pay for them.

Lisbon, August 17.—(Special)—Benj. McClintock, employed in the Tidd cigar factory in Lisbon, left today for Colorado, where he will join his wife and they will make that state their home for the present. Mrs. McClintock went west for the benefit of her health.

SCORES OF PEOPLE BADLY SCARED

Chas. Fullmer Drew a Gun and
Also Knocked Down
Two Men.

FORMER HOLDUP ALLEGED

Charles Fullmer, a resident of Bradshaw avenue, who is employed at the East End Sewer Pipe Works, was arrested on Walnut street shortly after 1 o'clock this afternoon by Officers Dawson and Morris, who filed a charge against him of being disorderly and flourishing fire arms. His case involves a murderous assault and at least two other fights and will not likely be finally disposed of for several days.

When Fullmer was arrested there was a crowd of perhaps 200 around him and there was much excitement among the people. According to his own statement he knocked down two fellows, and, according to the statements of eye witnesses, he drew a gun on some women and badly frightened a score of people in the community. At the city hall he told a story which will likely result in the arrest of the two men whom he struck and, if his words be true, they will have a serious time freeing themselves from the clutches of the law.

It will be remembered that Fullmer was brutally assaulted on Bradshaw avenue about two months ago. The particulars of the affair were published in the News Review. He said this afternoon that the names of the men who assaulted him were Jones and Reed, both kiln hands. "I have been waiting for another meeting with them," he said, "and I was not surprised when I saw them near Knowles' pottery this afternoon. They called me a yap when I was passing them and I turned around and knocked them down. The night they assaulted me on Bradshaw avenue I was walking toward my home and had stopped at the spring for a drink. While I was drinking one of them struck me in the head with a stone and then both of them kicked me into insensibility. I have been afraid since that they would get me, and I have been carrying a revolver and a pair of knuckles to defend myself."

The story of Fullmer is given credence and the two men accused by him will likely be arrested this afternoon.

Passengers on the Car Startled By
A Crash at the Time of His Dis-
appearance.

William Russell, a resident of Jethro was picked up from the floor of the West End bridge at 9:50 last night in a terribly mangled condition. His injuries are of such a character that it will be a miracle if he recovers.

Russell and a companion had been spending the evening in Wellsville, and some time after 9 o'clock boarded a car for this city. They had been drinking, and were in a hilarious mood during the trip. At Walker Russell left the car for a few minutes, and when he returned concluded to remain on the rear platform. His companion endeavoring to induce him to come inside, but he refused, saying he proposed to get off at Jethro and go home. No one seems to be able to give an intelligent explanation of just how the accident happened, but he was missed from the car when it was midway across the bridge.

As the car neared the west end of the trestle passengers on the inside of the car say they were startled by a crash sounding like the breaking of a timber, followed by a groan. The car was stopped and several of the passengers went back to ascertain the cause of the peculiar sound. Almost at the same moment Joseph Bettridge and Charles Soluman drove up in a buggy, and noticing that the horse they were driving acted in an unusual manner got down and went forward.

Russell was lying face downward in the center of the driveway several feet from the street railway tracks. The young man was unconscious and was first thought to be dead. He was lying in a pool of blood, and the body was perfectly limp. The two men raised the injured man and he was carried to his home not far away, where a physician was soon summoned. The doctor lost no time in stopping the flow of blood from a deep gash on the right side of his head just above the ear. It was a difficult task and required some time to accomplish. A wound in the head was an ugly one, extending around the scalp for several inches. He was badly bruised all over the body, and it may be that he cannot recover.

Several theories are advanced as to just how the accident happened, but it is thought Russell intended to leave the car at the west end of the bridge, and at the time he was hit was leaning out from the car in such a manner as to come in contact with anything that might be near the track. Just at that point is located a steel brace or arm which is utilized as a support for the trolley wire in lieu of a pole. It is supposed that Russell's head hit this steel beam and he was thrown violently to the floor of the bridge.

Russell is a dipper at the Burford pottery, and has a wife and two children. He is popular among his fellow workmen and has a large number of friends among the potters.

News and Notes About The Potteries

NEW-BEAN POT.

The latest bean pot to arrive in the market makes the eating of baked beans more tootasmic than ever. This pot is on the artistic order and is a heavy French china. The outer side is in the tones of a deliciously baked bean. The tints and shades are of brown, and the inner saff is snowy white. The whole dish is set on a silver rack, ready for the table. The family bean pot is long and oval-shaped and the cover is the head of a rabbit, with most lifelike eyes. The individual bean pots are little brown dishes, side by side, and they are a fascinating appointment for a table. Each person is served with his own pot of beans, and these little pots are brown outside and white inside, the same as the large dish.

There are single dishes for the serving of baked custards, and there are sets of individual dishes. These are made with a handle and without covers, and the racks for them are higher, supporting three dishes on each story of the rack.

There is a wide variety of dishes, some for macaroni, poppie, fish, puddings, and for anything that is baked. The utility for them lies principally in the fact that the dishes may be set in the oven, for they are made for that purpose, and the article cooked brought directly from the oven to the table, suffering no loss of heat from transference to a second dish. This ware is both useful and ornamental, and particularly nice for summer breakfasts served in the arbor, to which place they may be taken directly from the oven. Again, they are nice for winter, when things are desired piping hot.

MODELLERS ARE BUSY.

There has been a decided increase in demand for new shapes during the past ten days, says China, Glass and Lamps. Many modellers have contracts on hand which will keep them busy until late in the fall. Joseph Chetwynd, of East Liverpool, is much crowded with work. He is designing for two East Liverpool firms as well as for eastern potteries.

The Sevens China Co. has placed a contract with him for a new toilet shape to be completed early in the fall. The company has departed from the conventional style in the drawing of the pattern, which demonstrates in a small way their originality and enterprise. Gotham and Lockett have a very fair share of work on hand, with the prospects favorable for an active fall and winter trade.

Bishop and Beatty, as usual, have enough to keep them working every day. New orders have been received lately which will keep them busy for several weeks. A noticeable feature about all of the new shapes and specialties gotten out this year is that the modellers have entered upon unbroken paths.

ation in the Staffordshire district, says:

There is nothing much of importance to report as to the condition of the staple trade of the district this week. At a number of factories great efforts are being made to complete as many orders as possible before the commencement of the Potteries Carnival. Speaking generally, however, there is not the same amount of business doing as has been noted during the past few weeks, but a decline is generally expected at this time of the year. Trade with the United States continues moderate, and although very few fresh orders are being booked, many of the various firms, engaged in this market are fully employed in completing those recently to hand.

TWO NEW SHAPES.

The Ohio China Co., East Palestine, has two toilet shapes, the "Boston" and the "Portia," which are treated in a variety of solid tints, which are indeed beautiful, and they are goods that do not stay on the shelves long. Their "Marquise" dinner set is also a good seller and the decorations are thoroughly original. This firm has made a line of specialties one of the features of the plant, and Mr. Walker, general manager, says they will be in fine shape on this line this fall. The line of jardiniere are in sizes from six-inch to twelve-inch, and are handsomely decorated.

BRADSHAW TO START.

The repairs at the Bradshaw pottery at Niles are about completed and it is the expectation of the management to begin operations this week.

The popularity of DeWitt's Witch Hazel Salve, due to its many cures, has caused numerous worthless counterfeits to be placed on the market. The genuine bears the name of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago. Go Prepared.

In preparing for your summer outing a little forethought may save you no end of trouble. Mr. John H. Manly, a dry goods merchant, of Belleville, R. I., while picking an outfit for camping a few weeks on Narragansett Bay, put in a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for emergency use. The second day in camp his little boy was taken with cramp colic. The first dose of this remedy gave relief and the second dose effected a cure. Think of the pain and suffering this boy would have had to endure without this remedy at hand to relieve him. Such cases often result fatally. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

THE OLD RELIGION THE ONLY SAVE ONE

FALSE GUIDES NUMEROUS

But They and Their Doctrines Fail in the Hour of Need—An Eloquent Sermon By Rev. John M. Gaston, of Pittsburgh.

Rev. John M. Gaston, well known in this city, which was the home of his boyhood, now pastor of the Hazelwood Presbyterian church in Pittsburgh, preached a powerful and eloquent sermon to a large congregation at the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning. The music, as usual at this church, was fine, especially so the closing anthem.

Rev. Mr. Gaston read as the scripture lesson the story of Christ teaching Nicodemus the necessity of regeneration and selected as his text the third chapter of John, verses 7, 14, and 15, as follows: "Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born again. And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of Man be lifted up; that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have eternal life." The sermon dealt with the old way of religion as one only safe guide. In part the minister said:

"The old way of entering the Kingdom of God was through Christ and faith in His teachings. No better way has ever been found. He who travels through the country, especially in the west, will be astonished at the growth of new religions. There is a multiplicity of churches teaching new creeds and suggesting new ways of getting to heaven. Eastern people would be amazed on journeying from Ohio to the Pacific to listen to the different theories and gospels that they could hear expounded in churches, on the streets, in parks and other places. New religions, man-made, are apparently popular."

The speaker then told in a vivid narrative, the story of the "Celestial Railway," as related by Hawthorne in his "Mosses from an Old Manse." Hawthorne did not aspire to be a prophet, yet his written words, read today, have all the effect of a prophecy that has come true. The romance told how the seeker after heaven was deserted at the very brink of the river by his guide who offered to show him the way to heaven; while those who pursued the old way crossed the river in safety, with careful guides to help them, and were greeted with rejoicing on the other shore. The man who had relied on the false guide found himself deserted and alone in the hour of his peril.

"Thus," said the speaker, "thus it is with the man-made religions. They fail where the need is greatest. The religion of God never fails. The true message is proclaimed in God's word and the old gospel alone points out the way to salvation. 'Ye must be born again.'"

"The world is full of people who want something new, but when they get it they find it is not worth the keeping. We get into the world by being born into it. We must get into God's kingdom, if we get there at all, in the same way. Many say they do not understand the phrase being born of the spirit. They cannot believe what they do not understand, they declare. Their own life and all their surroundings refute this declaration. Men are constrained to believe. The farmer does not understand the how of the process that makes wool grow upon the back of his sheep, or how the little kernel of wheat develops into a stalk and then produces the full head of ripened wheat. It is enough for him that the growth takes place. Few men can understand how the fire burns coal and gives off heat, but all can understand that without heat they must suffer in winter. The nature of electricity is unknown, even to those who use it daily, but we see that it will produce light and run our cars.

"Man, as he is, is not fit to be transported into the heavenly kingdom. He would not be at home there, until he had undergone spiritual regeneration, even if he could find his way thither. He must follow God's directions if he would enjoy the blessings prepared for him.

"The old way to heaven is not a creed. Creeds are useful; but they cannot save you. A glass vessel may contain water or nourishment, but a man would be a fool to swallow the glass and expect it to quench his thirst or to feed him. The creed is like the glass—a receptacle for whatever good thing we may put into it. The empty creed is like the empty glass; to eat it would kill you. It is the truth inside that saves. The new birth is not a creed; it is God's prescribed rule, not man's.

"The new birth is not joining a church. That act does not save you. It may help you, but you must help yourself. One can cut a piece from a tree and plant it in the ground. It does not grow, because it has no life. It remains a post, until it wastes and rots into nothing. Plant a healthy tree and nourish it and the result is a beautiful and useful object. The tree grows, the post never. Every church has in it many posts. They have been planted there, and there they remain, making no shade and producing no fruit. But those who seek to grow make themselves and the church better. Growth is what brings comfort and satisfaction. We should join the church, not to be saved, but because we are saved, and when in the church, work to strengthen it and ourselves.

"The new birth is not getting religion. Religion is the inheritance of all mankind. Even the savages and the heathen have it, and will undergo any torture, suffering or privation, rather than give it up. Religion is that which distinguishes man from the brute. Every man has religion, but not all have the true religion. The new birth is not a change of feeling. The new testament contains the word 'feeling' but three times. Change of emotions may come with the new birth; quite as likely it may not. Emotion will not save you. The Lord wants to see you and wants you to love Him; He does not ask you to turn to Him because you fear Him, or for the reward that you may gain; but He wants you to know and feel that He is good and therefore you put your trust in Him.

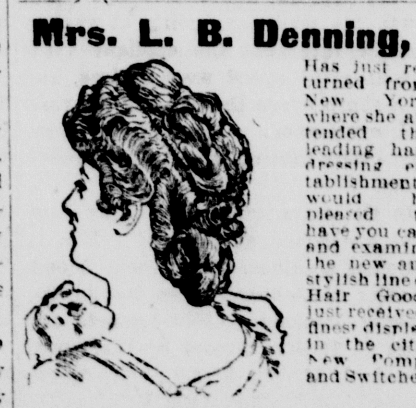

"Morality and spirituality are entirely different things. We must first get right morally before we can progress spiritually. Stopping at the merely moral stage will not do. Many men are all right in their relations as husbands and fathers and yet all wrong in their relations with God. 'What, then, is the new birth?' When you are born into Christ's kingdom you will partake of Christ's nature. Even as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, so must the son of man be lifted up. We must look to Christ as our model and our guide. God's rules are all simple. There is nothing incomprehensible about them. The humblest as well as the most gifted may all come to Christ. The way is easy—the old and the true way. 'Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved.'"

WONDERFUL THE WAYS AND WORKS OF GOD

An Able Sermon by Rev. T. H. Hall, of New Jersey, at the M. E. Church.

Rev. T. H. Hall, formerly of this city now of the New Jersey conference, preached at the First M. E. church last evening, from the text "What is Man That Thou Art Mindful of Him?" he called attention to the imperial majesty, dignity, grandeur and all absorbing mystery connected with the starry heavens, and what an interest the Psalmist must have taken in astronomy. Comparison was made between the magnitude of the starry universe and man, man so small and so insignificant when compared with the God whose image he is supposed to have been made. "Who am I?" asked the speaker, continuing with the query: "How, when and what is all this done for?" Attention was directed to the great solar system, moving at a speed of many miles an hour, yet with such perfect poise that a cup of water will not spill a drop from the motion—so swift, yet so sure, and so carefully planned in all its detail, working together so true, without a mistake, without a jar.

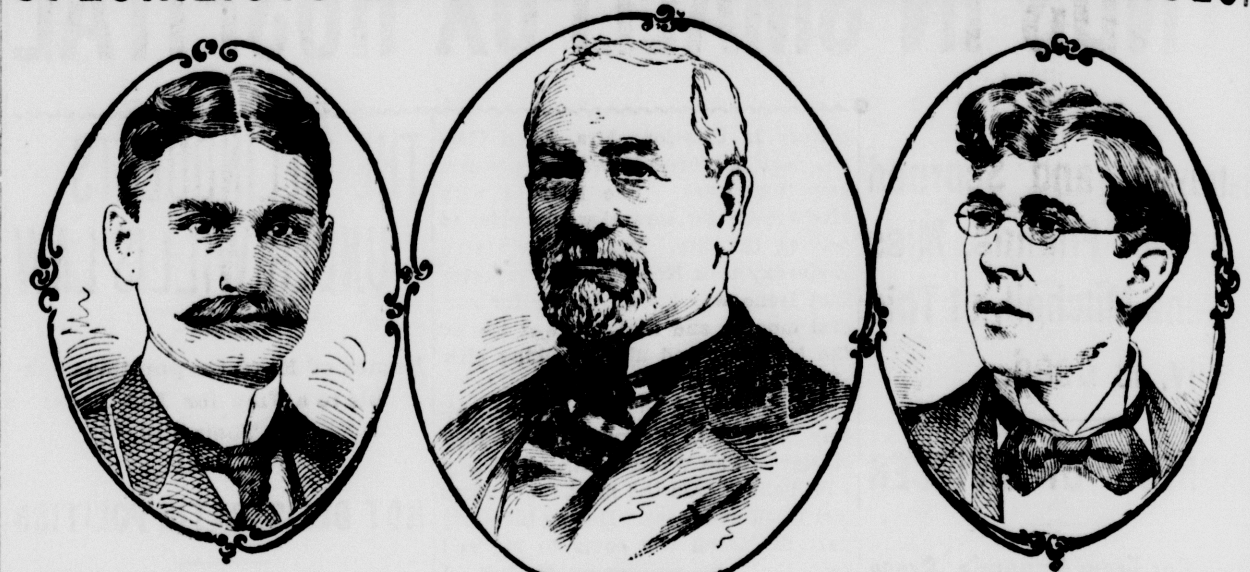

Wonderful are the ways and works of God. The eye of him who looks was directed to gaze on and on through the stars to the realms of God far beyond. The size of man was pictured as only a small atom, yet man alone of all living things was imbued with the power of thought, with mind and will power. Man was more than animal, which only had brute instinct, to eat, drink and sleep—not one thought. The ox thus eats grass to grow strength, but is subject to no other powers than those of appetite, which is the only God it knows.

Man thus differs from lower order of life, animal life, and is moved by an invisible intellect, making him the arbiter of his own destiny. As a man thinketh, so is he. Thus thought moves the world. Man can think and can climb higher, to the end which is a destiny, an ultimatum. Man is what is within his heart. The human heart should throb with divinity. God looks to see what is in every human heart and He knows, and He knows only, what abides within. In conclusion character was taken up for discussion, and the difference pointed out between character and reputation. Thus man is a man only in proportion to the goodness that is in his heart, which God sees, and He only.

THE RIGHT USE OF MEANS OF GRACE

Rev. J. G. Reinartz Preaches From the Parable of the Unjust Steward.

Rev. J. G. Reinartz, at St. John's Lutheran church, preached from the text Luke 16:8: "And the Lord Commandeth the Unjust Steward, Because He Had Done Wisely." He said in part:

"Let us rightly use the means of grace. God has not founded His church in vain. And now, in our life, is certainly the time to make friends of the mammon of unrighteousness. Perhaps heretofore we have only made enemies of it. We cannot make a righteous use of other people's money but perhaps we can make friends with our own. Deal thy bread to the hungry and hide not thyself from thine own flesh. Remember the sick and the poor, the widow and the orphan. Think of those who labor in the home of the foreign mission fields. Even for the rich there is a day of reckoning. Neither the shroud and coffin, however, rich and beautiful, nor the honeyed words of a flattering preacher can brace the soul as it comes clothed before its God."

Accidents come with distressing frequency on the farm. Cuts, bruises, stings, sprains, Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil relieves the pain instantly. Never safe without it.

ALCOHOL IN ALL LIQUID KIDNEY AND RHEUMATIC REMEDIES CONDEMNS THEM.

An ignorantly compounded remedy, containing alcohol, as nearly all kidney remedies do, will stimulate them so violently that an inflammation will be set up, and instead of being merely lazy the kidneys will become diseased. Alcohol congests the kidneys with food and retards their activity.

There is no Alcohol in Nerve Tablets to interfere with the removal of all harmful sediment from the body. The Tablets soothe and heal the kidneys when they are irritated and inflamed. They cure the kidney diseases that make you dizzy, restless, sleepless and irritable; that make you pass water often during the night; that cause rheumatism, catarrh of the bladder, pain in the back, joints and muscles; that make your head ache and indigestion, stomach and liver trouble, and a salter, yellow complexion.

No matter how many other remedies you may have tried and found useless, remember the great modern remedy, Nerve Tablets.

RAISED DISTURBANCE ON A STREET CAR

Drunken Colored Men Threatened to Shoot But Fled From the Police.

A small sized riot on a late street
car Saturday night was quelled by the
pluck and nerve of Conductor Powell,
who refused to be intimidated when
several of the rowdies drew revolvers
and began to abuse him with torrents
of profane language. The rioters
were all colored men who boarded the
car in the central part of the city.
They behaved fairly well until a point
near the Klondike pottery was reached
and then began to raise a disturbance.
There were several ladies on the car
and wishing to keep them from being annoyed Conductor Powell spoke kindly
to the negroes. Instead of subsiding they became angry and started to
make trouble for Powell. Not satisfied with calling rowell vice names several revolvers were displayed and threats of shooting were heard. The
nervy conductor held his ground and
signalled the motorman to stop the
car. This was done and a message
telephoned to the East End police station.

Officers Spence and Fisher caught
the next car east but the rioters, fear-
ing the strong arm of the law, had
made good their escape over the hills.

Lewis Howard, of the East End
street department with several of his
assistants commenced work this morning constructing a new wooden culvert
over Lake run, where it crosses Pennsylvania avenue. Street Commissioner
Frank Dickey was at the scene to help
in the work. The old culvert had fallen
into a dilapidated condition and
was really dangerous to horses. Several of the planks had become broken,
leaving apertures plenty large enough
for a horse's foot to drop through.
Drivers have been compelled to exercise the greatest caution in driving
across the culvert.

A Reported Wedding.

It was reliably reported this morning that Miss Lina Shook, of Elmwood
street, and Walter Mankin, now working at East Palestine, were to be married at Steubenville today. While the
report could not be confirmed it is regarded as true. Miss Shook is a popular young lady, who makes her home
with her uncle, Wm. Kreller. The groom is a potter and well known in
the East End.

East End Resumed.

After an idleness of almost two
months the East End pottery resumed
work this morning with a full force.
Since the shut down in June the plant
has passed from the control of the East Liverpool Pottery company and
will be operated as an independent
plant. Gus Trimble, who with E. J.
Owen, was the principal stockholder
in the concern still retains his interest
and will be active in the management.

John Fowler, of Pennsylvania ave.,
is reported among the sick today.

John Gladden, of Freedom, was the guest yesterday of H. L. Bradman, of Mulberry street.

Miss Mollie Speedy, who has been
visiting relatives at Waynesburg, Pa.,
returned home last night.

Frank White returned Saturday
night from a visit to Minerva, Carroll-
ton, Mechanistown and other points.

Miss Cornelia Supplee of Ohio ave.,
who has been visiting friends and relatives at Lisbon returned home last
night.

William Hazelhurst, who has been at Ike Crabbe's camp near Fredricktown,
fell yesterday and cut his head quite
severely.

Fred Chambers and family, who have
been visiting East End relatives for
some time, left this morning for their
home in Cincinnati.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Larkins of Virginia avenue, left this morning for the Hollow Rock camp grounds near Low Creek, where they will spend a couple of weeks.

Alex Brownlee, who had his hand
severed a week or more ago when he
fell from a moving train, is reported
much better today by Dr. W. E. Mowen,
who has been attending to his injuries.

Went Into Refrigerator After Beer,
Was Locked In and Nearly Frozen.

Beaver, Pa. Aug. 17.—William C.
Johnston, of West Bridgewater, nearly
lost his life by being frozen in a refrigerator in the meat shop of Goll
Bros., all because of his love for beer.
The accidental opening of the ice box
after he had been confined in it for two hours, alone saved him. When taken
out his flesh had turned blue, his ex-
tremities were icy and he was losing
consciousness.

Johnston was looking about in the meat shop. He discovered a case of
beer in the refrigerator and went in.
Amoment later John Goll slammed the
been left open. Johnston was busy
drinking and did not hear the door
close. When he finally did try to get
out he found himself a prisoner.
There was no way of opening the door
from the inside. He called and pound-
ed, but the thick walls were sound
proof. Thinking Mr. Goll had shut
the door for a joke, he consumed more
beer and waited. Then he began to grow cold.

The door was finally opened to show
the refrigerator to a visitor. Johnston
was carried outside and soon revived.
It is thought the large quantity of beer
that he drank helped to sustain him.

South No Longer Holds Mo-
nopoly for Meeting Out
Swift Punishment.

CRIMES CAUSED BY LAW'S DELAY

Outrages Committed on White Women.
by Negroes Principal Causes of
Lynchings—Advocates Doing Away
With Appeals in Criminal Cases.

New York, Aug. 17.—Associate Justice David J. Brewer, of the supreme court of the United States, has contributed to Leslie's Weekly an article
on the crime of lynching, in the course
of which he says:

"Our government recently forward-
ed to Russia a petition in respect to
alleged atrocities committed upon the Jews. That government, as might have been expected, unwilling to have
its internal affairs a matter of consideration by other governments, declined to receive the petition. If, instead of so doing, it had replied that
it would put a stop to all such atroc-
ities when this government put a stop

"It is well to look the matter fairly
in the face. Many good men join in
these uprisings, horrified at the atroc-
ity of the crime and eager for swift
and summary punishment. Of course
they violate the law themselves, but
rely on the public sentiment behind them for escape from punishment. Many of these lynchings are accompanied by the horrible barbarities of
savage torture, and all that can be
said in palliation is the atrocity of the
offenses which led up to them. For a
time they were confined largely to the
south, but that section of the country
no longer has a monopoly. The chief
offense which causes these lynchings
has been the rape of white women by
colored men. No words can be found
too strong to describe the atrocity of such a crime. It is no wonder that
the community is excited. Men would
disgrace their manhood if they were
not. And if a few lynchings had put
a stop to the offense society might
have condoned such breaches of its
law; but the fact is, if we may credit
the reports, the crime instead of diminishing is on the increase. The
black beast (for only a beast would be guilty of such an offense) seems to be
not deterred thereby. More than that,
as might be expected, lynching for
such atrocious crimes is no longer confined to them, but is being resorted to
for other offenses.

"What can be done to stay this epidemic of lynching? One thing is the
establishment of a greater confidence
in the summary and certain punishment of the criminal. Men are afraid
of the law's delays and the uncertainty of its results. Not that they
doubt the integrity of the judges, but
they know that the law abounds with
technical rules and that appellate
courts will often reverse a judgment
of conviction for a disregard of such
rules notwithstanding a full belief in
the guilt of the accused. If all were

certain that the guilty ones would be
promptly tried and punished, the inducement to lynch would be largely
taken away. In an address which I delivered before the American Bar association at Detroit some years since
I advocated doing away with appeals
in criminal cases. It did not meet the
favor of the association, but I still believe in its wisdom. For nearly a hundred years there was no appeal from
the judgment of conviction of criminal
cases in our federal courts, and no
review except in a few cases in
which two judges sitting, a difference
of opinion on a question of law was certified to the supreme court. In England the rule has been that there
was no appeal in criminal cases, although a question of doubt might be
reserved by the presiding judge for
the consideration of his brethren.
Hon. F. J. Phelps, who was minister
to England during Mr. Cleveland's
first administration, once told me that
while he was there only two cases
were so reserved. Does any one doubt
that justice was fully administered by
the English courts?"

"It is said in extenuation of lynching
in case of rape that it is an additional cruelty to the unfortunate victim to compel her to go upon the witness stand and in the presence of a
mixed audience tell the story of her
wrong, especially when she may be subject to cross-examination by overzealous counsel. I do not believe this matter, but it must be remembered
that often the unfortunate victim
never lives to tell the story of her
wrong; that if she does survive she
must tell it to some and the whole
community knows the fact. Even in
the court room any high minded judge
will stay counsel from any uneces-
sary cross-examination, and finally if
any lawyer should attempt it the community may treat him as an outcast.
I can but think that if the community
felt that the criminal would certainly
receive the punishment he deserves,
and receive it soon, the eagerness for
lynching would disappear, and mobs,
whose gatherings too often mean not
merely the destruction of jails and
other property, but also the loss of innocent lives would diminish in number.

"One thing is certain—the tendency
of lynching is to undermine respect
for the law, and unless it be checked
we need not be astonished if it be re-
sorted to for all kinds of offenses, and
oftentimes the innocent suffer for
wrongs committed by others."

Within the past five years Japan has given to the world an object-lesson in the advantages of a projective policy in developing the latent resources of a country. Her statesmen noted that the Japanese were buying abroad a large number of articles they were satisfied they could produce in the country, if proper encouragement were given. They took a lesson from our example, and concluded to try the effect of a higher duty on a number of articles, in the belief that this would stimulate home production. Their hopes were justified, and there has been a great expansion of Japanese industry. Take an instance. In 1898, under an ad valorem duty of 5 per cent Japan imported $1,474,168 worth of watches. The duty was raised to 30 per cent. In 1902, only four years later, the value of watches imported was but $116,670—the result of the manufacture of watches by the Japanese themselves. Another result of the protective policy has been to increase Japan's foreign trade instead of diminishing it. This has been the experience of the United States. The Dingley tariff law was enacted in 1897, and since then our foreign trade has grown at a most amazing rate, especially our export trade. This is exactly contrary to the position of the free trade doctrine. The stimulus to the expansion of home industries, and their extension into new lines, acts favorably on both imports and exports. We have proved that conclusively in our own case, and little Japan's experience is the same.

It is high time that the question of payment for the Pennsylvania avenue improvement be settled finally. A necessary step in that direction is the appointment of another equalization board. Council should attend to the matter without delay.

A Lincoln, Nebraska, audience was disposed to be angry at Hobson for keeping it waiting an hour. When he explained that he had been talking to Col. Bryan he was sympathized with instead of being condemned.

Care Counts

The issues of life and death depend on the potency of a drug some times—often than we are apt to think. When your physician prescribes a remedy he expects certain results; if the remedy supplied be lacking in purity or strength, it may fail in its purpose.

We think of these things. We take care to see that every drug we use in prescriptions is absolutely pure and of standard potency. We are careful about the compounding also. We have had 12 years' experience, and can assure you that if you permit us to compound your prescriptions you can feel secure about them.

LABORING MEN CLASH

Hostilities Between Strikers and Non-Unionists Assuming Serious Aspect.

Although Many Shots Were Fired and

a Striker and Spectator Injured—Police Powerless to Preserve Order.

Further Outbreak Feared.

Wheeling, Aug. 17.—One of the greatest clashes between labor factions that has occurred in the annals of the city took place between the striking machinists and about 25 non-union men who took their places in the Riverside plant of the United States Steel corporation. The battle was initiated Saturday night, but at that time the demonstration had not attained an alarming stage, and despite the fact that over a thousand shots were fired in the clash there were no fatalities and only a few persons were wounded.

The machinists have been out on strike for several weeks and the situation was becoming desperate for the corporation until they imported about 20 men to take the places of the strikers. The men have been assaulted from time to time, but the situation has not reached an alarming stage heretofore. The strikers congregated about the boarding houses of the non-unionists Saturday night fully armed and began an attack upon the places. The houses were heavily barricaded and many volleys were fired into the structures. Finally a well-directed shot from within the house wounded one of the strikers and he was carried to a hospital.

Clay Hoover, a spectator, was also shot in the left knee, but not seriously. A number of other people who were in the building with the non-unionists received wounds which were dressed by physicians. The rioting continued until 2 o'clock Sunday morning, when it abated somewhat. The police were powerless to interfere and reinforcements were requested. About 300 unionists participated in the riot and a fresh outbreak is feared at any moment.

At 10 o'clock last night the strikers lying in the hills fired upon Peter Silatek, who was passing that point. He was seriously wounded. The strikers mistook him, thinking he was a spy.

District Attorney Not Satisfied.

Lancaster, Pa., Aug. 17.—Mrs. John Burr, aged 30 years, was found late Saturday night in a house on West Chestnut street dying from a bullet wound in her breast. In a few minutes she expired. Her companion, George Brenner, was arrested on suspicion of having murdered her. He was released upon the finding of the coroner's jury that the woman had committed suicide. District Attorney Groff, however, was not satisfied by this verdict and says that he will keep Brenner under surveillance and investigate further. Mrs. Burr was known also as Lillie Nary, passing as the wife of a bill poster now with Welsh Bros' circus. Brenner is an iron worker and lives in this city with his wife and children.

Weavers Returning to Work.

Philadelphia, Aug. 17.—Another break in the textile workers' strike will occur today, when 3,000 rug weavers, Turkish towel weavers and woolen yarn workers will return to work. At a meeting of the working committee of the Central Textile Workers' union these strikers were given permission to resume work. No concessions have been granted by the manufacturers. It was also officially announced that the upholstery weavers, 5,000 in number, will make a final effort to secure concessions and, failing, will return to work on Tuesday at the old scale. This will leave but 11,200 of the 60,000 original strikers still out.

Garment Workers Elect Officers.

Indianapolis, Aug. 17.—The United Garment Workers of America elected officers and selected Buffalo for next year's convention. There was no opposition for the positions of president and secretary, and B. A. Langer, of Cincinnati, and Henry White, of New York, were re-elected to those positions by unanimous vote.

Lost Both Legs Under Train.

Wheeling, Aug. 17.—James Murray, aged 30 years, of Pittsburg, was thrown beneath the wheels of a Baltimore and Ohio railroad passenger train in the sight of 200 spectators. The wheels passed over both his legs, crushing them to such an extent that they had to be amputated. His condition is critical.

THE DELINQUENTS

Lieutenant Colonel Harry Frazer, night-of-way agent of the B. & O. railroad.

Billy Radcliffe, of Youngstown, one of the most versatile fellows you ever met, is touring the state with the Johnson propaganda. He is one of Mayor Tom's star attractions. Billy has had amazing success as a patent medicine vendor and has appeared on the streets of East Liverpool, Salem, and other Columbiana county towns in this capacity in years gone by. He is an open-hearted fellow and clever in his line.

The Zimmerman people are claiming almost everything in sight, but are haunted by a fear that Johnson may, by some hornswoggling method, purloin a goodly number of their delegates in the convention. If Tom controls the committees he will have it fixed that the Zimmerman delegations from counties having contests will not be seated. The Zimmerman managers are considerably affrighted at this prospect and are working to prevent Johnson from controlling these bodies.

Former Attorney General Frank S. Menett, who left the Republican party and allied himself with the Democracy, will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for attorney general. He sought this place two years ago, but lost out, the convention deciding his penance for former political sins was of too brief duration to entitle him to such honors then. This will be the fifth time he has gone after the nomination.

Salineville lost to the locals Saturday afternoon in West End park by a score of 3 to 2. A faster or prettier game could not be anticipated and the fans well appreciated the exhibition. That Captain Reark's bunch came out of the battle victorious was not altogether due to fast playing. The coal miners had the game won several times if they had only been onto the knack of base running. In this feature alone they are short and to it they can credit the defeat. Upon at least two occasions with but one man out they had a couple of men on bases and by foolhardy attempts to steal a base were caught. As a result in each instance two runs were cut off and the game was won by the locals.

The contest was thrilling in every sense of the word. The fans were on edges at every stage. They realized that the visitors were putting up about the fastest fielding game that has been played on local diamonds this season and knew that a chance hit would be sufficient to give them a victory. This fact together with the truth that the locals were not so swift in the infield kept them on the qui vive. However, the locals played an errorless game in every feature, but at second and third bases gave them a lead and the points that could not be downed by the diggers of the black diamonds.

It was pleasing to every spectator to see the work of the visitors in the infield. The boys of Salineville showed the fans that experience had taught them to handle the sphere with wonderful skill. They were never found wanting. Lang and McCullough accepted every chance and their exhibition would make even Hans Wagner open his optics with wonder.

In the first inning it looked very much as if the locals were going to have everything as they wished. Indeed, the fans were of the impression that there would be nothing to it. Gibson was the first man up and he pounded the first one delivered by Ferrall. Though he did not reach the initial bag it was evident that the long, lanky pitcher's delivery was not puzzling and hopes were bright. Houser, the best ball player that Wellsville was ever known to produce, was playing at short for the Crockery City knights and being the next man up determined to once more demonstrate his superiority. That he did it can be told better by Left-fielder Davidson, who made the longest run of his life in attempting to head Houser off and keep him from making a three bagger. In his attempt he was defeated. Houser easily gained the third bag on the throw in, it being fumbled by Ferrall. He was allowed to make an easy home run of the long fly. Wallace went out on a speedy one to short. Brown worried the pitcher into a fever of philanthropy, who very graciously allowed him to walk. Big Fred Heckathorn, the old time hero, who judged from every standpoint is about the best that East Liverpool has fostered in years, stepped quietly to the base, leaned back on his one pin and the hand that he dealt was surely a winner. Notwithstanding that he is wonderfully handicapped in running, he cleared three bases as slick as a white tie and scored Brown handily. Reark died on a pretty one to short and the inning was at an end with the locals two to the good.

The miners put a decidedly different phase on the situation in their half of the fourth. Davidson expired on a hot one to Webb, but Rourke thought that maybe Webb was only fooling and found it to be true when he sent one with whisks attached into the second baseman's mit. The latter fumbled it and the big right fielder had no trouble in reaching first. Madison landed on one for a pretty hit and while Lawrence was giving Strabley a dose of "strikeroutsky" both men advanced a peg. Ferrall took advantage of the opportunity and playing on one for two bases tied the score. Stevens could not keep the good work up, croaking at first.

Fearing that they were up against the real thing, the locals made another sprint in their half of the inning, scoring a run on two hits. Both sides tried with vigor to change the standing from that time on, but were unsuccessful and the ninth inning ended with one more scalp buckled onto the belt of Captain Reark. The score:

Features of the Game.

Wallace drew a blank on the score sheet.

Brown had a couple of errors, but his other good work overbalanced them and he is yet the pride of the fans.

Webb was not slow with the stick. He showed some of his old time ability, pouncing on them when a run was in jeopardy.

Lawrence pitched a pretty game. He allowed quite a number of hits, but kept them scattered and in reality had the visitors at his mercy.

McCullough is a great short stop. He certainly will not play with slow company much longer. His ability to pick up any old ball, no difference how hot, is wonderful.

Lang is about the speediest third baseman on the market. Better days are in store for him if he continues playing such a game as he exhibited in this contest. He is clean and antagonistic.

Vasbinder, the ex-leaguer who was fired from fast company because he wanted to visit his wife when she was on her death bed, covered nearly the entire outfield. His preferred position is in the box, but he is all right any place.

The Salineville bunch having shown the local fans their ability, and every one being exultant over their fine work, it is advised that the local management arrange for a series of games to be played in the near future. The coal miners will certainly draw and will be a paying card.

INTERESTING GAME

AT WELLSVILLE

West End Athletics of That City Defeated the Mingo Team Saturday.

One of the most interesting and well attended base ball games that has been played at Central park in Wellsville since its first team broke up, was that played Saturday afternoon between the West End Athletics, Wellsville's second team, and the team from the Mingo Works at Mingo. The result was a victory for the locals. The final score was 11 to 2.

College was in the box for the locals in the first and second innings, but when he went to bat in the latter half of the second inning he had the wrist of his pitching arm hit with the ball, thus putting him out of the game. This necessitated a change in the line up and Knox went into the game, Patterson being brought in from left field, to occupy the box.

It seemed to be Patterson's banner day. He had an unlimited amount of speed, and used it with telling effect. He struck out eight men during the seven innings that he was on the rubber.

The Mingo team played a strong game, but were outclassed. The score follows:

Legal Stars Won Again.

The Legal Stars defeated the Brunos of Wellsville, Saturday by a score of 16 to 4. The pitcher for the Stars struck out 18 men. The Stars left this morning for Rochester, where they play this afternoon.

SPORTING MICELLANY.

The Youngstown Ohio Works team has won 16 out of the 19 games played.

Rube Waddell was knocked out of the box in the sixth inning Friday by the Chicago White Sox.

Major Wolf, Toronto's fastest pacing horse, Thos. Price, was sold to Louis McClelland, of Yellow Creek, for the sum of $1000.

The Kent baseball club has the best record of all teams in its class in the state, having played 29 games, winning 30, tying one and losing eight. It has won the series from 15 teams, is tied with one, the Ohio Works team, and has lost two.

Catcher Sullivan, of the White Sox, minus his vermiform appendix, is able to practice again, but will probably not play in a game before September.

McGinnity is an "iron man" two ways. He can pitch two winning games of ball in one afternoon and engage in the iron business at South McAlester, I. T., when not playing ball.

Six straight victories down the grand circuit have made Billy Buck look like the champion trotter of 1903, and E. E. Smathers, of New York, wanted him so much that he gave Ed. Geers $15,000 for the son of St. Clair.

This is $2,500 more than C. K. G. Billings paid for Lou Dillon and as much as Billings paid for The Monk.

Synopsis of Preceding Chapters.

CHAPTER I.—Grenfell Lorry, a wealthy American globe trotter, stumbles into acquaintance with a charming foreign girl on the train from New York to Washington. The pair are left behind when the train stops for repairs in West Virginia. Lorry wishes ahead to hold the train. He and the unknown girl ride twenty miles carrying pace in a mountain coach. Lorry knows it is a dangerous ride. There is no love-making, but a near approach to it as the rolling stage tumbles the passengers about. III.—Lorry dines with the foreign party, consisting of Miss Guggenlocker, Uncle Caspar and Aunt Yvonne. They are natives of Graustark, a country Lorry had never heard of before. IV.—Lorry shows the foreigners the sights of Washington. They leave for New York to sail on the Kaiser Wilhelm. Miss Guggenlocker naively calls Lorry her "Ideal American" and invites him to come and see her at Edelweiss. V.—Wildly inflated, Lorry hurries to New York. The name Guggenlocker is not on the steamer list. He sees the steamer off. Miss G. waves him a kiss from the deck. VI.—Lorry joins his old friend, Harry Anguish, an American artist in Paris. Graustark and its capital, Edelweiss, are located by a guide book. The Americans get no trace of the Guggenlockers there. VII.—Lorry sees his charmer driving in a carriage with a beautiful companion of her own sex. He gets a glance of recognition, but the carriage rolls on, leaving the mystery unsolved. Later he receives a note at his hotel signed Sophia Guggenlocker, inviting him to visit her next day. VIII.—In the evening Lorry and Anguish ramble about the grounds of the castle where dwells the countess of the Graustark. They overhear a plot to abduct the princess and resolve to capture the plotters and hand her over to the conspirators. Lorry finds himself in a room he heard them designate as that of the princess. X.—Lorry tells the princess of the plot. Mutual recognition: she is Miss Guggenlocker. Danno, the guard, is in the abduction plot. He tells Lorry with a terrible blow. Anguish to the rescue. XI.—Lorry quarrels in the castle. The princess visits him but forbids all talk of love. XII.—Graustark is bankrupt and owes the richest districts of Aghia $30,000,000. The creditor demands cash or the cession of the richest districts of Graustark. XIII.—The Prince of Aghia offers to lend the loan if the princess will marry his son, Prince Gabriel, of Edelweiss. XIV.—Lorry bids for the princess' hand with offer of a loan. Yvonne tells Lorry that she belongs to her people and will marry Lorenz. XIV.—Lorry discovered kissing the princess while she is seated on the throne.

CHAPTER XIV.—Continued.

"You—what did you say to him?" he asked.

"I—I—oh, I will not tell you!" she cried.

"I beg of you!"

"I told him that he was to—was to put down his gun."

"I know that, but why?" he persisted.

"I—ach, to save you, stupid!"

"How did you explain the—the?" He hesitated generously.

"I told him that I had not been—that had not been—"

"Say it!"

"That I had not been—offended!" she rasped, standing stiff and straight, with eyes glued upon the obedient guard.

"You were not?" he rapturously cried.

"I said it only to save your life!" she cried, turning fiercely upon him. "I shall never forgive you—never! You must go—you must leave here at once! Do you hear? I cannot have you near me now; I cannot see you again. What have I given you the right to say to me?"

"Stop! It is as sacred as—"

"Yes, yes; I understand! I trust you, but you must go! Find some excuse to give your friend and go today! Go now!" she cried intensely, first putting her hands to her temples, then to her eyes.

Without waiting to hear his remonstrance, if indeed he had the power to utter one, she glided swiftly toward the curtains, allowing him to follow at his will. Dazed and crushed at the sudden end to everything, he dragged his footsteps after. At the door she spoke in low, imperative tones to the motionless Allode, who dropped to his knees and muttered a reverential response. As Lorry passed beneath the hand that held the curtain aside he glanced at the face of the man who had been witness to their weakness. He was looking straight ahead, and from his expression it could not have been detected that he knew there was a man on earth save himself. In the hall she turned to him, her face cold and pale.

"I have faithful guards about me now. Allode has said he did not see you in the throne room. He will die before he will say otherwise," she said, her lips trembling with shame.

"By your command?"

"If my request. I do not command my men to lie."

Side by side they passed down the quiet hall, silent, thoughtful, the strain of death upon their hearts.

"I shall obey the only command you have given, then. This day I leave the castle. You will let me come again—will you? There can be no harm—"

"No! You must leave Graustark at once!" she interrupted, the tones low.

"I refuse to go! I shall remain in Edelweiss, near you, just so long as I feel that I may be of service to you."

"I cannot drive you out as I would a thief," she said pointedly.

At the top of the broad staircase he held out his hand and murmured:

"Goodby, your highness."

"Goodby," she said simply, placing her hand in his after a moment's hesitation. Then she left him.

An hour later the two Americans, one strangely subdued, the other curious, excited and impatient, stood before the castle waiting for the carriage. Count Halfort was with them, begging them to remain, as he could see no reason for the sudden leaving-taking. Lorry assured him that he had trespassed long enough on the court's hospitality and that he would feel much more comfortable at his friend's face, but said nothing. He was beginning to understand.

"Let us walk to the gates. The count will oblige us by instructing the coachman to follow," said Lorry, eager to be off.

"Allow me to join you in the walk, gentlemen," said Count Caspar, immediately instructing a lackey to send the carriage after them. He and Lorry walked on together, Anguish lingering behind, having caught sight of the Countess Dagmar. That charming and unconventional piece of nobility promptly followed the prime minister's example and escorted the remaining guest to the gate.

Far down the walk Lorry turned for a last glance at the castle from which love had banished him. Yvonne was standing on the balcony, looking not at the monastery, but at the exile.

She remained there long after the carriage had passed her gates bearing the Americans swiftly over the white Castle avenue, and there were tears in her eyes.

CHAPTER XV.

THE BETROTHAL.

HARRY Anguish was a discreet, forbearing fellow. He did not demand a full explanation of his friend. There was enough natural wit in his merry head to see that in connection with their departure there was something that would not admit of discussion even by confidential friends. He shrewdly formed his own conclusions and held his peace.

Nor did he betray surprise when Lorry informed him in answer to a question that he intended to remain in Edelweiss for some time, adding that he could not expect him to do likewise if he preferred to return to Paris. But Mr. Anguish preferred to remain in Edelweiss. Had not the Countess Dagmar told him she would always be happy to see him at the castle, and had he any reason to renounce its walls? And so it was that they tarried together.

Lorry loitered aimlessly, moodily, about the town, spending gloomy days and wretched nights. He reasoned that it were wisdom to fly, but a force stronger than reason held him in Edelweiss. He ventured several times to the castle wall, but turned back resolutely. There was hope in his breast that she might send for him. There was at least the possibility of seeing her should she ride through the streets. Anguish, on the other hand, visited the castle daily. He spent hours with the pretty countess, undismissed by the noble moths that fluttered about her flame, and he was ever persistent, light hearted and gay. He brought to Lorry's ears all that he could learn of the princess. Several times he had seen her and had spoken with her. She inquired casually after the health of his friend, but nothing more. From the countess he ascertained that her highness was sleeping soundly, eating heartily and apparently enjoying the best of spirits, information decidedly irritating to the one who received it second hand.

They had been at the hotel for over a week when one afternoon Anguish rushed into the room out of breath and scarcely able to control his excitement.

"What's up?" cried Lorry. "Has the countess sacked you?"

"Not on your count! But something is up, and I am its discoverer. You remember what you said about suspecting Prince Gabriel of being the chief rascal in the abduction job? Well, my boy, I am now willing to stake my life that he is the man!" The news bearer sat down on the edge of the bed and drew the first long breath he had had in a long time.

"Why do you think so?" demanded the other, all interest.

"Heard him talking just now. I didn't know who the fellow was at first, but he was talking to some strange looking soldiers as I passed. As soon as I heard his voice I knew he was Michael. There isn't any question about it, Lorry. I am positive. He did not observe me, but I suppose by this time he has learned that his little job was frustrated by two Americans who heard the plot near the castle gates. He has nerve to come here, hasn't he?"

"If he is guilty, yes. Still he may feel secure because he is a powerful prince, and able to resent any accusation with a show of force. Where is he now?"

"I left him there. Come on. We'll go down, and you can see for yourself."

They hurried to the corridor, which was swarming with men in strange uniforms. There were a few Graustark officers, but the majority of the buzzing conversationists were dressed in a rich gray uniform.

"Who are these strangers?" asked

Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes.

The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood.

If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work.

Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries.

It used to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but now modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble.

If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail.

Home of Swamp-Root, free, also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

Don't make any mistake, but remember the name Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.

Lorry.

"Oh, I forgot to tell you. Prince Lorenz is also here, and these gray fellows are a part of his retinue. Lorenz has gone on to the castle. What's the matter?" Lorry had turned pale and was reaching for the wall with unsteady hand.

"He has come for his answer," he said slowly, painfully.

"That's right. I hadn't thought of that. I hope she turns him down. But there's Gabriel over yonder. See those three fellows in blue? The middle one is the prince."

Near the door leading to the piazza stood several men, gray and blue. The man designated as Gabriel was in the center, talking gayly and somewhat loudly, pulling at a cigarette between sentences. He was not tall, but he was strongly and compactly built. His hair and cropped beard were as black as coal, his eyes wide, black and lined. It was a pleasure worn face, and Lorry shuddered as he thought of the princess in the power of this evil looking wretch. They leisurely made their way to a spot near the talkers. There was no mistaking the voice. Prince Gabriel and Michael were one and the same beyond all doubt. But how to prove it to the satisfaction of others? Skepticism would follow any attempt to proclaim the prince guilty because his voice sounded like that of the chief conspirator. In a matter where whole nations were concerned the gravest importance would be attached to the accusation of a ruler. Satisfying themselves as to the identity of that peculiar voice, the friends passed through to the piazza.

"What's to be done?" asked Anguish, boiling over with excitement.

"We must go to Baron Dangloss, tell him of our positive discovery, and then consult Count Halfort."

"And her royal highness, of course."

"Yes, I suppose so," said Lorry, flicking the ashes from his cigar with a finger that was now steady. He was serving the princess again.

They hurried to the tower and were soon in the presence of the fierce little chief of police. Lorry had spent many hours with Dangloss of late, and they had become friends. His grim old face blanched perceptibly as he heard the assertions of the young men. He shook his head despairingly.

"It may be as you say, gentlemen, but I am afraid we can do nothing. To charge a prince with such a crime and on such evidence would be madness. I am of your belief, however. Prince Gabriel is the man I have suspected. Now I am convinced. Before we can do anything in such a grave matter it will be necessary to consult the princess and her ministers. In case we conclude to accuse the Prince of Dawsbergen it must be after careful and judicious thought. There are many things to consider, gentlemen. For my part, I would be overjoyed to seize the villain and to serve him as we did his tools, but my hands are tied, you see. I would suggest that you go at once to the princess and Count Halfort, tell them of your suspicions."

"Not suspicious, my lord—facts," interrupted Anguish.

"Well, then, facts, and ascertain how they feel about taking up a proposition that may mean war. May I ask you to come at once to me with their answer. It is possible that they will call for a consultation with the ministers, nobles and high officers. Still, I fear they will be unwilling to risk much on the rather flimsy proof you can give. Gabriel is powerful, and we do not seek a war with him. There is another foe for whom we are quietly whetting our swords." The significant remark caused both listeners to prick up their ears. But he disappointed their curiosity, and they were left to speculate as to whom the other foe might be. Did he mean that Graustark was secretly, slyly, making ready to resist, treaty or no treaty?

It required prolonged urging on the part of Anguish to persuade Lorry to accompany him to the castle, but, when once determined to go before the princess with their tale, he was eager, impatient, to cross the distance that lay between the hotel and the forbidden grounds. They walked rapidly down Castle avenue and were soon at the gates. The guard knew them, and they were admitted without a word. As they hurried through the park they saw many strange men in gray, gaudy uniforms, and it occurred to Lorry that their visit, no matter how great its importance, was ill timed. Prince Lorenz was holding the center of the stage.

FLYER WRECKED IN CLEVELAND

Several Trainmen Seriously Injured and Passengers Cut by Flying Glass.

Cleveland, Aug. 17.—The Cleveland and New York flyer express on the Erie railroad was wrecked at the Literary street crossing in the eastern part of the city by running into an open switch. Fortunately the train was running slowly at the time, and in consequence no one was killed, though a number were seriously injured. The injured:

C. E. Alexander, baggage master, Cleveland, badly bruised, ankle sprained.

Engineer John Roser and Fireman Albert Hartman, both of Meadville, Pa., did not have time to jump and were badly shaken up. Engineer Burns, of the switch engine, and his fireman also remained on their engine. Burns receiving serious injuries to his back. The flyer carried about 100 passengers, many of whom were cut by flying glass. The injured were removed to hospitals and all are reported as doing well.

MALARIA

Germ Infected Air.

Malaria is not confined exclusively to the swamps and marshy regions of the country, but wherever there is bad air this insidious foe to health is found. Poisonous vapors and gases from sewers, and the musty air of damp cellars are laden with the germs of this miserable disease, which are breathed into the lungs and taken up by the blood and transmitted to every part of the body. Then you begin to feel out of sorts without ever suspecting the cause. No energy or appetite, dull headaches, sleep and tired and completely fagged out from the slightest exertion, are some of the deplorable effects of this catching malady. As the disease progresses and the blood becomes more deeply poisoned, boils and abscesses and dark yellow spots appear upon the skin. When the poison is left to ferment and the microbes and germs to multiply in the blood, Liver and Kidney troubles and other serious complications often arise. As Malaria begins and develops in the blood, the treatment to be effective must begin there too. S. S. AN UGLY FALL DUE TO WATERMELON SEED

It Causes a Little Girl to Slip On the Floor and Break Her Leg.

A watermelon seed is thought to be responsible for a serious injury sustained yesterday by Ellen Stevens, aged 8 years, at the home of her mother, Mrs. S. W. Stevens, on Lincoln avenue. The child, while playing about the kitchen, shortly after 9 o'clock in the morning, stepped upon the seed and was thrown violently to the floor. Members of the family came to her assistance and seeing that it was impossible to move her limb, they concluded it was broken. Dr. Hobbs was called and his examination showed that the leg had been fractured at the thigh.

The fracture is causing the little girl a great deal of pain and today, though improved, she was quite restless and evidently suffering greatly.

He started work on the building this morning and will complete it earlier than the specified time if possible.

THE JACKSONS

NOT YET ARRESTED

Thomas Jackson Says He Has Dared the Authorities to Arrest Him.

There are no new developments in the case against the Jacksons. The warrants are still out and the authorities assert they will be served as soon as an opportunity presents itself.

The suits consist of three actions, one against William Jackson, another against Thomas Jackson and the last against the father of both, R. H. Jackson. The affidavits are all worded alike, and contain the allegation that the men are accused of appropriating a calf aged about three weeks, and of the value of $6. For some unaccountable reason Sergeant Allison, in whose hands the warrants were placed, has not served the papers.

Thomas Jackson stated Saturday that he had appeared at the office of Justice Johnston and dared the authorities to arrest him. When told of the statement made by Jackson this morning, Justice Johnston said: "If he was even on this side of the river, during my absence. I do not believe he was even on this side of the river. The charge has been regularly filed, and if any of the accused make their appearance in Chester they will certainly be called upon to face the charge."

William B. Hoy is the man who made the information and in each case his name is attached to the affidavit. He claims to be in possession of sufficient evidence to warrant a conviction.

WRENCHED HIS BACK LEADING A COW

Mill Man Badly Injured by Struggle With a Frantic Animal.

John R. Cunningham, a catcher at the Chester plant of the American Tin Plate company, is lying at his home in Lawrenceville suffering from an attack of spinal disease the result of a tussle he had with a cow last evening.

Cunningham had occasion to remove a fractious cow from one point to another and in some manner wrenched his back. Little was thought of the accident at the time, and this morning he went to work at the mill as usual. He had been engaged but a short time when the injury to his back, together with the extreme heat completely overcame him and he fainted away. The men at the mill immediately took steps to have the injured man taken to his home in Lawrenceville, where Dr. Donohoo made an examination. The latter is authority for the statement that Cunningham is in a very bad way. If he recovers at all he will be a cripple, and the chances for his getting well are small.

BUTTER IS SCARCE

The Farmers of Hancock County Might Make It Profitable to Start a Creamery.

The farmers of Hancock county who have an interest in the matter making industry have about reached the conclusion that unless some radical reforms are introduced there will be a butter famine. Butter of a satisfactory make is a scarce commodity and when the creamery competition is considered the outlook is discouraging.

So long as butter is produced in a small way with much toil it is not to be wondered they are not enthusiastic, and again they receive from 5 to 8 cents per pound less than the creamery people get. The country product is equally well flavored and by some considered superior but it cannot compete with that made by a system, in large quantities with surroundings of perfect cleanliness under the supervision of experienced men. If the people of this section really care to stay in the butter business they must furnish a more regular supply and it would seem they could best do this by organizing a company and carrying on a creamery plant of their own on a small scale at first, increasing as their product becomes better known. They could in this manner with much less labor dispose of their dairy product at regular

The Free Shows Enjoyed By Great Numbers of People Yesterday.

The largest Sunday crowd of the season was at Rock Spring yesterday. It is estimated that fully 2,000 people visited the resort during the afternoon and evening, and though very orderly, apparently enjoyed the outing to the full.

The free exhibition given by the park management at the theatre in the evening was attended by nearly 1,700 people, and was one of the most pleasing entertainments held at the park during the present season. The new summer theatre was packed to the doors, and there were several hundred visitors who were unable to gain admission.

The vaudeville show provided for the entertainment of those who attend the theatre this week is the very best of the season, and will be appreciated by all who attend.

Emancipation Day Celebration.

The colored population of Chester is making preparations to attend the celebration of Emancipation Day in Wheeling this year in grand style. If the present arrangements are carried out in detail, the colored people of Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and West Virginia will unite in the celebration as it was never observed before. The affair will be held on the State Fair Grounds, Sept. 22. Booker T. Washington will be one of the speakers.

Old Mines to Be Started.

It is announced that the old abandoned coal mines near Brilliant will be opened in a short time by W. H. Pool, the well known capitalist. Pool has control of 200 acres of coal land in that vicinity. A greater part of the out pit will be loaded into barges and transported to market by boat. The mine was originally opened in 1872, but was abandoned nearly 15 years ago. Since that time the tipple and other equipment has been permitted to fall into decay.

Seven Were Arrested.

Seven of the Pittsburgh excursionists who visited Rock Springs Saturday, fell into the hands of the police. All were charged with drunkenness, and when taken before the mayor received a fine of $6.50 each. Six of the unfortunates managed to pay the fines, and returned with the crowd in the evening. One man was unable to pay and is still in jail.

LIFE OF A BEAUTIFUL GIRL ENDS IN SMALLPOX HOSPITAL

Betrayed, and Scorned by Her Friends, Miss Irene Mitchell, of This City, Is Dead.

Saves Her From Pauper's Grave After Her Mother and Her Former Lover Have Refused to Grant Further Assistance.

SAD STORY OF SCHOOL TEACHER

Work in This City—Left Town
Mysteriously Last March and Her
Friends Next Told of Her Death.

Cruelly deserted by the one who had wronged her, shunned by all her associates in this city and locality and warned by her mother to never darken
again the doorway of her childhood
home, pretty Irene Mitchell, aged 21,
left East Liverpool one cold and bleak
day during the latter part of last March for Pittsburg, where she hoped to live down her disgrace before returning to the ones who had once honored and respected her. Her fond anticipation was cut short last Saturday morning, when she died at the municipal hospital in Pittsburg, from smallpox, which closely followed childbirth.

The story of Miss Mitchell's death is sad indeed, and has appealed very ferociously to her scores of acquaintances
in this city. Implicating as it does, several well known people, there are none who will not be deeply interested in every detail leading up to the untimely demise and few who will ever forget its heart-rending features: The poor girl was handsome, having a fair complexion, affectionate brown eyes and auburn hair of rare beauty.
She was refined, well educated and
the child of highly respected parents.
Born in Sandville, near Ravenswood,
W. Va., she attended school until 16 years of age when she acquired sufficient knowledge to secure a teacher's certificate. Being particularly bright and intelligent, she had no trouble in getting a school and taught in country localities for several years.

While yet teaching her father died
and it was not long after that until her mother married a man by the name of Morgan. It seems that the marriage had a tendency to break up the household and Irene decided to leave her home. She came to East Liverpool about a year ago, and though competent to hold a much better and more responsible position, first secured employment in the tin mill at Chester.
It was there that she met the person who, she said, ruined her, and subsequently caused the terrible ending to her most promising career.

Miss Mitchell had worked at the tin
mill but a few weeks when she met Clyde Woodey, the 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodey, of Bradshaw's location. The senior Woodey is a carpenter and with his family moved to this city in October, 1902, from Orange township, Meigs county.
Shortly after the meeting of Clyde and Irene they became much infatuated,
the love being mutual and the girl's downfall came in a very short period.
Both were very intimate for several months and kept constant company until during the first of March, when Irene, realizing her condition, appealed to Clyde for his consent to either marry her or provide money enough to take her away from any and everyone who knew her.

Time and again the girl, who was becoming frantic, appealed in vain to her lover. He, it is said, showed a coldness that was very trying to her.
After making so many fruitless attempts to gain sympathy and help
from Woodey, she determined to leave the city. Meantime she had given up her work at the tin mill and obtained employment at the Edwin M. Knowles

pottery in Chester. Mrs. Ellen Hester, who is forelady at the pottery, gave her work. She boarded with Mrs. Hester for several weeks prior to leaving the city. Mrs. Hester stated yesterday to a News Review reporter that Irene was known to her for several months and that she was one of the brightest and nicest looking girls
she had ever met.

"Irene started to work in the pottery for me in February," said Mrs.
Hester. "She worked with a will and I do believe was the most industrious girl I had under me. During the early part of March she came to me and said that she was going to quit. I had just raised her wages from 87 cents to $1 per day and told her that

Man Who Personated an Officer Got a Bad Beating as a Result.

A man by the name of Wright came very near being killed in the Jethro hollow Saturday night as the result of a most foolish act. He secured an officer's badge and placing it on his coat, went to the door of a disorderly house in that section, intending to frighten the inmates. He applied at the door and after being admitted, displayed the badge.

Hardly had he done so when two male persons on the inside recognized him to be a fake and they pounced on him in great style. They knocked him to the floor and beat him into a terrible state. While unconscious, his nose broken and his face otherwise badly bruised, he was carried on an old overcoat to the Jethro bridge, where he was left to his fate. He did not regain consciousness until early Sunday morning and it was with great difficulty that he walked away.

Passersby noticed the coat lying under the bridge and they, seeing the blood, were not long in advancing a murder theory. It was dispelled in a short time, the true phase becoming known.

DEMENTED GIRL ARRIVED IN TOWN

CONDUCT AT A HOTEL RENDERED A GUARD NECESSARY.

The Unfortunate Now Being Cared For By Relatives—Came Here Alone.

Suffering from dementia, Miss Margaret Stype, a handsome young lady,
about 22 years of age, was brought to the home of a near relative on Third street, from Cleveland late Saturday night. The girl had been visiting relatives here and insisted on coming here instead of being returned to Anderson, Ind., where she had been employed as a bookkeeper.

Symptoms of insanity were first noticed at the hotel in Cleveland, where Miss Stype had registered. Her first suspicious act was to repeatedly ring
the call bell in her room and in this way the suspicions of the hotel attaches were aroused. It was found necessary a short time later to place
a guard over her. Friends in Indiana were telegraphed for, but Miss Stype
would not accompany them, insisting on coming to this city. The trip here from Cleveland was full of incident owing to the girl's unfortunate condition.

The demented girl was at once taken to the home of her relative on Third street and Mrs. Bailey and Ogden were called. She has shown a marked improvement and it is hoped will in a few days entirely recover.

Names of More Corporations Lia- ble to a Fine for Not Pay- ing Their Tax.

HOT DEMOCRATIC POLITICS

From a Staff Correspondent.

Columbus, August 17.—The names of 225 Ohio corporations delinquent
under the Willis law have been certified by Secretary of State Laylin.
Attorney General Sheets to be sued
for failure to comply with the act.
A fine of $100 and a penalty of $500
for each day of delinquency is provided for by the law. The attorney general said he would give these delinquents one more chance. If they will pay the tax and make reports within ten days they will be exempt from punishment. Three Columbiana county corporations are on the list. They are the Wade Jewelry company and the West Point Coal and Coke company, of East Liverpool, and the East Palestine Land company, of East Palestine. Most of the delinquents are Cleveland concerns.

The official program for the Democratic state convention, to be held in Columbus August 24 and 25, has been issued. There will be but one day of the convention proper, however,
as the first day will be devoted to the district meetings. The convention proper will meet at 9:30 Wednesday morning. Hon. G. M. Saltzgeber, of Van Wert, is temporary chairman, and Hon. Charles E. Mason, of Hamilton, temporary secretary. The Eighteenth district delegates will hold their caucus
meetings in the office of the treasurer of state, the usual meeting place of the district. The number of delegates in the convention will be 690, requiring 340 to nominate. Columbiana will have six delegates, Mahoning 9 and Stark 14. S. L. Clark, of Youngstown, is the member of the state central committee from the Eighteenth district.

The state has been reimbursed in the sum of $2,775.24 and Wyandotte
county $4,723.06 by officials of that county for fees illegally paid out in the famous "Celery King" Johnson murder case. By padding fees the state and county were losers to the extent of something over $10,000. This discrepancy was brought to light by examiners of the municipal inspection
bureau under supervision of the auditor of state. The officials seemed to think that they had a good thing of it and worked it to the limit. As a result of the investigation by the examiners they will be compelled to dis-
gorge every penny obtained unlawfully.

The Ohio National Guard went into

MORE BIG DAMAGE SUITS AGAINST STREET RAILWAY

Lisbon, August 17.—(Special)—
As a result of the street car accident
on March 22, last, in East Liverpool, seven more heavy damage suits were filed in court here today by Attorneys Gaston & Pinney, of Cleveland, against the United Power company, which operates the East Liverpool street railway. Damages to the amount of $40, 000 are asked.

The petitions allege that on the evening of the accident there was only the motorman in charge of the car, and while the car was on an incline on Pleasant Heights he carelessly released the break and went away from it.
The car started down the incline and

ONLY $10 PREMIUM OFFERED FOR BONDS

But One Company Bid to Take the City's Obligations for $92,950.

COMMITTEE IS SURPRISED

Council Not Likely to Accept the Bid and May Offer the Bonds at Private Sale—Matters for Council to Con- sider Tonight.

Contrary to the expectation of the
finance committee of council and City
Auditor Davidson, but one bid was received today for the purchase of the $92,950 worth of East Liverpool bonds
authorized several weeks ago by council for the purpose of wiping out the
debt that has accumulated during the past few years. The sole bidder was
the company of W. J. Hayes & Son, of Cleveland. This company offers a premium of $10 on the bonds.

It was anticipated that there would
be at least a half dozen bidders and
everyone at the city hall when the
time came for opening the bids showed
genuine surprise. There were, however, four representatives of large
commission houses present and they
feel confident that they will yet receive
the bonds. One of them stated that
he was very much surprised to see a
premium offered. He said that the
money market is very close and that
no commission concerns are paying a
premium on such bonds.

H. E. Moon was the only member
of the finance committee present when
the auditor opened the bids. He predicts that council will not accept the
bid at the special meeting to be held
this evening. The bid of Hayes &
Sons was accompanied by a guarantee
check for $4,666 and the certification
would be considered solid enough, but
council, it is thought, will hold the
bonds for a better price, notwithstanding
that the buyers in this city today
say that no companies would give a
larger premium.

It is known that the bond companies
are desirous of purchasing the bonds
at private sale. After rejecting the
bid tonight the finance committee will
be open to sell the bonds and will have
to do so in the near future. Among
the companies who will compete for
the purchase are W. R. Todd & Co., of Cincinnati; the New First National
company, of Columbus and Seasongood
& Mayer, of Cincinnati. Cleveland
companies will also be on the list.

Council will have other important matters to consider at the meeting tonight. The honorable body will confer with Mayor Weaver relative to
the railroad ordinance and will likely
appoint the board of equalization for
the Pennsylvania avenue improvement.

Mayor Weaver has been approached
by a number of residents of Jethro
who want the railroad ordinance
amended so that it will include the demand that Washington and Liberty
streets in that section be opened by
the railroad company. The mayor intends to place the matter before council, and if it be the wish of the body
to include the provision necessary
steps will be taken to that end. There
is a provision in the ordinance which
will partially cover the question, but it
does not specifically mention the two
streets and those interested are desirous that it shall.

The time is up for the appointing of
the equalizing board and it is considered expedient that council attend to it.

AN EVEN DOZEN IN POLICE COURT

Business Was Lively Among the Guardians of the Peace and Fines Were Many.

Police court was unusually lively
this morning, an even dozen victims
having fallen into the hands of the
"finest" during Saturday night and Sunday. Mayor Weaver was easy or
the most of them, and all were able
to furnish sufficient money to obtain
their release from custody.

Several months had elapsed since
Richard Walker and his spouse ap-
peared before the chief executive, and
"earing that they would break their
record for darkening cell corridors,
both engaged in a fistic encounter at
an early hour Sunday morning and it was not long until Officers Audferhelde and Dunn appeared on the scene. The pair had consumed an unlimited amount of their favorite beverage and, incensed to a high pitch,
were fighting like cats and dogs when
the officers arrived. Both protested
vigorously against free transportation
to the city hall, but to no avail.

Mrs. Walker showed signs of several Jeffries blows on her physiognomy and Dick looked considerably the
worse for scratches. Chief Wyman
allowed them to depart on their promise to pay $5 each.

Gustavus Mitchell, a 240 pounder,
and one of the best known men in the
city, came dangerously near losing his
life Saturday evening as a result of
a quick jag. He has been a drinking
man for two score years and it was
the first time that he was ever laid
out. He attributes the innovation to
dope, saying that he only drank six
glasses of whisky and ten beers.
Mitchell was found on the street car
track by Officer McDermodt. One car
had struck his shoulder and while
he was lying straight across the track
the officer noticed him. His sons appeared and secured his release by
paying a fine of $2 and costs.

Harry Jones, of Chester, was about
as drunk as a man could get when
seen by Chief Wyman. He was lying
prostrate in the door of the shooting
gallery on West Market street and it
was with difficulty that the chief re-
moved him to safer quarters at the
city building. He paid the usual fine
and was released.

William Taylor, an old soldier, crip-
pled and nearly blind, whose home
is said to be in Steubenville, was all
in when picked up by Officer Patrick
Woods on Seventh street late Saturday evening. Chief Wyman was ap-
pealed to by the old fellow's condition
and allowed him to go when he became sober.

P. K. Rogerson, Adam Boone, John
Bourg and several others whose names
could not be learned were taken in
for being drunk. Officers Saulsberry, Dawson and Morris making the arrests. They paid their fines and gained
liberty.

A Defendant in a Justice's Court Brings the Case to a Sudden End.

Acknowledging that he is a bankrupt
and as a result being absolutely unable
to pay his debts P. W. Miller, the well known baker, was able to have a case
instituted against him in the court of
Squire H. P. McCarron by Capt. Gus
Martindill, dismissed at noon today.
The case was a perplexing one, several
parties being involved and only an attorney being able to ferret out the circumstances surrounding it. Though
Miller was the man owing the money
in the case it was docketed as follows:
"Gus Martindill versus T. B. Murphy,
the judgment debtor's debtor in aid of
execution to secure judgment obtained
by Martindill, versus P. W. Miller, manager of the Miller Baking company."

The prosecutor and defendant were

represented by attorneys and the case
was completely aried. When Miller's attorney stated that the defendant did
not deny the debt but was unable to
pay it the 'squire could do nothing but
dismiss the proceedings.

Capt. Martindill states that he sold
four cases of eggs to Miller at $5.25
each and that Miller refused to pay for
them.

Going to Colorado.

Lisbon, August 17.—(Special)— Benj. McClintock, employed in the wife and they will make that state

their home for the present. Mrs.
McClintock went west for the benefit of her health.

SCORES OF PEOPLE BADLY SCARED

Chas. Fullmer Drew a Gun and Also Knocked Down Two Men.

FORMER HOLDUP ALLEGED

Charles Fullmer, a resident of Brad-
shaw avenue, who is employed at the East End Sewer Pipe Works, was arrested on Walnut street shortly after
1 o'clock this afternoon by Officers
Dawson and Morris, who fled a charge
against him of being disorderly and
flourishing fire arms. His case involves a murderous assault and at
least two other fights and will not
likely be finally disposed of for several days.

When Fullmer was arrested there
was a crowd of perhaps 200 around
him and there was much excitement
among the people. According to his
own statement he knocked down two
fellows, and, according to the statements of eye witnesses, he drew a gun
on some women and badly frightened
a score of people in the community.
At the city hall he told a story which
will likely result in the arrest of the
two men whom he struck and, if his
words be true, they will have a serious
time freeing themselves from the
clutches of the law.

It will be remembered that Fullmer
was brutally assaulted on Bradshaw
avenue about two months ago. The
particulars of the affair were published in the News Review. He said this afternoon that the names of the men
who assaulted him were Jones and Reed, both kiln hands. "I have been
waiting for another meeting with
them," he said, "and I was not surprised when I saw them near Knowles'
pottery this afternoon. They called
me a yap when I was passing them
and I turned around and knocked
them down. The night they assaulted
me on Bradshaw avenue I was walking
toward my home and had stopped at
the spring for a drink. While I was
drinking one of them struck me in the
head with a stone and then both of
them kicked me into insensibility. I have been afraid since that they would
get me, and I have been carrying a revolver and a pair of knuckles to de-
fend myself."

The story of Fullmer is given cred-
ence and the two men accused by
him will likely be arrested this afternoon.

Italian Pulled a Gun.

A desperate Italian was arrested
this morning by Officer Fisher and taken before the mayor for acting disorderly in the East End. The officer stated that the foreigner pulled a gun
on him when he went to make the arrest but he only preferred the disorderly charge against him. He was fined $5 and let go.

William Russell, of the West End, Picked Up On Jethro Bridge in Mangled Condition.

The Manner in Which He Was Injured Is Not Known—Sup- posed to Have Been Struck by a Steel Brace.

Badly Bruised All Over His Body. Passengers on the Car Startled By A Crash at the Time of His Dis- appearance.

William Russell, a resident of Jethro
was picked up from the floor of the West End bridge at 9:50 last night in
a terribly mangled condition. His
injuries are of such a character that
it will be a miracle if he recovers.

Russell and a companion had been
spending the evening in Wellsville,
and some time after 9 o'clock boarded
a car for this city. They had been drinking, and were in a hilarious mood
during the trip. At Walker Russell
left the car for a few minutes, and
when he returned concluded to remain
on the rear platform. His companion
endeavoring to induce him to come inside, but he refused, saying he proposed to get off at Jethro and go home.
No one seems to be able to give an
intelligent explanation of just how the
accident happened, but he was missed
from the car when it was midway
across the bridge.

As the car neared the west end of the trestle passengers on the inside of the
car say they were startled by a crash
sounding like the breaking of a timber,
followed by a groan. The car was
stopped and several of the passengers
went back to ascertain the cause of the
peculiar sound. Almost at the same moment Joseph Bettridge and Charles Soleman drove up in a buggy, and
noticing that the horse they were driving acted in an unusual manner got down and wetted forehead.

Russell was lying face downward in
the center of the driveway several feet
from the street railway tracks. The
young man was unconscious and was
first thought to be dead. He was
lying in a pool of blood, and the body
was perfectly limp. The two men
raised the injured man and he was carried to his home not far away, where
a physician was soon summoned. The
doctor lost no time in stopping the flow
side of his head just above the ear.
It was a difficult task and required
some time to accomplish. He wound
in the head was an ugly one, extending around the scalp for several
inches. He was badly bruised all over
the body, and it may be that he can-
not recover.

Several theories are advanced as to
just how the accident happened, but it is thought Russell intended to leave
the car at the west end of the bridge,
and at the time he was hit was leaning
out from the car in such a manner as
to come in contact with anything that
might be near the track. Just at that
point is located a steel brace or arm
which is utilized as a support for the
trolley wire in lieu of a pole. It is supposed that Russell's head hit this
steel beam and he was thrown violent-
ly to the floor of the bridge.

Russell is a dipper at the Burford
pottery, and has a wife and two children. He is popular among his fellow
workmen and has a large number of
friends among the potters.

News and Notes About The Potteries

NEW-BEAN POT.

The latest bean pot to arrive in the market makes the eating of baked beans more tootasmic than ever. This pot is on the artistic order and is a heavy French china. The outer side is in the tones of a deliciously baked bean. The tints and shades are of brown, and the inner saul is snowy white. The whole dish is set on a silver rack, ready for the table. The family bean pot is long and oval-shaped and the cover is the head of a rabbit, with most life-like eyes. The individual bean pots are little brown dishes, side by side, and they are a fascinating appointment for a table. Each person is served with his own pot of beans, and these little pots are brown outside and white inside, the same as the large dish.

There are single dishes for the serving of baked custards, and there are sets of individual dishes. These are made with a handle and without covers, and the racks for them are higher, supporting three dishes on each story of the rack.

There is a wide variety of dishes, some for macaroni, potpie, fish, for puddings, and for anything that is baked. The utility for them lies principally in the fact that the dishes may be set in the oven, for they are made for that purpose, and the article cooked brought directly from the oven to the table, suffering no loss of heat from transference to a second dish. This ware is both useful and ornamental, and particularly nice for summer breakfasts served in the arbor, to which place they may be taken directly from the oven. Again, they are nice for winter, when things are desired piping hot.

MODELLERS ARE BUSY.

There has been a decided increase in demand for new shapes during the past ten days, says China, Glass and Lamps. Many modellers have contracts on hand which will keep them busy until late in the fall. Joseph Chetwynd, of East Liverpool, is much crowded with work. He is designing for two East Liverpool firms as well as for eastern potteries.

The Sevres China Co. has placed a contract with him for a new toilet shape to be completed early in the fall. The company has departed from the conventional style in the drawing of the pattern, which demonstrates in a small way their originality and enterprise. Gotham and Lockett have a very fair share of work on hand, with the prospects favorable for an active fall and winter trade.

Bishop and Beatty, as usual, have enough to keep them working every day. New orders have been received lately which will keep them busy for several weeks. A noticeable feature about all of the new shapes and specialties gotten out this year is that the modellers have entered upon unbeaten paths.

ation in the Staffordshire district, says:

There is nothing much of importance to report as to the condition of the staple trade of the district this week. At a number of factories great efforts are being made to complete as many orders as possible before the commencement of the Potteries Carnival. Speaking generally, however, there is not the same amount of business doing as has been noted during the past few weeks, but a decline is generally expected at this time of the year. Trade with the United States continues moderate, and although very few fresh orders are being booked, many of the various firms engaged in this market are fully employed in completing those recently to hand.

TWO NEW SHAPES.

The Ohio China Co., East Palestine, has two toilet shapes, the "Boston" and the "Portia," which are treated in a variety of solid tints, which are indeed beautiful, and they are goods that do not stay on the shelves long. Their "Marquise" dinner set is also a good seller and the decorations are thoroughly original. This firm has made a line of specialties one of the features of the plant, and Mr. Walker, general manager, says they will be in fine shape on this line this fall. The line of jardiniere are in sizes from six-inch to twelve-inch, and are handsomely decorated.

Go Prepared.

In preparing for your summer outing a little forethought may save you no end of trouble. Mr. John H. Manly, a dry goods merchant, of Belleville, R. I., while packing an outfit for camping a few weeks on Narragansett Bay, put in a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for emergency use. The second day in camp his little boy was taken with cramp colic. The first dose of this remedy gave relief and the second dose effected a cure. Think of the pain and suffering this boy would have had to endure without this remedy at hand to relieve him. Such cases often result in death. For sale by Alvin H. Bulger.

THE OLD RELIGION THE ONLY SAVE ONE

FALSE GUIDES NUMEROUS

But They and Their Doctrines Fail in the Hour of Need—An Eloquent Sermon By Rev. John M. Gaston, of Pittsburgh.

Rev. John M. Gaston, well known in this city, which was the home of his boyhood, now pastor of the Hazelwood Presbyterian church in Pittsburgh, preached a powerful and eloquent sermon to a large congregation at the First Presbyterian church yesterday morning. The music, as usual at this church, was fine, especially so the closing anthem.

Rev. Mr. Gaston read as the scripture lesson the story of Christ teaching Nicodemus the necessity of regeneration and selected as his text the third chapter of John, verses 7, 14, and 15, as follows: "Marvel not that I said unto thee, Ye must be born again. And as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, even so must the Son of Man be lifted up; that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have eternal life." The sermon dealt with the old way of religion as one only safe guide. In part the minister said:

"The old way of entering the Kingdom of God was through Christ and faith in His teachings. No better way has ever been found. He who travels through the country, especially in the west, will be astonished at the growth of new religions. There is a multiplicity of churches teaching new creeds and suggesting new ways of getting to heaven. Eastern people would be amazed on journeying from Ohio to the Pacific to listen to the different theories and gospels that they could hear expounded in churches, on the streets, in parks and other places. New religions, man-made, are apparently popular."

The speaker then told in a vivid narrative the story of the "Celestial Railway," as related by Hawthorne in his "Mosses from an Old Manse." Hawthorne did not aspire to be a prophet, yet his written words, read today, have all the effect of a prophecy that has come true. The romance told how the seeker after heaven was deserted at the very brink of the river by his guide who offered to show him the way to heaven; while those who pursued the old way crossed the river in safety, with careful guides to help them, and were greeted with rejoicing on the other shore. The man who had relied on the false guide found himself deserted and alone in the hour of his peril.

"Thus," said the speaker, "thus it is with the man-made religions. They fall where the need is greatest. The religion of God never fails. The true message is proclaimed in God's word and the old gospel alone points out the way to salvation. 'Ye must be born again.'"

"The world is full of people who want something new, but when they get it they find it is not worth the keeping. We get into the world by being born into it. We must get into God's kingdom, if we get there at all, in the same way. Many say they do not understand the phrase being born of the spirit. They cannot believe what they do not understand, they declare. Their own life and all their surroundings refute this declaration. Men are constrained to believe. The farmer does not understand the how of the process that makes wool grow upon the back of his sheep, or how the little kernel of wheat develops into a stalk and then produces the full head of ripened wheat. It is enough for him that the growth takes place. Few men can understand how the fire burns coal and gives off heat, but all can understand that without heat they must suffer in winter. The nature of electricity is unknown, even to those who use it daily, but we see that it will produce light and run our cars.

"Man, as he is, is not fit to be transported into the heavenly kingdom. He would not be at home there, until he had undergone spiritual regeneration, even if he could find his way thither. He must follow God's directions if he would enjoy the blessings prepared for him.

"The old way to heaven is not a creed. Creeds are useful; but they cannot save you. A glass vessel may contain water or nourishment, but a man would be a fool to swallow the glass and expect it to quench his thirst or to feed him. The creed is like the glass—a receptacle for whatever good thing we may put into it. The empty creed is like the empty glass; to eat it would kill you. It is the truth inside that saves. The new birth is not a creed; it is God's prescribed rule, not man's.

"The new birth is not joining a church. That act does not save you. It may help you, but you must help yourself. One can cut a piece from a tree and plant it in the ground. It does not grow, because it has no life. It remains a post, until it wastes and rots into nothing. Plant a healthy tree and nourish it and the result is a beautiful and useful object. The tree grows, the post never. Every church has in it many posts. They have been planted there, and there they remain, making no shade and producing no fruit. But those who seek to grow make themselves and the church better. Growth is what brings comfort and satisfaction. We should join the church, not to be saved, but because we are saved, and when in the church, work to strengthen it and ourselves.

"The new birth is not getting religion. Religion is the inheritance of all mankind. Even the savages and the heathen have it, and will undergo any torture, suffering or privation, rather than give it up. Religion is that which distinguishes man from the brute. Every man has religion, but not all have the true religion. The new birth is not a change of feeling. The new testament contains the word 'feeling' but three times. Change of emotions may come with the new birth; quite as likely it may not. Emotion will not save you. The Lord wants to see you and wants you to love Him; He does not ask you to turn to Him because you fear Him, or for the reward that you may gain; but He wants you to know and feel that He is good and therefore you put your trust in Him.

"Morality and spirituality are entirely different things. We must first get right morally before we can progress spiritually. Stopping at the merely moral stage will not do. Many men are all right in their relations as husbands and fathers and yet all wrong in their relations with God.

"What, then, is the new birth? When you are born into Christ's kingdom you will partake of Christ's nature. Even as Moses lifted up the serpent in the wilderness, so must the son of man be lifted up. We must look to Christ as our model and our guide. God's rules are all simple. There is nothing incomprehensible about them. The humblest as well as the most gifted may all come to Christ. The way is easy—the old and the true way. 'Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved.'"

WONDERFUL THE WAYS AND WORKS OF GOD

An Able Sermon by Rev. T. H. Hall, of New Jersey, at the M. E. Church.

Rev. T. H. Hall, formerly of this city now of the New Jersey conference, preached at the First M. E. church last evening, from the text "What is Man That Thou Art Mindful of Him?" he called attention to the imperial majesty, dignity, grandeur and all absorbing mystery connected with the starry heavens, and what an interest the Psalmist must have taken in astronomy. Comparison was made between the magnitude of the starry universe and man, man so small and so insignificant when compared with the God whose image he is supposed to have been made. "Who am I?" asked the speaker, continuing with the query: "How, when and what is all this done for?" Attention was directed to the great solar system, moving at a speed of many miles an hour, yet with such perfect poise that a cup of water will not spill a drop from the motion—so swift, yet so sure, and so carefully planned in all its detail, working together so true, without a mistake, without a jar.

Wonderful are the ways and works of God. The eye of him who looks was directed to gaze on and on through the stars to the realms of God far beyond. The size of man was pictured as only a small atom, yet man alone of all living things was imbued with the power of thought, with mind and will power. Man was more than animal, which only had brute instinct, to eat, drink and sleep—not one thought. The ox thus eats grass to grow strength, but is subject to no other powers than those of appetite, which is the only God it knows.

Man thus differs from lower order of life, animal life, and is moved by an invisible intellect, making him the arbiter of his own destiny. As a man thinks, so is he. Thus thought moves the world. Man can think and can climb higher, to the end which is a destiny, an ultimatum. Man is what is within his heart. The human heart should throb with divinity. God looks to see what is in every human heart and He knows, and He knows only, what abides within. In conclusion character was taken up for discussion, and the difference pointed out between character and reputation. Thus man is a man only in proportion to the goodness that is in his heart, which God sees, and He only.

THE RIGHT USE OF MEANS OF GRACE

Rev. J. G. Reinartz Preaches From the Parable of the Unjust Steward.

Rev. J. G. Reinartz, at St. John's Lutheran church, preached from the text Luke 16:8: "And the Lord Commandeth the Unjust Steward, Because He Had Done Wisely." He said in part:

"Let us rightly use the means of grace. God has not founded His church in vain. And now, in our life, is certainly the time to make friends of the mammon of unrighteousness. Perhaps heretofore we have only made enemies of it. We cannot make a righteous use of other people's money but perhaps we can make friends with our own. Deal thy bread to the hungry and hide not thyself from thine own flesh. Remember the sick and the poor, the widow and the orphan. Think of those who labor in the home of the foreign mission fields. Even for the rich there is a day of reckoning. Neither the shroud and coffin, however, rich and beautiful, nor the honeyed words of a flattering preacher can brace the soul as it comes clothed before its God."

Accidents come with distressing frequency on the farm. Cuts, bruises, stings, sprains, Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil relieves the pain instantly. Never safe without it.

THE MODERN SPECIFIC THAT PRODUCES Beauty and Strength!

Every man and woman wants to possess these, and there is no reason why they should not.

NERVAN TABLETS

The great nerve tonic and blood remedy, produce plumpness, rounds out hollow nose, bring the bloom of youth to the cheeks, and all who take them enjoy good health and strength. Nervan Tablets act on the nerves and blood and contain all the elements of life. Positively

CURES KIDNEY AND BLADDER TROUBLES, Rheumatism, All Diseases of the Blood, Backache, Nervous Dyspepsia, Clear the Complexion and Aid Digestion.

Give you a good appetite, renew life cells in young and old. Permanently restore youthful vigor and vitality. They tone up the whole system and make you feel like a new person. No remedy in the world to equal them. Take a few Nervan Tablets and note the wonderful effect.

ALCOHOL IN ALL LIQUID KIDNEY AND RHEUMATIC REMEDIES CONDEMNS THEM.

An ignorantly compounded remedy, containing alcohol, as nearly all kidney remedies do, will stimulate them so violently that an inflammation will be set up, and instead of being merely lax the kidneys will become diseased. Alcohol congests the kidneys with blood and retards their activity.

There is no Alcohol in Nervan Tablets, and with the removal of all harmful sediment from the body. The Tablets soothe and heal the kidneys when they are irritated and inflamed. They cure the kidney diseases that make you dizzy, restless, sleepless and irritable; that make you pass water, often during the day and night; that cause rheumatism, catarrh of the bladder, pain in the back, joints and muscles; that make your head ache and indigestion, stomach and liver trouble, and a sallow, yellow complexion.

No matter how many other remedies you may have tried and found useless, remember the great modern remedy, Nervan Tablets.

EAST END

Drunken Colored Men Threatened to Shoot But Fled From the Police.

A small sized riot on a late street
car Saturday night was quelled by the
pluck and nerve of Conductor Powell,
who refused to be intimidated when
several of the rowdies drew revolvers
and began to abuse him with torrents
of profane language. The rioters
were all colored men who boarded the
car in the central part of the city.
They behaved fairly well until a point
near the Klondike pottery was reached
and then began to raise a disturbance.
There were several ladies on the car
and wishing to keep them from being
annoyed Conductor Powell spoke kindly
to the negroes. Instead of subsid-
ing they became angry and started to
make trouble for Powell. Not satisfied with calling rowell various names
several revolvers were displayed and
threats of shooting were heard. The
nervy conductor held his ground and
signalled the motorman to stop the
car. This was done and a message
telephoned to the East End police station.

Officers Spence and Fisher caught
the next car east but the rioters, fear-
ing the strong arm of the law, had
made good their escape over the hills.

Repairing the Culvert.

Lewis Howard, of the East End
street department with several of his
assistants commenced work this morning constructing a new wooden culvert
over Lake run, where it crosses Pennsylvania avenue. Street Commissioner
Frank Dickey was at the scene to help
in the work. The old culvert had fallen
into a dilapidated condition and
was really dangerous to horses. Several of the planks had become broken,
leaving apertures plenty large enough
for a horse's foot to drop through.
Drivers have been compelled to exercise the greatest caution in driving
across the culvert.

A Reported Wedding.

It was reliably reported this morning that Miss Lina Shook, of Elmwood
street, and Walter Mankin, now working at East Palestine, were to be married at Steubenville today. While the
report could not be confirmed it is regarded as true. Miss Shook is a popular young lady, who makes her home
with her uncle, Wm. Kreier. The groom is a potter and well known in
the East End.

East End Resumed.

After an idleness of almost two
months the East End pottery resumed
work this morning with a full force.
Since the shut down in June the plant
has passed from the control of the East Liverpool Pottery company and
will be operated as an independent
plant. Gus Trindle, who with E. J.
Owen, was the principal stockholder
in the concern still retains his interest
and will be active in the management.

John Fowler, of Pennsylvania ave.,
is reported among the sick today.

John Gladden, of Freedom, was the guest yesterday of H. L. Bradman, of Mulberry street.

Miss Mollie Speedy, who has been
visiting relatives at Waynesburg, Pa.,
returned home last night.

Frank White returned Saturday
night from a visit to Minerva, Carrol-
ton, Mechanicstown and other points.

Miss Cornelia Supplee of Ohio ave.,
who has been visiting friends and relatives at Lisbon returned home last
night.

William Hazelhurst, who has been at
like Crabie's camp near Fredricktown,
fell yesterday and cut his head quite
severely.

Fred Chambers and family, who have
been visiting East End relatives for
some time, left this morning for their
home in Cincinnati.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor Larkins of Virginia avenue, left this morning for the Hollow Rock camp grounds near Low Creek, where they will spend a couple of weeks.

Alex Brownlee, who had his hand
severed a week or more ago when he
fell from a moving train, is reported
much better today by Dr. W. E. Mowen,
who has been attending to his injuries.

Went Into Refrigerator After Beer,
Was Locked In and Nearly Frozen.

Beaver, Pa. Aug. 17.—William C.
Johnston, of West Bridgewater, nearly
lost his life by being frozen in a refrigerator in the meat shop of Goll
Bros., all because of his love for beer.
An accidental opening of the ice box
after he had been confined in it for two hours, alone saved him. When taken
out his flesh had turned blue, his ex-
tremities were icy and he was losing
consciousness.

Johnston was looking about in the
meat shop. He discovered a case of
beer in the refrigerator and went in.
A moment later John Goll slammed the
door shut, thinking it had carelessly
been left open. Johnston was busy
drinking and did not hear the door
close. When he finally did try to get
out he found himself a prisoner.
There was no way of opening the door
from the inside. He called and pound-
ed, but the thick walls were sound
proof. Thinking Mr. Goll had shut
the door for a joke, he consumed more
beer and waited. Then he began to grow cold.

The door was finally opened to show
the refrigerator to a visitor. Johnston
was carried outside and soon revived.
It is thought the large quantity of beer
that he drank helped to sustain him.

BREWER ON LYNCHING

South No Longer Holds Monopoly for Meeting Outlawry Punishment.

CRIMES CAUSED BY LAW'S DELAY

Outrages Committed on White Women
by Negroes Principal Causes of
Lynchings—Advocates Doing Away
With Appeals in Criminal Cases.

New York, Aug. 17.—Associate Justice David J. Brewer, of the supreme court of the United States, has contributed to Leslie's Weekly an article
on the crime of lynching, in the course
of which he says:

"Our government recently forward-
ed to Russia a petition in respect to
alleged atrocities committed upon the Jews. That government, as might have been expected, unwilling to have
its internal affairs a matter of consideration by other governments, declined to receive the petition. If, instead of so doing, it had replied that it would put a stop to all such atrocities when this government put a stop
to lynchings what could we have said?"

"It is well to look the matter fairly
in the face. Many good men join in these uprisings, horrified at the atrocities of the crime and eager for swift
and summary punishment. Of course
they violate the law themselves, but
rely on the public sentiment behind
them for escape from punishment.
Many of these lynchings are accompanied by the horrible barbarities of
savagery, and all that can be said
in palliation is the atrocity of the offenses which led up to them. For a time they were confined largely to the
south, but that section of the country
no longer has a monopoly. The chief
offense which causes these lynchings
has been the rape of white women by
colored men. No words can be found
too strong to describe the atrocity of such a crime. It is no wonder that
the community is excited. Men would
disgrace their manhood if they were
not. And if a few lynchings had put
a stop to the offense society might
have condoned such breaches of its
law; but the fact is, if we may credit
the reports, the crime instead of diminishing is on the increase. The
black beast (for only a beast would be guilty of such an offense) seems to be
not deterred thereby. More than that,
as might be expected, lynching for
such atrocious crimes is no longer confined to them, but is being resorted to
for other offenses.

"What can be done to stay this epidemic of lynching? One thing is the
establishment of a greater confidence
in the summary and certain punishment of the criminal. Men are afraid
of the law's delays and the uncertainty of its results. Not that they
doubt the integrity of the judges, but
they know that the law abounds with
technical rules and that appellate
courts will often reverse a judgment
of conviction for a disregard of such
rules, notwithstanding a full belief in
the guilt of the accused. If all were

certain that the guilty ones would be
promptly tried and punished, the inducement to lynch would be largely
taken away. In an address which I delivered before the American Bar association at Detroit some years since
I advocated doing away with appeals
in criminal cases. It did not meet the
favor of the association, but I still believe in its wisdom. For nearly a hundred years there was no appeal from
the judgment of conviction of criminal
cases in our federal courts, and no
review except in a few cases in
which two judges sitting, a difference
of opinion on a question of law was certified to the supreme court. In England the rule has been that there
was no appeal in criminal cases, although a question of doubt might be
reserved by the presiding judge for
the consideration of his brethren.
Hon. F. J. Phelps, who was minister
to England during Mr. Cleveland's
first administration, once told me that
while he was there only two cases
were so reserved. Does any one doubt
that justice was fully administered by
the English courts?"

"It is said in extenuation of lynching
in case of rape that it is an additional cruelty to the unfortunate victim to compel her to go upon the witness stand and in the presence of a
mixed audience tell the story of her
wrongs, especially when she may be
subject to cross-examination by over-
zealous counsel. I do not belittle this matter, but it must be remembered
that often the unfortunate victim
never lives to tell the story of her
wrongs; that if she does survive she
must tell it to some and the whole
community knows the fact. Even in
the court room any high minded judge
will stay counsel from any unnecessary cross-examination, and finally if
any lawyer should attempt it the community may treat him as an outcast.
I can but think that if the community
felt that the criminal would certainly
receive the punishment he deserves,
and receive it soon, the eagerness for
lynching would disappear, and mobs,
whose gatherings too often mean not
merely the destruction of jails and
other property, but also the loss of innocent lives would diminish in number.

"One thing is certain—the tendency
of lynching is to undermine respect
for the law, and unless it be checked
we need not be astonished if it be re-
sorted to for all kinds of offenses, and
oftentimes the innocent suffer for
wrongs committed by others."

Within the past five years Japan has given to the world an object-lesson in the advantages of a protective policy in developing the latent resources of a country. Her statesmen noted that the Japanese were buying abroad a large number of articles they were satisfied they could produce in the country, if proper encouragement were given. They took a lesson from our example, and concluded to try the effect of a higher duty on a number of articles, in the belief that this would stimulate home production. Their hopes were justified, and there has been a great expansion of Japanese industry. Take an instance. In 1898, under an ad valorem duty of 5 per cent Japan imported $4,474,168 worth of watches. The duty was raised to 30 per cent. In 1902, only four years later, the value of watches imported was but $116,670—the result of the manufacture of watches by the Japanese themselves. Another result of a protective policy has been to increase Japan's foreign trade instead of diminishing it. This has been the experience of the United States. The Dingley tariff law was enacted in 1897, and since then our foreign trade has grown at a most amazing rate, especially our export trade. This is exactly contrary to the position of the free trade doctrines. The stimulus to the expansion of home industries, and their extension into new lines, acts favorably on both imports and exports. We have proved that conclusively in our own case, and little Japan's experience is the same.

It is high time that the question of payment for the Pennsylvania avenue improvement be settled finally. A necessary step in that direction is the appointment of another equalization board. Council should attend to the matter without delay.

A Lincoln, Nebraska, audience was disposed to be angry at Hobson for keeping it waiting an hour. When he explained that he had been talking to Col. Bryan he was sympathized with instead of being condemned.

Hon. John L. Zimmerman says will have 452 votes on the first ballot, for optimists of the first water one needs never look outside the Democratic party before it takes its medicine.

We shall soon have an opportunity to see how well the good intention of amending football rules so as to make the sport less dangerous has been carried out.

Johnson is carrying a lot of county Democratic conventions. He will find it vastly easier than carrying the same counties in November.

The Colombian government fails to take into consideration the important fact that it has no monopoly in the matter of canal routes.

The August gas bills will soon be due. We trust the citizens' association is ready for the tug of war with the gas octopus.

The downfall of the Turkish government is predicted, and the Christian world will rejoice if the prediction comes true.

The unspeakable Turk needs to be silenced.

Care Counts

The issues of life and death depend on the potency of a drug some times—often than we are apt to think. When your physician prescribes a remedy he expects certain results; if the remedy supplied be lacking in purity or strength, it may fail in its purpose.

We think of these things. We take care to see that every drug we use in prescriptions is absolutely pure and of standard potency. We are careful about the compounding also. We have had 12 years' experience, and can assure you that if you permit us to compound your prescriptions you can feel secure about them.

LABORING MEN CLASH

Although Many Shots Were Fired and a Striker and Spectator Injured—Police Powerless to Preserve Order. Further Outbreak Feared.

Wheeling, Aug. 17.—One of the greatest clashes between labor factions that has occurred in the annals of the city took place between the striking machinists and about 25 non-union men who took their places in the Riverside plant of the United States Steel corporation. The battle was initiated Saturday night, but at that time the demonstration had not attained an alarming stage, and despite the fact that over a thousand shots were fired in the clash there were no fatalities and only a few persons were wounded.

The machinists have been out on strike for several weeks and the situation was becoming desperate for the corporation until they imported about 20 men to take the places of the strikers. The men have been assaulted from time to time, but the situation has not reached an alarming stage heretofore. The strikers congregated about the boarding houses of the non-unionists Saturday night fully armed and began an attack upon the places. The houses were heavily barricaded and many volleys were fired into the structures. Finally a well-directed shot from within the house wounded one of the strikers and he was carried to a hospital.

Clay Hoover, a spectator, was also shot in the left knee, but not seriously. A number of other people who were in the building with the non-unionists received wounds which were dressed by physicians. The rioting continued until 2 o'clock Sunday morning, when it abated somewhat. The police were powerless to interfere and reinforcements were requested. About 300 unionists participated in the riot and a fresh outbreak is feared at any moment.

At 10 o'clock last night the strikers lying in the hills fired upon Peter Silatek, who was passing that point. He was seriously wounded. The strikers mistook him, thinking he was a spy.

District Attorney Not Satisfied.

Lancaster, Pa., Aug. 17.—Mrs. John Burr, aged 30 years, was found late Saturday night in a house on West Chestnut street dying from a bullet wound in her breast. In a few minutes she expired. Her companion, George Brenner, was arrested on suspicion of having murdered her. He was released upon the finding of the coroner's jury that the woman had committed suicide. District Attorney Groff, however, was not satisfied by this verdict and says that he will keep Brenner under surveillance and investigate further. Mrs. Burr was known also as Little Nary, passing as the wife of a bill poster now with Welsh Bros', circus. Brenner is an iron worker and lives in this city with his wife and children.

Weavers Returning to Work.

Philadelphia, Aug. 17.—Another break in the textile workers' strike will occur today, when 3,000 rug weavers, Turkish towel weavers and woollen yarn workers will return to work. At a meeting of the working committee of the Central Textile Workers' union these strikers were given permission to resume work. No concessions have been granted by the manufacturers. It was also officially announced that the upholstery weavers, 5,000 in number, will make a final effort to secure concessions and, failing, will return to work on Tuesday at the old scale. This will leave but 11,200 of the 60,000 original strikers still out.

Garment Workers Elect Officers.

Indianapolis, Aug. 17.—The United Garment Workers of America elected officers and selected Buffalo for next year's convention. There was no opposition for the positions of president and secretary, and B. A. Larger, of Cincinnati, and Henry White, of New York, were re-elected to those positions by unanimous vote.

Wheeling, Aug. 17.—James Murray, aged 30 years, of Pittsburg, was thrown beneath the wheels of a Baltimore and Ohio railroad passenger train in the sight of 200 spectators. THE DELINQUENTS

Lieutenant Colonel Harry Freese, right-of-way agent of the B. & O. railroad.

Billy Radcliffe, of Youngstown, one of the most versatile fellows you ever met, is touring the state with the Johnson propaganda. He is one of Mayor Tom's star attractions. Billy has had amazing success as a patent medicine vendor and has appeared on the streets of East Liverpool, Salem, and other Columbiana county towns in this capacity in years gone by. He is an open-hearted fellow and clever in his line.

The Zimmerman people are claiming almost everything in sight, but are haunted by a fear that Johnson may, by some hornsogging method, purloin a goodly number of their delegates in the convention. If Tom controls the committees he will have it fixed that the Zimmerman delegations from counties having contests will not be seated. The Zimmerman managers are considerably affrighted at this prospect and are working to prevent Johnson from controlling these bodies.

Former Attorney General Frank S. McNett, who left the Republican party and allied himself with the Democracy, will be a candidate for the Democratic nomination for attorney general. He sought this place two years ago, but lost out, the convention deciding his penance for former political sins was of too brief duration to entitle him to such honors then. This will be the fifth time he has gone after the nomination.

WELLSVILLE

The Number of Arrests in Wellsville Saturday and Sunday Unusually Large.

During the day and in the evening Saturday and Sunday, more arrests were made by Railroad Detective Bowen and the city police officers than have been made here for many months.

Ernest Deervagon, who claims to come from New York; Andrew Brown, colored, of South Carolina; Hugh Haines, of Pittsburg; Thomas Gill and Thomas Tims were all arrested by Detective Bowen for train riding. With the exception of Gill and Tims, all were assessed $5.00 each. The latter two were assessed $4.00 each. Deervagon, Gill and Tims were the only ones able to effect a settlement with the mayor. The others are still in jail.

James Williams, of Cairo, W. Va., and George Curtis, of Pomeroy, O., both drunks, came down from East Liverpool Sunday in an effort to get "booze." They were promptly arrested by Officer Elliott. They were fined $5.00 each by the mayor this morning, but were unable to settle.

Joseph McKee, the Third street character, was arrested Sunday by Officer Henthorn on a charge of drunk and disorderly. He pled not guilty to the mayor this morning. He will be tried later.

Alfred Green, who had a charge placed against him last Wednesday for fighting and disturbing the peace and who was not arrested at the time, was taken into custody Saturday evening by Officer McIlvaine. Green was drunk at the time. He was brought before the mayor Sunday and was fined $20 and costs. He arranged for settlement.

William McDevitt was placed in jail Saturday evening and a charge filed against him by Officer Elliott. McDevitt was drunk and disorderly. He was fined $5.00 which he paid.

Albert Knapp and Fred Haskins, two drunks arrested by Officers Henthorn and Elliott, were fined $9.00 each. They arranged to settle.

John Donahoe, a bartender in the employ of Joseph Geisse, was arrested at noon Sunday, being caught in the act of selling whisky to an old soldier, by Officer Henthorn. Mayor Fogo assessed Donahoe $29.00. He paid promptly and was released from custody.

BE YOUR OWN JUDGE

Mi-o-na Costs You Nothing, If It Does Not Cure, Says Will Reed.

Mi-o-na, the remarkable flesh-forming food and cure for dyspepsia, has won fame by the unusual way in which it is sold. It is the only remedy offered for the cure of dyspepsia which costs the user absolutely nothing unless it cures.

Will Reed, the popular druggist, is selling a great many packages of Mi-o-na and with every box is given his personal guarantee to refund the money if Mi-o-na does not give satisfaction, you to be your own judge as to whether the remedy helps or not.

Mi-o-na is an unusual combination. It is a flesh-forming food combined with agents that regulate the digestive organs and remove irritation, congestion and inflammation from the stomach, liver and intestines. It enables those organs to extract from the food all that goes to make good, rich blood, firm muscle, steady nerves and a sound body. It does not contain any pepsin, pancreatin or other drugs, that never effect a cure and rarely give even temporary relief.

Mi-o-na puts the digestive system into proper working order, gives health, strength and good flesh, and is the natural cure for indigestion. Even in chronic cases, where life is one long drawn out pain, this remedy will effect a cure. It is the simplest and most reliable of all remedies. Just one tablet before or after meals and you can eat a hearty meal without distress.

If Mi-o-na does not do all that is claimed for it Will Reed will cheerfully refund your money.

HAND IN CONTACT WITH A MEAT SAW

Cornelius Smith, An Eighth Street Saloon Man, Victim of an Ugly Accident.

Cornelius Smith, the Eighth street saloonist, met with a painful accident Saturday night, and one which may result in the loss of his left hand. Mr. Smith was cutting up a quantity of meat, and was using a saw. His left hand came directly in the course of the sharp blade, and the member was terribly lacerated for its entire length. Two leaders were severed, and the gash was very deep.

A physician was summoned and dressed the injury. Blood poisoning is feared, and the attending physician states it will require careful nursing to prevent serious results.

A young man whose name the police would not divulge reported at central station a few days ago that he had been robbed of a diamond stick pin, worth $100 and $14 in money by a woman in this city. The victim said he had traveled all around the country and it was the first time he was ever taken in by a pickpocket.

The woman lured him into a den on Smoky Row and took the valuables while he was drinking some beer, he said.

TOOK COMPANY'S WORD

How the Stark County Auditor Came to Increase Gas Company's Valuation.

Alliance, Aug. 17.—Auditor Oberlin of Stark county has raised the tax valuation of the Alliance Gas & Electric Co. $25,000. The company's property was listed at $17,950, but recently when a fight was started by the council's resolution to reduce the price of gas, the company represented to the auditor that its plant had a value of $100,000. The discrepancy caused the auditor to raise the total valuation to $42,950.

Havoc of Tropical Cyclone.

Merida, Yucatan, Aug. 17.—The effects of the tropical cyclone in this city and in Progresso some days ago were widespread and terrible. The wind commenced in the early hours of the night and although everybody had been prepared for the gale in consequence of warnings given some time previous, panic seized the community. Little by little the wind increased in violence and soon it was tearing up great trees by the roots, blowing roofs away and destroying houses and plantations. Great damage was done in a very short time. The cyclone was more terrible along the coast. Great efforts were made to save small vessels, but to no avail, and 20 of those lying in the port of Progresso were cast upon shore.

Drunk Leads to Suicide.

Greensburg, Pa., Aug. 17.—Harry C. Griffith, a member of one of the best families of Greensburg, committed suicide at the home of his parents in a fit of remorse, brought on by hard drinking. After attempting to end his life by chloroforming himself and gashing his wrists with a razor he shot himself above the left ear with a .38-caliber revolver. He had filled the bath tub half full of water, and it is believed that if he had not ended his life by the third method he would have drowned himself.

Earthquake Shock Felt in St. Louis. St. Louis, Aug. 17.—An earthquake shock which lasted for several seconds was distinctly felt in all parts of St. Louis. So marked was the seismic disturbance that many slumbering residents jumped from their beds in fright and waited trembling for other and greater shocks, but they did not materialize. All agree that it was a jar rather than a trembling of the earth, but so violent was its nature that houses shook at their foundations as if they were about to fall.

White Man Murdered by Negro. Philadelphia, Aug. 17.—As the result of a quarrel William Brinkley, a negro, shot and killed James Coyle, a white man, at Germantown. The two men about two weeks ago had an altercation and while Coyle was standing on a street corner with several friends Brinkley approached and without warning shot Coyle, who died in a hospital shortly after. The murderer is under arrest.

LIGE OF A BEAUTIFUL GIRL ENDS IN A HOSPITAL

she had better consider well her determination of leaving. She replied that it was absolutely necessary that she leave and told me she would give me her reason in a few days.

"True to her word, she told me of her condition and I could not have pitied my own child more than I did her. When she imparted the knowledge I was dumbfounder and begged her to not go for a while. She finally decided to stay at my house for a couple of weeks and she worked for me around the house for $2 a week. One evening when I returned home she told me that she could stand the trouble no longer and that she was going to leave in the morning for Pittsburg. I tried again to persuade her to remain but to no avail. She made arrangements with a local hackman to transfer her baggage and left for the Smoky City unaccompanied. I heard from her several times after she reached Pittsburg, but have not heard from her for several weeks."

Following the conversation with Mrs. Hester the reporter accompanied Chief Wyman to the Woodey home in Bradshaw's addition. Mr. and Mrs. Woodey were at home, but for a few minutes they refused to open their mouths about their boy. Mrs. Woodey at first denied any knowledge of Clyde's whereabouts, but she finally concluded to tell what she knew and was much affected while talking.

"I know all about this trouble," said Mrs. Woodey. "This girl came to my house in March and told me of it. Her object in visiting the house was to see Clyde. He was out at the time and while we were waiting for his return the girl talked to me a little. She did not say much, but I understood what she wanted to say. I did not know her. I did not know but what she was of low parentage and knowing that she was older than my boy, I did not sympathize with her in the least. When Clyde returned he and the girl had a long talk in the parlor. She told him that she did not care whether he married her or not; that all she wanted was money sufficient to carry her through the trouble. Clyde did not seem to have any affection for her and told her that he would not provide the money. In tears the girl left and I never saw her afterwards. Clyde left home a few days later for Pomeroy, O. He heard that she had got a warrant out for his arrest. He is now in Pomeroy."

Mrs. Woodey was told of the girl's proud parentage and she said she was sorry that she had not advised her boy to marry her.

News of the death of Miss Mitchell was imparted to Mayor Weaver Saturday evening by W. D. Shannon, of the bureau of health of Pittsburg. He called up the mayor by long distance telephone and talked for quite a while regarding the affair. If the information gained by Mr. Shannon be true, there is certainly a deep mystery surrounding the case. Mr. Shannon says that Miss Mitchell was taken to the Reinemann Maternity hospital about five weeks ago by two people whose names, according to the hospital authorities, were Mrs. Ellen Hester and Clyde Woodey, both of East Liverpool. The former denies strongly the assertion and the latter, his parents say, has not been out of Pomeroy for five months.

The hospital authorities say that the couple made arrangements for the girl to stay at the hospital. After being confined in the hospital for a few days, she gave birth to a child, a bright little boy. For a week she hovered between life and death and no friends coming to her aid, the matron of the hospital, upon being requested by a very wealthy family of Pittsburg for the child, turned it over to them. Who the people are is not known. They were highly cultured and the matron thought the child would fare much better in their hands even if Miss Mitchell did recover.

Miss Mitchell was an inmate in the hospital for about two weeks when she developed a case of small pox. Mr. Shannon, for the bureau of health, made an investigation and had her removed at once to the Municipal hospital. While there she was delirious most of the time and talked freely of her trouble. She implicated only Woodey and spoke many times of Mrs. Hester. Saturday morning Mr. Shannon realized that she was near death's door and attempted to get a statement from her, but she kept her lips closed and died peacefully without telling anything while in a sane condition.

Mr. Shannon was much impressed with her wondrous beauty and refinement and feeling that she must have come of excellent parentage immediately took steps to locate her friends. With that determination he telephoned to Mayor Weaver. The mayor could give him but little satisfaction, knowing nothing of the girl or of the people whom she spoke of. The case was thoroughly investigated by the News Review reporter and Chief Wyman, and the former, in conversation by telephone with Mr. Shannon, yesterday afternoon, told Mr. Shannon of the girl's experience in this city.

"She was one of the prettiest girls I ever saw in the hospital," said Mr. Shannon. "I was very much impressed with her and determined to locate her people if possible. I am of the opinion that her real name is Irene Morgan. I have information that makes me think her parents are living in Sandyville, W. Va., and I am going to write them immediately. The poor girl was buried this afternoon in the Allegheny cemetery. As a rule such people are buried in the potters' field, but I could not endure the thought of having so beautiful a girl who bore every mark of a fine family placed in the potters' field. At the expense of $45 I had the body interred in the Allegheny cemetery."

The case is one of the most pathetic that has been presented at the Municipal hospital in years, and the authorities in Pittsburg are very much worked up over it. They stated yesterday that they would locate Woodey and make him suffer for his part in the terrible affair, and would make a thorough investigation in all respects.

Salineville lost to the locals Saturday afternoon in West End park by a score of 3 to 2. A faster or prettier game could not be anticipated and the fans well appreciated the exhibition. That Captain Reark's bunch came out of the battle victorious was not altogether due to fast playing. The coal miners had the game won several times if they had only been onto the knack of base running. In this feature alone they are short and to it they can credit the defeat. Upon at least two occasions with but one man out they had a couple of men on bases and by foolhardy attempts to steal a base were caught. As a result in each instance two runs were cut off and the game was won by the locals.

The contest was thrilling in every sense of the word. The fans were on edges at every stage. They realized that the visitors were putting up about the fastest fielding game that has been played on local diamonds this season and knew that a chance hit would be sufficient to give them a victory. This fact together with the truth that the locals were not so swift in the infield kept them on the qui vive. However, the locals played an errorless game in every feature, but at second and third bases gave them a lead and the points that could not be downed by the diggers of the black diamonds.

It was pleasing to every spectator to see the work of the visitors in the infield. The boys of Salineville showed the fans that experience had taught them to handle the sphere with wonderful skill. They were never found wanting. Lang and McCullough accepted every chance and their exhibition would make even Hans Wagner open his optics with wonder.

In the first inning it looked very much as if the locals were going to have everything as they wished. Indeed, the fans were of the impression that there would be nothing to it. Gibson was the first man up and he pounded the first one delivered by Ferrall. Though he did not reach the initial bag it was evident that the long, lanky pitcher's delivery was not puzzling and hopes were bright. Houser, the best ball player that Wellsville was ever known to produce, was playing at short for the Crockery City knights and being the next man up determined to once more demonstrate his superiority. That he did it can be told better by left-fielder Davidson, who made the longest run of his life in attempting to head Houser off and keep him from making a three bagger. In his attempt he was defeated. Houser easily gained the third bag on the throw in, it being fumbled by Ferrall, he was allowed to make an easy home run of the long fly. Wallace went out on a speedy one to short. Brown worried the pitcher into a fever of philanthropy, who very graciously allowed him to walk. Big Fred Heckathorn, the old time hero, who, judged from every standpoint is about the best that East Liverpool has fostered in years, stepped quietly to the base, leaned back on his one pin and the hand that he dealt was surely a winner. Notwithstanding that he is wonderfully handicapped in running, he cleared three bases as slick as a whistle and scored Brown handsly. Reark died on a pretty one to short and the inning was at an end with the locals two to the good.

The miners put a decidedly different phase on the situation in their half of the fourth. Davidson expired on a hot one to Webb, but Rourke thought that maybe Webb was only fooling and found it to be true when he sent one with whisks attached into the second baseman's mit. The latter fumbled it and the big right fielder had no trouble in reaching first. Madison landed on one for a pretty hit and while Lawrence was giving Strabley a dose of "strikeroutsky" both men advanced a peg. Ferrall took advantage of the opportunity and playing on one for two bases tied the score. Stevens could not keep the good work up, croaking at first.

Fearing that they were up against the real thing, the locals made another spurt in their half of the inning, scoring a run on two hits. Both sides tried with vigor to change the standing from that time on, but were unsuccessful and the ninth inning ended with one more scalp buckled onto the belt of Captain Reark. The score:

Features of the Game.

Wallace drew a blank on the score sheet.

Brown had a couple of errors, but his other good work overbalanced them and he is yet the pride of the fans.

Webb was not slow with the stick. He showed some of his old time ability, pouncing on them when a run was in jeopardy.

Lawrence pitched a pretty game. He allowed quite a number of hits, but kept them scattered and in reality had the visitors at his mercy.

McCullough is a great short stop. He certainly will not play with slow company much longer. His ability to pick up any old ball, no difference how hot, is wonderful.

Lang is about the speediest third baseman on the market. Better days are in store for him if he continues playing such a game as he exhibited in this contest. He is clean and antagonistic.

Vasbinder, the ex-leaguer who was fired from fast company because he wanted to visit his wife when she was on her death bed, covered nearly the entire outfield. His preferred position is in the box, but he is all right any place.

The Salineville bunch having shown the local fans their ability, and everyone being exultant over their fine work, it is advised that the local management arrange for a series of games to be played in the near future. The coal miners will certainly draw and will be a paying card.

INTERESTING GAME
AT WELLSVILLE

West End Athletics of That City Defeated the Mingo Team Saturday.

One of the most interesting and well attended base ball games that has been played at Central park in Wellsville since its first team broke up, was that played Saturday afternoon between the West End Athletics, Wellsville's second team, and the team from the Mingo Works at Mingo. The result was a victory for the locals. The final score was 11 to 2.

College was in the box for the locals in the first and second innings, but when he went to bat in the latter half of the second inning he had the

It seemed to be Patterson's banner day. He had an unlimited amount of speed, and used it with telling effect. He struck out eight men during the seven innings that he was on the rubber.

The Mingo team played a strong game, but were outclassed. The score follows:

The Legal Stars defeated the Brunos of Wellsville, Saturday by a score of 16 to 4. The pitcher for the Stars struck out 18 men. The Stars left this morning for Rochester, where they play this afternoon.

SPORTING MICECLANY.

The Youngstown Ohio Works team has won 16 out of the 19 games played.

Rube Waddell was knocked out of the box in the sixth inning Friday by the Chicago White Sox.

Major Wolf, Toronto's fastest pacing horse, Thos. Price, was sold to Louis McClelland, of Yellow Creek, for the sum of $1000.

The Kent baseball club has the best record of all teams in its class in the state, having played 29 games, winning 30, tying one and losing eight. It has won the series from 15 teams, 13

tied with one, the Ohio Works team, and has lost two.

Catcher Sullivan, of the White Sox, minus his vermiform appendix, is able to practice again, but will probably not play in a game before September.

McGinnity is an "iron man" two ways. He can pitch two winning games of ball in one afternoon and engage in the iron business at South McAlester, I. T., when not playing ball.

Six straight victories down the grand circuit have made Billy Buck look like the champion trotter of 1903, and E. E. Smathers, of New York, wanted him so much that he gave Ed. Geers $15,000 for the son of St. Clair. This is $2,500 more than C. K. G. Billings paid for Lou Dillon and as much as Billings paid for The Monk.

ROOSEVELT ADDRESSES MEETING

Disagreeable Weather Does Not Dampen Ardor of Crowd at Oyster Bay.

Oyster Bay, Aug. 17.—President Roosevelt delivered the principal address at the quarterly meeting of the society of the Holy Name, of Brooklyn and Long Island. Decency of speech and conduct constituted the theme of his address, which was enthusiastically applauded by an audience of more than 2,000 persons, chiefly men.

Special trains brought hundreds of members of the society to Oyster Bay from Brooklyn and Western Long Island. Threatening weather kept many away, but, although a light rain fell during the exercises, the crowd remained banded about the flag-decked stand on a beautiful hill opposite St. Dominic's Catholic church.

As President Roosevelt drove up to the stand in a closed carriage, accompanied by Captain W. H. Brown, superintendent of the naval academy, Secretary Barnes and a representative of the society, he was accorded an enthusiastic reception, a band the while playing "Hail to the Chief."

After the audience had sung "America," Father Powers, rector of St. Dominic's, introduced the president in a felicitous speech, in which he spoke of the esteem in which Mr. Roosevelt is held by Catholics of this country.

Fatally Shot by Sheriff. Springfield, O., Aug. 17.—Andrew Myers was fatally shot by Sheriff Routhahn while resisting arrest on the charge of highway robbery. The posse went to Myers' house, near South Charleston, where it was met by the fugitive with drawn revolvers. The officers fired several shots, two of which took effect. A few hours previous Myers had escaped from Detective John T. Norris after giving him a bad beating. With another man Myers brutally assaulted C. O. Hayes, a wealthy farmer, and after taking his valuables threw him in a fence corner. The posse is scouring the country for his accomplice.

Pope Discusses Philippine Situation. Rome, Aug. 17.—The pope received at a private audience in his apartment Archbishop Hartly (who was consecrated archbishop of Manila by Cardinal Satolli), with whom he spoke at length about the situation in the Philippine Islands, showing himself fully conversant with the state of affairs there. Plus X. said the efforts of the clergy towards the pacification of the archipelago and the triumph of Catholicism would always receive the warmest support at Rome. He presented Archbishop Hartly with a beautiful episcopal pectoral cross. Archbishop Hartly then presented to the pontiff his secretary, Monsignor W. Fowler, and Father Donohue, of Alabama, to both of whom the pope addressed very kind words.

Condition of Affairs in Macedonia Under Turkey's Reform Administration.

Truthfulness of Statement Vouched for by Bulgarian Government—Era of Premised Reform Operates in Contrary Direction.

Constantinople, Aug. 17.—The British ambassador has called the attention of the porte to the serious situation in Macedonia. He pointed out that grave consequences may attend fresh murders of consuls or foreign subjects. The ambassador had an audience with the sultan on Friday.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Aug. 17.—The Bulgarian government has presented a memorandum to the powers setting out at great length the condition of affairs during the past three months in Macedonia since the Turkish government undertook to inaugurate the promised reforms. The most precise details, dates, places and names of persons are given in the memorandum, the whole constituting a terrible category of murder, torture, incendiarism, pillage and general oppression committed by the Ottoman soldiers and officials. These particulars were obtained entirely from official sources, such as the reports of the Bulgarian consuls and agents of the Bulgarian government and in many instances, the reports made by Turkish authorities. The Bulgarian government guarantees the absolute truth of every statement and challenges the porte to disprove a single charge made in the memorandum.

The memorandum begins by stating that during the past three months the Ottoman government has taken a series of measures with the alleged intention of inaugurating the era of promised reform and of assuring peace and tranquility to the Bulgarian population of European Turkey, but which have had the contrary effect of further exasperating this population and reviving the revolutionary movement. Instead of proceeding solely against persons guilty of breaches of public order, the military and civil authorities have sought every possible pretext to persecute, terrorize and ruin the Bulgarian inhabitants, alike in the large cities and in the small villages.

Wholesale massacres, individual murders, the destruction of villages, the pillaging and setting fire to houses, the arrests, ill treatment, tortures, arbitrary imprisonment and banishment, the closing and disorganizing of churches and schools, the ruining of merchants, the collection of taxes for many years in advance—such, proceeds the memorandum, are among the acts of the Ottoman administration of the vilayets of Salonica, Monastir, Uskub and Adrianople.

Altogether the memorandum gives particulars of no less than 131 individual and general cases of excess and outrages committed by the Turkish authorities. In summarizing the specific details of the outrages mentioned the memorandum declares that wholesale massacres were perpetrated by regulars and Bashi-Bazouks in the town of Salonica and the villages of Baldevo, Banitz, Tchourilovo, Moghila, Smerdesch and Endjie, while the scenes of carnage, pillage and incendiarism were everywhere terrible. At Smerdesch over 200 Bulgarians were shot, killed with swords or burned to death. Over 250 houses and the churches and schools were set on fire with petroleum and pillaged, the property being sold by the soldiers and Bashi-Bazouks in neighboring places. Similar scenes occurred at the villages of Gorna-Ribnitsa, Izoumenetz, Dobrilaki and Nikoden. The villagers there abandoned their homes and fled to the mountains. Over 3,000 men, women and children fled from the sanjak of Sere and even more from the sanjak of Kirkkilisse.

It is difficult, says the memorandum, to obtain the exact number of Bulgarians who were imprisoned, mostly on the flimsiest pretexts, as when they were released others were immediately arrested. The estimates obtainable give for the vilayet of Salonica 900 prisoners; for Uskub, 500; for Monastir, 850, and for Adrianople, 550—a grand total of 2,800. As information is lacking from many districts in these vilayets it is thought that without exaggeration the number of prisoners may be placed at even three times this total.

Chicago Celebrating Anniversary. Chicago, Aug. 17.—This is the one hundredth anniversary of the permanent settlement of Chicago. Aug. 17, 1837, Lieutenant Swearingen, of the United States army, landed with a company of troops on the lake front and began the construction of Fort Dearborn. Chicago is celebrating the anniversary in a small way, but the real jubilee will take place Sept. 26 to Oct. 1. The citizens committee has progressed well in perfecting plans for a celebration extending over a week.

Boys Drowned in Delaware River. Philadelphia, Aug. 17.—Lewis Hamme, aged 9 years, and George Wilcox, aged 14, were drowned in the Delaware river, and Albert McLeary, 12 years old, narrowly escaped a similar fate in an effort to assist his companions.

Two Killed in Trolley Collision. Kansas City, Aug. 17.—In a rear-end collision of two trolley cars on the Independence-Kansas City line, two persons were fatally injured, four seriously hurt and half a dozen others sustained minor bruises and cuts. The cars were running to Kansas City from Forest park, and were crowded with passengers.

Vesuvius' Eruption Increases. Naples, Aug. 17.—The eruption of Vesuvius has somewhat increased. The stream of lava flowing from the crater is divided into two branches. The longer reaches a distance of 2,500 feet in the direction of the village of Ottajano, the other is now 2,300 feet toward Pompeii. There is no immediate danger.

Unknown Couple Asphyxiated. New Haven, Conn., Aug. 17.—The odor of escaping gas led to the discovery of the dead bodies of a man and a woman in a hotel here. A gas jet in the room was turned on and it was evident that the deaths were due to asphyxiation. The bodies have not been identified.

AN UGLY FALL DUE TO WATERMELON SEED

It Causes a Little Girl to Slip On the Floor and Break Her Leg.

A watermelon seed is thought to be responsible for a serious injury sustained yesterday by Ellen Stevens, aged 8 years, at the home of her mother, Mrs. S. W. Stevens, on Lincoln avenue. The child, while playing about the kitchen, shortly after 9 o'clock in the morning, stepped upon the seed and was thrown violently to the floor. Members of the family came to her assistance and seeing that it was impossible to move her limb, they concluded it was broken. Dr. Hobbs was called and his examination showed that the leg had been fractured at the thigh.

The fracture is causing the little girl a great deal of pain and today, though improved, she was quite restless and evidently suffering greatly.

SOUTH SIDE

THE JACKSONS NOT YET ARRESTED

Thomas Jackson Says He Has Dared the Authorities to Arrest Him.

There are no new developments in the case against the Jacksons. The warrants are still out and the authorities assert they will be served as soon as an opportunity presents itself.

The suits consist of three actions, one against William Jackson, another against Thomas Jackson and the last against the father of both, R. H. Jackson. The affidavits are all worded alike, and contain the allegation that the men are accused of appropriating a calf aged about three weeks, and of the value of $6. For some unaccountable reason Sergeant Allison, in whose hands the warrants were placed, has not served the papers.

Thomas Jackson stated Saturday that he had appeared at the office of Justice Johnston and dared the authorities to arrest him. When told of the statement made by Jackson this morning, Justice Johnston said: "If he was even on this side of the river, during my absence, I do not believe he was even on this side of the river. The charge has been regularly filed, and if any of the accused make their appearance in Chester they will certainly be called upon to face the charge."

William B. Hoy is the man who made the information and in each case his name is attached to the affidavit. He claims to be in possession of sufficient evidence to warrant a conviction.

WRENCHED HIS BACK LEADING A COW

Mill Man Badly Injured by Struggle With a Frantic Animal.

John R. Cunningham, a catcher at the Chester plant of the American Tin Plate company, is lying at his home in Lawrenceville suffering from an attack of spinal disease the result of a tussle he had with a cow last evening.

Cunningham had occasion to remove a fractious cow from one point to another and in some manner wrenched his back. Little was thought of the accident at the time, and this morning he went to work at the mill as usual. He had been engaged but a short time when the injury to his back, together with the extreme heat completely overcame him and he fainted away. The men at the mill immediately took steps to have the injured man taken to his home in Lawrenceville, where Dr. Donebo made an examination. The latter is authority for the statement that Cunningham is in a very bad way. If he recovers at all he will be a cripple, and the chances for his getting well are small.

BUTTER IS SCARCE

The Farmers of Hancock County Might Make It Profitable to Start a Creamery.

The farmers of Hancock county who have an interest in the matter making industry have about reached the conclusion that unless some radical reforms are introduced there will be a butter famine. Butter of a satisfactory make is a scarce commodity and when the creamery competition is considered the outlook is discouraging.

So long as butter is produced in a small way with much toil it is not to be wondered they are not enthusiastic, and again they receive from 5 to 8 cents per pound less than the creamery people get. The country product is equally well flavored and by some considered superior but it cannot compete with that made by a system, in large quantities with surroundings of perfect cleanliness under the supervision of experienced men. If the people of this section really care to stay in the butter business they must furnish a more regular supply and it would seem they could best do this by organizing a company and carrying on a creamery plant of their own on a small scale at first, increasing as their product becomes better known. They could in this manner with much less labor dispose of their dairy product at regular

The Free Shows Enjoyed By Great Numbers of People Yesterday.

The largest Sunday crowd of the season was at Rock Spring yesterday. It is estimated that fully 2,000 people visited the resort during the afternoon and evening, and though very orderly, apparently enjoyed the outing to the full.

The free exhibition given by the park management at the theatre in the evening was attended by nearly 1,700 people, and was one of the most pleasing entertainments held at the park during the present season. The new summer theatre was packed to the doors, and there were several hundred visitors who were unable to gain admission.

The vaudeville show provided for the entertainment of those who attend the theatre this week is the very best of the season, and will be appreciated by all who attend.

Emancipation Day Celebration.

The colored population of Chester is making preparations to attend the celebration of Emancipation Day in Wheeling this year in grand style. If the present arrangements are carried out in detail, the colored people of Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and West Virginia will unite in the celebration as it was never observed before. The affair will be held on the State Fair Grounds, Sept. 22. Booker T. Washington will be one of the speakers.

Old Mines to Be Started.

It is announced that the old abandoned coal mines near Brilliant will be opened in a short time by W. H. Pool, the well known capitalist. Pool has control of 200 acres of coal land in that vicinity. Since that time the tipple and other equipment has been permitted to fall into decay.

Seven Were Arrested.

Seven of the Pittsburg excursionists who visited Rock Springs Saturday, fell into the hands of the police. One man was unable to pay and is still in jail.
